Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? A. Poe Boude, George T. Tyler, Beverly W. Bond, William E. Woolf. 4.

GEORGE THOMAS TYLER was born at Onancock, Accomac County, Va., December 16, 1843. His parents were John Dennis Tyler and Mary Rebecca Ames Tyler. He secured his education in the public schools of his native county, and at the age of fifteen entered Dickinson College. While pursuing his graduate course the war broke out and he returned to his home and joined the Home Guard, but was never called to active service. On April 27, 1865, he was married to Miss Amanda Taylor, and of this union was born one daughter, Georgie Amanda, now Mrs. C. C. Buckner. His wife died in July, 1868.

He moved to Baltimore and became connected with the National Bank of Commerce of that city. From early childhood Brother Tyler had been a Christian, having been converted August 15, 1854, at a camp meeting. He identified himself with Central Church of Baltimore, and soon felt the pressure of the Divine Hand thrusting him out into the ministry. He was licensed to preach by the Central Quarterly Conference and began to exercise his ministry as a supply on Laurel Circuit as a junior to the Rev. Robert Smith. He joined the Conference in the spring of 1869, and his first appointment was as junior preacher on Laurel Circuit. In the spring of 1870 he was ordained deacon by Bishop McTyeire, and the following spring he was ordained elder by Bishop Pierce. In 1870 he served Severn Circuit, 1871-72 Kent Circuit, and for the ensuing four years, 1873-77, he was the pastor of our Church in Frederick City, Md. During this pastorate, on April 27, 1874, he was married to Mrs. Mary Fackler Sinn, of Frederick City, Md. His next appointment was to Talbot Circuit, 1877-79, and in 1879-82 he was at Rockville, Md. His succeeding appointments follow: Stephens City, 1883-86; Winchester, 1886-88; Arlington, 1888-90; Moorefield District, 1890-94; Loudon, 1894-98; Marshall, 1898; Falls Church, 1899-1901; Fredericksburg, 1901-03; Lewisburg District, 1903-07; Winchester District, 1907-11; Hamilton, 1911-15; Fairfax, 1915-19. At the Conference of March, 1919, he was granted a superannuate relation, thus filling out fifty years of uninterrupted service. What a glorious way to live half a century! He died July 6, 1919, and was carried to his grave by his seven sons, who held him in reverent devotion. His surviving children are Mrs. C. C. Buckner, Rev. Frank Ames, Dr. George Thomas, Rev. Samuel Rogers, Rev. John Paul, Rev. Barrett Prettyman, Julia Catherine, Marvin Aubrey, and Rev. German Horton Hunt. These children, with a mother who has accomplished in the quiet home circle that which will alone solve the world problem, live on as he would have them live to honor their divine Lord and advance the interests of his kingdom. Brother Tyler's funeral was conducted by Rev. Frank M. Richardson in the church at Winchester, Va., assisted by Rev. John A. Kern and other ministers. He sleeps in that historic cemetery, Mount Hebron, at Winchester, Va. He sleeps well and every memory of him is precious and holy.—F. J. Prettyman.

WILLIAM EGGLESTON WOOLF came into the Methodist ministry out of the atmosphere and training of a devoted Christian home. His father lived near Rectortown, Fauquier County, Va., and here he was born April 29, 1851. Amid the inspiring ministry of this beautiful region, the refined influence of open-hearted hospitality in the home, and the uplifting power of the family altar he heard the call of God to become a fisher of men. His education was begun in the home and later he attended school in the country. Subsequently he entered Randolph-Macon College with the special purpose of fitting himself for the ministry. At the session of the Conference held at Winchester, Va., in 1876, he was admitted on trial and appointed to Franklin charge. His succeeding appointments were as follows: 1877-78, Petersburg; 1879, Listonburg; 1880, Mineral; 1881-82, Keyser; 1883, Franklin; 1884-85, Strasburg; 1886-87, South Branch; 1888-90, Berryville; 1891-93, Montgomery; 1894-95, Wesley Grove; 1896-98, Linganore; 1899-1902, Hyattsville; 1903, Bridgewater; 1904, Stephens City; 1905-08, Burlington; 1908-11, Frostburg; 1912-13, supernumerary; 1914-17, Herndon; 1918-19, Bluemont. On Saturday, September 13, 1919, at his boarding house in Round Hill, Va., he was paralyzed. When found he was helpless, but able to tell his friends what ailed him. He remained conscious, at intervals, until the next forenoon, but was hardly so thereafter. The end came on Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock—there was a light in his face and a smile on his lips, and he was no more among us. Some years ago it was agreed between him and Rev. D. H. Kern that if he died first Dr. Kern was to preach his funeral sermon. Accordingly Dr. Kern was present for that purpose and the presiding elder, Dr. H. P. Hamil, had charge of the services, which were conducted in Round Hill Church. Rev. J. M. Hawley read the Psalm, Rev. H. P. Hamil, the Epistle, Rev. Mr. Baker, of the Baptist Church, offered the prayer, and Dr. Kern preached the sermon from 2 Timothy iv. 7, 8, and conducted the last rites at the grave. Five of his ministerial brethren, together with Brother M. T. Wilkins, a layman of Herndon, bore his body to its last resting place in the cemetery at Middleburg, Va. On April 21, 1882, Brother Woolf was married to Miss Mollie Buckner. To them were born three boys and two girls, all of whom survive him.

ADAM POE BOUDE was born February 20, 1835, at Millwood, Clarke County, Va. His family was of French origin, and was not inconspicuous in the early history of Maryland, in which province they lived. His father served with distinction in the War of 1812. Both his father and mother were possessed of sterling character and a fair measure of mental cultivation, and both were largely dowered with the gift of song, which they passed on as an inheritance to their son. Always a youth of serious mind, time and again Brother Boude heard God's voice calling him to accept Christ, but he heeded not the call. When he was nineteen years old he attended a camp meeting held at Edinburg. During the sermon he was profoundly convicted of sin. Waiting not for the sermon's close, he at once threw himself in agony of supplication at the rude altar and for four hours grappled with God as surely as did Jacob at the brook Jabbok, and not more surely did God speak to Jacob than he spake peace to the troubled soul of Brother Boude. From that time on through all the vicissitudes through which he passed, he was profoundly conscious of being at peace with God. About one year after his conversion he was licensed to preach. His first sermon was preached in Mount Pisgah Church, near Big Bend Tunnel, W. Va. (then Virginia), then for three years he magnified and adorned the office and work of a local preacher, preaching nearly every Sunday. His ministry extended over more than a half dozen counties in Virginia and West Virginia. At the session held at Wesley Chapel, Washington, D. C., in March, 1858, Brother Boude entered the Baltimore Conference and was for sixty-one years a faithful member of that body. What a record! I give a brief summation of his labors: Union Circuit, one year; Huntersville, two years; Jacksonville, now within the bounds of the Virginia Conference, two years; Luray, one year; New Market, one year; Rockingham, two years; Shenandoah Iron Works, eight years, two pastorates; Lexington Circuit, four years; Lewisburg, two years; Lewisburg District, one year; Talbot Circuit, one year; Sudley Mission, one year; Brunswick, three years; Collierstown, four years; Staunton Mission, four years; Marksville, two years. Twice during his ministry, owing to throat trouble, Brother Boude was compelled to take a supernumerary relation—namely, from 1885 to 1887, and again from 1889 to 1893. In 1901 he was for one year on the superannuate list. In 1908, the seventieth year of his life and the fiftieth year of his ministry, he took a superannuate relation, which relation he held up to the time for his death. However, until a few months before his departure he preached with considerable frequency and always with acceptability. Probably the greatest work of Brother Boude was done during his superannuation from 1908 to 1919, for it was during that period, and very largely through the inspiration of his faith, the gift of his money, and the employment of his time that a Methodist society was organized at Stanley and a commodious brick church built and paid for. Brother Boude was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Plunkett, of Lexington, Va., a woman of admirable character and sweet disposition. By many years she preceded him to the other world. The result of that union was one child, Clinton, a boy of high character and charming manners, inheriting largely his father's gift of song, who died when he was about twenty hears old, deeply mourned by all who knew him. In 1907 Brother Boude was united in marriage to Miss Ida Pendergast, of Stanley, Va., a woman of highest Christian character. This union was richly blessed of God. Very happy was the home life of Brother Boude, and his closing years on earth were gladdened by the love and untiring ministry of this good woman. The last illness of Brother Boude was of less than two weeks' duration and was thought by very few of his friends to be serious. He contracted a cold, bringing on an attack of asthma, to which he had been subject for years. Each day he seemed to improve. Suddenly on Saturday evening, November 29, 1919, just as the sun was going down, his heart failed and his spirit went home to God. On Monday morning, December 1, in Stanley Methodist Church, in the presence of a large congregation, a simple memorial service was held, conducted by the writer, assisted by R. L. Fultz, presiding elder, H. Monroe Strickler, A. Van Devander, and J. E. Hooks. Awaiting the resurrection of the just, his body was laid to rest in Graves Chapel Cemetery.—L. L. Lloyd.

BEVERLY WAUGH BOND, son of Thomas T. and Mary Bond, was born September 3, 1843, at White House, the family homestead, in Harford County, Md., and was named for a revered bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is related, as an incident of his childhood, that being taken by his mother to Bishop Waugh, at a camp meeting in the neighborhood, and introduced as his namesake, he received from the good Bishop a father's blessing—"May the Lord bless him and make him a good man." Even from those early days he was known as a studious boy. His schooling does not seem to have been of long continuance, though his education in a truer sense was lifelong; for the early formed studious habit was kept up unto the end. After his marriage, while a pastor in Baltimore and its vicinity, he attended lectures at the newly opened Johns Hopkins University, and so was numbered among its first students. In early manhood he entered upon the study of law in the office of Judge Richard Parker, of Winchester, Va., and was admitted to the bar. At that time he was living a Christian life, having been converted at seventeen years of age, and scarcely had he begun the practice of the law when he became the subject of a strong conviction of duty and drawing of the heart toward the Christian ministry. At the fourth Quarterly Conference of Emmanuel Church, Baltimore, for the year 1870-71, under the pastoral charge of Rev. I. W. Canter, he was licensed to preach and recommended to the Baltimore Annual Conference for admission on trial into the traveling connection. At the following session of the Conference, in the year 1871, he was received as a probationer into that body. Two of the eight members of his class, William E. Miller and Hamilton W. Kinzer, still remain among us. During the forty-nine years of his membership in the Conference, Brother Bond was appointed to the following fields of labor: Rockville Circuit, as junior preacher, 1871-72; Emory, 1873-75; Trappe, 1876; North Baltimore, 1877; Blacksburg, 1878-80; Arlington, 1881-82; Rockville, 1883-86; Hamilton, 1887-88; Leesburg, 1889-91; Principal of Front Royal Academy, 1892-96; Winchester District, 1897-1900; East Baltimore District, 1901-04; Baltimore District, 1905-08; Falls Church, 1909; Rockingham District, 1910-13; Leesburg, 1914; superannuated, 1915; Alexandria District, 1916-18; Caernarvon, 1919. To the duties of his office this minister of the Lord Jesus Christ brought an acute intellect and a forceful, persistent will. He was called to serve as a member of the General Board of Church Extension, a trustee of Randolph-Macon College, principal of Randolph-Macon Academy at Front Royal, and for nineteen years a presiding elder. He was a ready writer, and from near the beginning unto the end of his ministry made diligent use of the pen. "The Positive Evidences of Christianity" and "Love Universal," the one a product of his earlier and the other of his later ministry, were his most notable contributions to theology. He was one of the founders and the first editor of the Baltimore Southern Methodist, and through all the following years he was a valued contributor to its columns. Perhaps it is not generally known by his acquaintances that Beverly Bond served as a soldier in Stuart's Cavalry of the Confederate Army. But that he had much of the typical soldier's spirit of firmness, courage, and determination perhaps all who knew him would be likely to agree. Loyal to the Church, he was no less loyal to his friends. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Elizabeth Lumsden, of Georgetown, D. C.; two daughters, Mrs. Frederick H. Baugh and Miss Helen Bond, of Baltimore; and three sons, Prof. Beverly W. Bond, Jr., of Perdue University, Major Francis M. Bond, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and William L. Bond, of New York City. He fell asleep in Christ on January 22, 1920. His funeral service, held in Caernarvon Church, was conducted by Rev. E. L. Woolf, presiding elder of the Baltimore District, assisted by Revs. H. P. Hamill, E. V. Regester, and J. W. Smith. All the pastors of our churches in the city and some from other charges were present. The burial was in the beautiful Druid Ridge Cemetery.—John A. Kern.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? A. L. Thoroughman, J. F. Woodliff. 2.

AARON LEWMAN THOROUGHMAN was born near Terre Haute, Ind., August 7, 1852. His father was a minister of commanding influence in the United Brethren Church of Indiana. In early life he was married to Miss Jennie Harper, who proved a helpmeet indeed. He was forty years of age before he yielded to the overtures of grace and became a Christian. Soon after his conversion he was licensed to preach the gospel. Up to this time he had been a man of the world in all that phrase expresses. His conversion was thorough, and then, like Jeremiah, "the Word of God was like a burning fire shut up in his bones," and he began to preach. From the very beginning he was a successful preacher. He united with the M. E. Church, South, where all his Christian life was spent. He served the following charges: Lexington, Heppner, Spokane, Genesee, and Walla Walla. His most successful work as a pastor was at Spokane and Walla Walla. He organized the Corbin Park Church in Spokane, and did a monumental work there. In Walla Walla he remained four years, and these four years marked the most prosperous single period in that Church's history. He and his saintly wife took the homes street by street, as true missionaries, as indeed they were. The Sunday school grew by leaps and bounds and his congregations filled the church to its capacity. In all these four years there was never a single Quarterly Conference in which he did not report conversions and accessions to the Church. The commodious parsonage was built under his leadership. He was presiding elder for ten years of his ministry, and retired from active work from that office at our last Conference. He served the Spokane District four years, the Montana District three years, and the Inland District three years. He was a successful presiding elder until his health gave way. He was a judge of men, and handled his work with skill and ability. He will be sadly missed as a leader among us. He was a member of the General Conference at Oklahoma City in 1914. Brother Thoroughman was no ordinary man. He had qualities of mind and heart that would have distinguished him in any vocation of life. His influence was felt in every community where he went, and his friends all through the Northwest are numbered by the hundreds. He was not considered a great orator, but he was a successful preacher. He was a soul-winner. His services in revival meetings were much sought after. He excelled in evangelistic services. He had a remarkable power in reaching men and bringing them to a decision for Christ. On Monday night, February 9, 1920, at the College Place Sanitarium, Washington, Brother Thoroughman passed to his heavenly home. The funeral was held from the Marvin Memorial Church, in Walla Walla, where he was for so long pastor and presiding elder. Services were conducted by H. S. Shangle, assisted by the pastor, Rev. O. C. Coppage, Rev. A. J. Starmer, and Dr. W. B. Reese, of our own Church, and District Superintendent N. M. Jones, of the M. E. Church. His body was taken to Pendleton, where he was converted and where he began his ministerial career some twenty-six years ago. He was buried by the side of his devoted wife, who preceded him to the better land ten years ago.—H. S. Shangle.

J. F. WOODLIFF was born in Alabama on June 9, 1885. He was married to Miss Blanche Hubbert on August 18, 1909. To this union were born four children, three of whom are living, one having died in infancy. Brother Woodliff was transferred to the Northwest Conference by Bishop Du Bose last fall, placed in charge of the McFarland and Franklin Churches, and was doing splendid work when called by death to the Conference above. He was attending the District Conference at Portland when he took sick, and on returning home it was discovered that he had the influenza. He was sick but a few days, and fell asleep March 5, 1920. A good man, a faithful pastor, and a beloved brother has gone to his reward.—N. D. Wood.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? W. F. Vaughan, G. W. Crutchfield, T. W. Barker. 3.

TAYLOR WINCHESTER BARKER, the son of Greenup and Mariah Barker, was born in Campbell County, Ky., March 20, 1849. His education was received in the common schools of his native county, later in Kentucky Wesleyan College, and last in Lebanon, Ohio. According to his testimony he felt called to preach when just a boy five years old; but he did not give his heart to God and get converted until a boy in his teens. Sometime after, he was granted license to preach as a local preacher, and in 1876 was admitted on trial into the Kentucky Conference. His first appointment was Jackson and Beattyville; next year he was sent to the Elliston Mission; in 1879 he was assigned to Milton, where he served four years. In 1896 he was returned to Milton, and served three years again. He was pastor at Campbellsburg, Grassy Lick and Mount Zion, Petersburg, Eleventh Street (Covington), Warsaw, Falmouth, Alexandria, Visalia, Taylorsville, Stanford, Newport, Brooksville, and last at Burnside, Ky. He was married to Miss Sallie Brooks, of Grant County, Ky., in the prime of his manhood. This marriage was blessed with three children. The oldest, a daughter, died some years ago. The second, Miss Myrtle Barker, the pride and joy of her father's heart, some years ago went as a missionary of our Church to Korea, where she has proven to be an efficient worker in the Master's vineyard. The youngest child, Winston Brooks Barker, was the only child present at the funeral of his father. In 1907 Brother Barker's wife, the mother of his children, departed this life; and in 1909 he was married to Mrs. Linnie Caplinger, who survives him. Possibly Brother Barker was the greatest church builder in the Kentucky Conference. During his ministry of forty-three years he built twenty-eight churches, the last one, on the Brooksville charge, having been dedicated less than two months before his death. He was a great believer in the efficiency of the Epworth League, and for a number of years was an active member of the Conference Epworth League Board, and no man in Kentucky Methodism ever organized and reorganized as many Leagues as Brother Barker. The last two months of his life were very busy and strenuous ones for a man of his age: a move of two hundred and forty miles, tearing up at one place, straightening up at another, and getting acquainted with his new people. He was loved by the older people and by the children of all denominations; but alas, to their great sorrow, after preaching on Sunday morning and night of November 9, 1919, he was requested to preach a sermon on the second coming of our Lord, which he had agreed to do on the next Sunday and had prepared his message. But he was never permitted to deliver the sermon, for on Wednesday night, November 12, he conducted his last service. By Friday he was a very sick man, and on the following Friday, November 21, 1919, he bade farewell to a life of labor and service, climbed into the chariots of eternity, and went home to God. Conscious to the last, he felt that he was going. According to desire and choice, he was permitted to die in the harness, missing only one Sunday from his pulpit here until he answered the roll call on high. His funeral service was conducted in his own church, on Saturday morning, November 22, 1919, by the writer, assisted by two local Baptist ministers and the pastors of the Presbyterian and Disciples Churches of Burnside. The body was then conveyed to Falmouth, Ky., where it was laid to rest by the side of his daughter and wife, the mother of his children.—W. L. Clark.

GEORGE WYTHE CRUTCHFIELD, son of Albert and Hattie Crutchfield, was born October 9, 1862, at Goshen, Oldham County, Ky. He was converted in early manhood and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Shiloh, a country church near his home. Feeling a definite call to preach, he joined the Kentucky Conference in 1887, and served the following charges: Caintown Mission, one year; High Bridge, one year; Port Royal, four years; Bedford, four years; Gratz, two years. In the fall of 1899 he was transferred to the Western North Carolina Conference and served the following charges: Biltmore, four years; Asheville, two years; Weaverville, three years. While pastor at Weaverville he raised the money necessary to build a much needed dormitory. He returned to the Kentucky Conference in 1908 and served as follows: Covington, one year; Richmond, four years; Jenkins, two years. At the Conference in 1915 he was made presiding elder of the Jackson District. He served this growing field not only with untiring devotion, but with gratifying results. Added to development in other lines, he raised the funds for a district parsonage. The severe demands of this district overtaxed his constitution that was none too robust. At the Conference at Shelbyville in September, 1919, he retired from active service. He hoped that rest would restore his strength, but it was not God's will, and the Lord of the vineyard came suddenly and took him ere he could say good-by. The writer was assisted at the funeral, which was at Goshen, by Rev. J. D. Redd and Rev. Mr. Rule, a venerable minister of the Presbyterian Church who had ministered to several generations of the Crutchfield family, and we laid his body to rest in the family burying ground. He leaves a devoted wife (née Miss Belle Hall, of La Grange, Ky.), whose active coöperation multiplied his usefulness in every field where he labored. His only daughter, Julia (now Mrs. J. C. Kinzer), came out of college cultured in mind and deeply consecrated in heart. An only brother and sister also survive him: Mr. J. S. Crutchfield, a Christian business man with large interests in Pittsburg, Pa., and Mrs. Julia Snowden, of Goshen, Ky., an active worker in the Shiloh Church.—J. P. Strother.

WILLIAM F. VAUGHAN was the son of John S. and Matilda Rinehart Vaughan, and was born August 11, 1842. He had the advantage of good training in the home. A portion of his school work was with W. B. Godbey as language teacher, and his college work gave ground for independent thinking with his unusually strong brain. His first pastoral charge was Salt River Circuit; then Mackville, Salvisa, Richmond, Vanceburg, Mount Carmel, Bryantsville, Salvisa, Taylorsville, New Castle; he was then made presiding elder of Shelbyville District, Covington District, Danville District, Maysville District—serving each four years. He was then put in the pastorate again, and showed that he was equally efficient there after sixteen years in the eldership. He served Harrodsburg Station, Stanford, Somerset, and Carlisle. The last charge was Burnside, where he served four years, and then, after fifty-three years of regular service, he took the superannuate relation. When Brother T. W. Barker died, the good people of Burnside begged Brother Vaughan to come and serve all he could, and in this loving relation he labored till only a few weeks before he was called to rest. Brother Vaughan passed away on July 14, 1920, having finished the seventy-eighth year of his age and the fifty-third year in the traveling connection of the Kentucky Conference. His funeral was conducted in the Harrodsburg Methodist Church, before a congregation of deeply sorrowing friends, lay and clergy, from many places in the Kentucky Conference. The Knight Templar Masons, of which order he was a member, attended in a body. The writer was assisted by J. P. Strother, presiding elder of the Danville District, C. H. Greer, and M. S. Clark.

Other members of the Kentucky Conference present were W. E. Arnold, editor of the Central Methodist, J. W. Crates, H. C. Martin, G. W. Boswell, H. G. Turner, Dr. C. C. Fisher, and J. M. Baker, a local preacher from Salvisa. He was married to Miss Lizzie Gritton, on the Salvisa charge, in 1871. To this union God gave two sweet girls, who remained long enough to bring rapturous joy to parents' hearts as they grew into charming, pure, Christian women. But death spread a dark cloud over the home and claimed them both in early life. Brother Vaughan sorrowed deeply over his loss in the going of the girls, but ever afterwards seemed to live near the border land, and we know the journey to them was not long for him. His excellent, faithful wife may be comforted by the clear knowledge that for forty-nine years she proved all that a wife and mother could be to a Methodist preacher, his family and his work, and she is as fondly loved and as fully trusted as was her worthy husband and their precious children.—J. D. Redd.

Smith, to the St. Louis Conference. 8.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? John Anderson, William O. Medley. 2.

JOHN ANDERSON was born in Platte County, Mo., March 6, 1848. At the age of eight years his conviction of the saving grace of the Master led to his conversion and membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. When eighteen years of age he entered Central College. Three years later he received a degree from the School of Moral Philosophy at the University of Virginia. In the year 1870 he was admitted into full connection in the Missouri Conference, then in session at Columbia, and was appointed to Maryville Circuit. Two years later, because of ill health, he was compelled to transfer to the Pacific Conference. Because of this condition of health he began the study of law, and was later admitted to the bar in California. He was not able to overcome the conviction that his life work was to preach the gospel, and was therefore led to reënter the Missouri Conference after a few years' absence. He was the leader in many of our most important charges and enterprises of the Conference, all of which he served with rare gifts of consecration, devotion, and efficiency. Among these appointments were Fayette, Mexico, Carrollton, Gallatin, Arch Street (Hannibal), and as presiding elder of the Fayette, Mexico, Chillicothe, and Hannibal Districts. As a presiding elder his work was characterized by painstaking labor and devotion. Confidence in his administrative ability was manifest among his brethren by their having elected him delegate to four sessions of the General Conference. In 1901 Central College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was always actively interested in the educational policies of the Church, and served as curator for our various schools for many years. He was suddenly taken from his family while on a visit with his eldest son at Casper, Wyo. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Porch, and five sons, Dr. George, G. R., J. C., R. E., and Paul D. Anderson.—W. A. McKee.

WILLIAM O. MEDLEY was born in Franklin County, Ky., August 25, 1855, and came with his parents to Missouri in a wagon train when he was one year old. He grew to manhood in Audrain County and received his early educational training in public and private schools. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of the Mexico Circuit on June 1,

1878. He was admitted on trial into the Missouri Conference at Macon on September 12, 1878, Bishop Doggett presiding, and appointed junior preacher to B. F. Johnson on the Fulton Circuit. He was fortunate in this association, for that godly man soon saw that the young preacher was unprepared for his work and needed further school training and advised that young Medley enter Central College, which he immediately did, staying two years. In 1881 he again entered the Conference and for thirty-nine years went forth from our Conference to his appointed labors, a courageous, devout, faithful soul, sowing beside all waters and ministering to the people committed to his oversight as a true shepherd of souls. He served the following charges: Milan, Hamburg, Canton, Novelty, Wellsville, Madison, Hallville, Jonesburg, Eolia, Clarskville, Clarence, Shelbina, Salisbury, Armstrong, Galatin, Dearborn, Kahoka, Shelbyville, and Ashland. On April 10, 1889, during his ministry at Canton, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Stuart. During the past few years Brother Medley was conscious of a serious condition of his health. His family desired him to rest, but he could not leave his loved employ. Weak and weary and worn as he was, he wanted to go and watch over his sheep and tell the story of his Saviour's love and power to save. The most serious and final break in his health came about June 1 and he was compelled to take his bed. With a clear mind, and conscious that the end was nigh, he went over all the work of his ministry, and particularly the affairs of his charge, with his stewards and the presiding elder; and his records, that have always been so faithfully and accurately kept, were committed to other hands, that the records of his charge might be properly made to Conference. The outstanding characteristic of W. O. Medley was faithfulness to duty. He never shirked a task, nor side-stepped a duty because it was difficult or unpleasant. Neither the weather, the roads, nor his own failing strength ever stopped him. He came from godly stock. His grandfather, James Medley, joined the Virginia Conference in 1808. His great-uncle, J. F. Medley, was a member of the Virginia Conference for forty years. His father's sister's son, B. D. Sipple, is an honored member of our Conference, likewise his brother, J. A. Medley, our Conference Teller. The spirit of our brother slipped away to God on Thursday, July 29, 1920, from the parsonage at Ashland, Mo. The funeral service was conducted in the Ashland Church by the writer, and the body was laid to rest in Columbia Cemetery.—Charles Orrin Ransford.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? L. C. Renfro, J. M. Brown. 2.

LEWIS CLARK RENFRO, seventy-four years of age, fifty years a Methodist preacher, thirteen years a superannuate, beloved and honored by all his brethren, passed away in the city of Stockton on May 3, 1920. Brother Renfro was graduated with distinction from the Pacific Methodist College, at Santa Rosa, in January, 1870. He joined the Pacific Conference of our Church and his relationship to this Conference was never severed until by the hand of death. He filled with great efficiency and acceptability the following appointments: Colusa, Hollister, Gilroy, Salinas, Winters, Vacaville, Stockton, Hanford, Santa Rosa, Potter Valley, and perhaps others. For twenty-two successive years he was Secretary of the Conference, retiring from the position only when the feebleness of age constrained his brethren to impose upon him no longer the exacting and arduous duties of this office. As pastor, Brother Renfro was faithful and diligent, in the pulpit he was brilliant and forceful. He loved the M. E. Church, South, with an undying devotion and gave to its ministry the undivided energy of his life. In early life he and his consecrated wife set their hearts upon the mission field in Mexico, but the way did not open for them to enter this field. When some years ago they sold a small piece of property belonging to Sister Renfro, instead of laying the proceeds aside for the lean years that come to the superannuated preacher, they placed it all in an annuity with the Mission Board. Surely money given at the cost of such self-denial—money so thoroughly consecrated to the Christ—will so accrue in interest through the years to come as to become a mighty potency in upbuilding the Church in pagan lands, and surely material substance so divinely consecrated will be transmitted into the jewels of God to shine forever with radiant sweetness upon the brows of Brother and Sister Renfro. Our good brother has gone to meet his sainted wife and sweet little daughter in the home of God.

JAMES MOORE BROWN was born in Shelbyville, Ky., went to California in 1863, was admitted into the Pacific Conference in 1881, took the superannuate relation in 1913, and died in the Masonic Home, Decoto, Cal., June 3, 1919, aged eighty years. During an active ministry of thirty-two years he bore testimony to Christ and his gospel by a faithful ministry. The charges served by him were not, for the most part, such as are sought after; yet he never complained. He went cheerfully, labored earnestly, and both by precept and example set forth the power of Christ to save. He was deeply interested in Sunday school work and was greatly loved by the children. He was ever a welcome visitor in the home, his social qualities and genial spirit endearing him to all who came to know him. The people whom he served loved him and sought his genuine Christian fellowship. In conversation he was chaste, clean in life, and was thus a wholesome example to his people. In charges served by him his name is spoken with reverence; and many there are who were led by him to the Saviour. Full of the fine graces of the Holy Spirit, his ministry could not have been a failure, but was rather a success in winning men to Christ and the ways of his spirit. Down to the end of his life he maintained the noble Christian graces which made him so many friends in his pastoral charges. Though dead, he yet speaks. There is no uncertainty in his testimony. Doubtless many will meet him on the other side who were helped thither by him. We love to bear witness to the fidelity and devotion of this servant of God. He rests from his labors, but the good he did lives on.—J. J. N. Kenney.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? Edgar L. Young, J. W. Kizziah, Lewis Hardy Fullingim. 3.

J. W. KIZZIAH, a superannuate of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, passed into heaven from his home in Altus, Okla., on October 4, 1920, and his ashes were laid to rest in the Altus cemetery, borne hither by the hands of six sons and a grandson as pallbearers. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Moore, a brother Methodist preacher, and Brother Kizziah's closest friend. Brother Kizziah joined the old Northwest Texas Conference in 1876 and pioneered the work in Greer County for many years. He was evangelistic in his preaching, and has many "sons and daughters in Christ" both upon earth and in heaven. His domestic life was beautiful, loving and cherishing his wife until the end of his life, and she survives him, a broken-hearted woman. Nine children were born to them, eight of whom were at his funeral. One daughter died several years ago. Until the last, Brother Kizziah was honored in his community, the business of the entire city having stopped in honor of this great man during his funeral.—A. S. Cameron.

LEWIS HARDY FULLINGIM was born on March 24, 1867, in Hunt County, Tex., and while still in his minority he gave his heart and life to God, having had a real, genuine experience of heartfelt religion, and also having felt the calling of God through the Holy Spirit, "Woe is me if I preach not the gospel." In listening to this call in 1887, when twenty years of age, he was licensed to preach, serving as a local preacher for thirteen years, being both efficient and successful in the ranks of a local preacher. He was married at Norman, Okla., on October 4, 1894, to Miss Annie E. Lassiter, who bore him five children, two of whom died in infancy, while three remained to bless and comfort the widowed mother and mourn the loss of a devoted and loving father. At the session of the old Indian Mission Conference, held at Vinita, Ind. T., in 1900, the now sainted Bishop Key presiding, a great class of applicants for admission on trial appeared. In that number was Lewis Hardy Fullingim, who passed an excellent examination, was admitted, and started out on the regular itinerant career, accompanied by his faithful wife. Those were the days of hard circuits, poor pay, and poorer parsonages; but with the faith in God that had already sustained him as a local preacher, he went forth in the name of Him who had called him into this work. The writer first met Brother Fullingim at the session of the Indian Mission Conference at Oklahoma City, in 1903, when he was completing his third year, he having served the Dougherty Circuit in the Wynnewood District the previous year on a salary of about $180, and without a murmur or complaint. We well remember his report of "a good year and souls saved and sanctified," and that when the last word was very unpopular with the authorities that were. Yet, strange to say, so impressive was his earnestness that he was sent to a much better charge the next year. He was superannuated in 1918, and moved to Ardmore, Okla., where he lived until the Lord called him home on August 12, 1920. The funeral services were held at his home, conducted by Rev. J. D. Salter, of Chickasha, Okla. After the funeral services at the home the body was taken in charge by the Masons, whose burial ceremony was used at the grave. He gave the best years of his life for the upbuilding of the Church in what is now Oklahoma. May the comforting grace that upheld Brother Fullingim during his long sickness comfort the dear wife in her widowhood and the two sons and the daughter that are left to mourn their loss.

EDGAR L. YOUNG was born in Maury City, Tenn., July 1, 1879; departed this life in the parsonage at Eldorado, Okla., March 26, 1920. He was married to Miss Alva Young on February 11, 1903, and to this union there were born five children, all of whom, with their mother, survive. Brother Young was converted in 1889, and was licensed to preach in 1899, when he was twenty years of age. In 1903 he was admitted into the Oklahoma Conference and filled appointments in Oklahoma as follows: Frederick, Piedmont and Wheatland, Tecumseh, Welch, Guymon, Foss, Blair and Midway, and Eldorado. From 1908 to 1912 he served charges in the New Mexico Conference as follows: Clovis, Portales, and Cimarron. Brother Young was a preacher of much more than average ability and was a good and faithful pastor. He was gifted with an attractive and winsome personality and made friends easily wherever he went. At Eldorado, his last pastoral charge, he had won all hearts, though he had been there only five months when he was called home. On the Sunday when he was fatally stricken, and just a few days before his death, he had begun a revival campaign in Eldorado which from the start gave promise of great results. He had entered upon the meeting with holy enthusiasm and his people rallied to him and his plans with one accord. His going was indeed from the midst of abundant and consecrated labors. In the latter years of his life Brother Young enjoyed a deepening religious experience and was increasingly devout and full of joy as the months went by. He died in the faith, and his passing was a victory. He left behind him the following testimony, which he wrote with his own hand just before the operation from which he never regained consciousness: "I am not afraid to die. My trust is in God and he will sustain me as I walk through the valley. I hate to leave you; but if it please God for me to go now, I am ready, and there is not a shadow to obscure the way. In everything let our Heavenly Father's will be done." So the faithful ministers of God pass on. We miss them sorely here, but we know where to find them.—R. L. Ownbey.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? George M. Sanders, Pleasant D. Freeman, Henry J. Ivie, Warren B. Josselyn, William M. Martin, and John L. Kellum. 6.

HENRY J. IVIE, the son of Charles D. and Judith H. Ivie, was born near Murfreesboro, Tenn., on July 18, 1844. Before arriving at military age, young Ivie volunteered in the Confederate Army in 1861. For four years his oath of allegiance and obedience to his commanders was loyally observed. Under the ministry of Rev. Felix R. Hill, Sr., in 1868, Henry experienced a satisfaction of his sonship with Christ which lasted fifty-two years, many of them years of poverty, burden, and severe trials. In 1871, at Lebanon, Tenn., being one of a class of fifteen, this young man, who a few years before had been on the marches and battle lines of his loved Southland, offered the after years of his life to the Methodist itinerancy. No braver, truer spirit ever laid a young manhood on the altar of the Church than Henry J. Ivie. At the end of these forty-nine years I am confident not one of the fifteen is yet in active service. His first charge was in Savannah District, with Rev. A. G. Dinwiddie as presiding elder, and was the pleasant little circuit of Hampshire, in Maury County. For twenty-three years he served continuously on circuits—going from one to another, as appointed, doing so as noiselessly as the coming and going of the days. In his day, in the places assigned him, he used all the gifts in him to help men and to honor Christ. If our Christ is the Saviour we believe him to be, he has already received Henry's certificate, presented to him in Murfreesboro in 1868, and he has been assigned a place among the "company wearing white raiment." For twenty-six years, after his active life and before the day of his ascension, he lived in the silence and loneliness of the sphere of the "forgotten" men. His humble home in Northeast Nashville was lighted up on January 21, 1920, with a light that never shone on land or sea. Heaven arranged for the ascension of this humble saint. On his face, furrowed by age and care, the heavenly light fell, and the spirit of Henry J. Ivie found the physical doors off their hinges and a shining pathway from his little home to the gates of pearl. Since January 21, 1920, he has been at home. His wife and children know where to find him.—Payton A. Sowell.

GEORGE MADELL SANDERS was born in Macon County, Tenn., April 3, 1843. While yet a lad he removed with his father's family to Davidson County, a few miles north of Goodlettsville, where he grew to manhood. While yet little more than a youth, he enlisted as a soldier in the Confederate army. In the first engagement he was severely wounded. From the effects of this wound he carried physical defects through life. Brother Sanders passed through the period of the Civil War without becoming a Christian. He became the subject of saving grace on October 1, 1865, and united with the Church on November 13 following. Feeling that the divine hand was laid upon him for the work of the Christian ministry, he at once addressed himself to the task of obtaining an education, availing himself of the best aids within his reach at the time. For two years he attended school at Pleasant Grove Academy in Robertson County. This promptness of action revealed his dominant traits of decision of character and great energy. He had committed himself to Christ for the gospel ministry and was destined soon to prove himself a faithful soldier of the Lord Jesus. He was admitted on trial into the Tennessee Conference in October, 1867, at Clarksville, Tenn. He served the following charges: Fort Deposit, Fountain Head, Red River, Celina, Cookeville, Summit, Gainesboro, Fountain Head and Summit, Cross Plains, Saline, Montgomery, Ashland City, Lynchburg and Mulberry, Charlotte, Cumberland City, Hustburg, Centerville, Fairfield, and Castalian Springs. He took the superannuate relation some thirteen years before his death. By close economy and good business habits he had saved enough to buy a modest home, with something over. He settled at South Tunnel, in Sumner County, where he and his devoted wife passed their last years happily in the quiet of the country. In his early ministry Brother Sanders was married to Miss Mary Jane Spradlin, of Sumner County. A son and a daughter were born to them. Dr. Herschel Sanders resides in Bowling Green, Ky. Lillian died some twenty-two years before her father. In March, 1919, Mrs. Sanders, after a lengthy period of semi-invalidism, went to her heavenly home. Brother Sanders was sorely bereaved and lonely in his home, yet he desired to remain there. His son urged him to come to his home, where he could have every convenience and comfort, but he preferred to remain on the scene of sweet companionship and hallowed memories. The stay was not to be prolonged. Ten short months, but lengthy to him, brought the end. He had just returned home from Conference at McKendree Church ten days before he fell ill. He was taken to his son's home, where, after a brief illness, he entered upon a well-deserved rest. His funeral service was conducted by the writer in old Fountain Head Church, where he had held a similar service for his wife in March preceding, and where they were united in marriage fifty years before by the Rev. J. G. Ray. Brother Sanders was a true man, a good friend, and faithful in all the relations of life.—John R. Stewart.

JOHN LUCIUS KELLUM, son of Thomas and Jane Kellum, was born in Maury County, Tenn., June 26, 1848; departed this life July 18, 1920. He was married to Fannie M. Hunt in 1874, and to them five children were born. This good wife died in May, 1890. Brother Kellum was again married, to Anna Elizabeth Anthony, in 1892. To this union two children were born. This faithful woman went to her reward a few years ago. Brother Kellum was converted and joined the Church in 1865. He was admitted on trial into the Tennessee Conference at Nashville, Tenn., in October, 1872. Brother Kellum served twenty-one charges, and worked faithfully and diligently in his Master's vineyard. The charges are: Monroe Mission, 1872-74; Cave Spring Circuit, 1875; Salem Circuit, 1876; Livingston Circuit, 1877-79; Cokesbury Circuit, 1880; Monroe Mission, 1881; Goose Creek Circuit, 1882-85; Mount Olivet Circuit, 1886-87; Richland Circuit, 1888-90; Bee Springs Circuit, 1891-92; Bigbyville Circuit, 1893-94; Pleasant Valley Circuit, 1895-97; Trinity Circuit, 1898; Liberty Circuit, 1899-1900; Jacob's Hill Circuit, 1901-05; Lynchburg Circuit, 1906-07; Nolensville Circuit, 1908-09; Farmington Circuit, 1910-11; Richland Circuit, 1912-14; Alex Green Circuit, 1914-15; Alma-ville Circuit, 1916. He superannuated in the fall of 1916 and went to his farm in Giles County, where he resided until his death. Brother Kellum was a strong Christian character. He was a man among men. Like Barnabas, he was a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith. He had high ideals in living and preaching. As a preacher he was a faithful itinerant. He loved God and the Church with an unbroken love. He preached a positive, evangelical gospel that was able to save all kinds of men. The Bible was the one book with him, and his messages were filled with quotations and illustrations from this great volume. Brother Kellum won many people to Christ and the Methodist Church. He made a host of friends everywhere he went, and men, women, and children sought his companionship because he was preëminently a social man. He carried sunshine and gladness everywhere he went. He was unexcelled as a pastor. He was my pastor when I was a young preacher. I found him to be faithful and true in all of his work. I never had a better pastor. In no place did Brother Kellum shine more brilliantly than in his family life. Being a good husband and a loving, helpful father, he made his home happy. He lived close to people and nature. Therefore he always reached the people in his charges. I think I can say that he was a natural artist, also an inventor of no small ability. We had many talks about the ministry and things to come, and he was always headed toward heaven. He preached his last sermon at my quarterly meeting, on the text, "Prepare to meet thy God"; and it was so full of love and exhortation that it portrayed to us that he had practiced what he preached. When the end came, though it came suddenly, he was ready. His last days were spent among his lifelong friends, and he rejoiced in this fact. His funeral was held in the Rehobeth Church, near his home, and a large congregation was present to pay their last tribute of respect to one of God's best children. There were six preachers present, and all took part in the service. Their talks were centered upon his beautiful life and its going away. When he entered the gates there was a great reunion. His two good Christian wives and Tom, his preacher-son, were there with a host of others to welcome him home.—W. A. Stroud.

PLEASANT D. FREEMAN was born in Perry County, Tenn., November 16, 1867. His parents were Anderson C. and Elvira Ward Freeman. In his home in Nashville, Tenn., after a lingering and painful illness, surrounded by loved ones who had faithfully and tenderly ministered to him, on December 12, 1919, he quietly went to sleep. His boyhood and youth were passed under the strenuous conditions that characterize country life. He was, therefore, of necessity, more or less inured to hardship. He was early in life thrown on his own resources. This fact developed in him the spirit of self-reliance and the power of initiative. His youth was not wasted in "sowing wild oats." Having an inquiring mind, he improved such educational opportunities as were available. He had literary curiosity, and successfully sought knowledge. He began active life as a teacher in country schools, being associated with his father-in-law, Professor Turner, in his last work of this kind before entering the itinerant ministry. Had his environment and opportunities been favorable in early life, he had the capacity and application to have become a great scholar. The call to enter the gospel ministry was so clear and distinct, however, that he did not temporize or hesitate. As the door of opportunity opened, he entered. While he did not enter Conference for ten years after his conversion, which occurred in 1887, he was during most of this interim a local preacher and traveled as a supply on three different charges. The charges he later served with great acceptability and efficiency were: Bunker Hill, two years; Big Rock, two years; Dover, four years; Hillsboro, four years; Olivet and Lynnvile, one year; South Columbia, three years; Ashland City, three years; Monroe Street, two years; Portland and Fountain Head, one year. Failing health enforced his retirement from the last work in mid-year, he taking the superannuate relation at the ensuing Conference session. For a little more than a year he suffered greatly, made a brave fight for health, but, being defeated, suffered patiently to the end. Brother Freeman was most congenially and fortunately married, while still a young man, to Miss Jennie Turner, who was a great support to him in all his work. He possessed a rich vein of humor and enjoyed a good joke on a high moral plane. Great kindness marked his bearing toward men. He loved the brethren and commanded the respect of those who were not professing Christians. He was a strong preacher and forceful in address. He dearly loved to preach Christ. He loved music. He possessed the requisite qualities to be the head of a happy household. He thoroughly enjoyed his home, receiving the tender love and attention of his devoted wife, daughter, and son in the days of his health and during the long and trying months of his illness. As he drew near the gates of the eternal city, he sounded the notes of triumphant victory in the holy songs of Zion. His brethren in the itinerant ministry attended his funeral service, several of them taking part in the exercises, a number of whom were also present at the interment of his mortal remains in beautiful Spring Hill Cemetery at Nashville, Tenn. We believe that his body shall be called forth in due time by the voice of the Son of God unto the resurrection of life.—John R. Stewart.

WILLIAM M. MARTIN, son of J. D. and Matilda Martin, was born May 10, 1872, in Dickson County, Tenn. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1897, and was admitted into the Tennessee Conference in 1907. He served the following charges: Stewart Circuit, three years; Liberty Circuit, two years; Little Lot, one year; Cumberland Furnace, four years; White House, two years; Greenbrier, one year; Rome, three years; Lebanon Circuit, two years. It was my pleasure to be Brother Martin's presiding elder for two years, and I was always glad to have an opportunity to be in his home. I learned to love him, and it was a real joy to be associated with him. He had a certain directness and winsomeness of character that won him loyal friends wherever he went. As the Great Teacher was a friend and helper of men, so Brother Martin made it the purpose of his life to do deeds of kindness and of love. The charges he served paid small salaries, but he managed to provide for those dependent upon him and was always anxious to stay clear of debt. His last days were full of suffering. Disease made inroads upon both his mind and body, and death was truly a relief. Surrounded by his immediate family at his home in Leeville, death came to him on June 27, 1920. Funeral services were conducted in the church at Leeville by his presiding elder, Rev. T. W. Noland, the writer, and several other members of our Conference. His wife, Annie Holland Martin, one son, Fred, and one daughter, Mildred, together with a host of friends, mourn his going, but rejoice in the life he lived, the influence he wielded, and the gospel he preached.—J. Allison Molloy.

WARREN BLEDSOE JOSSELYN, JR., son of W. B. and Annie Josselyn, was born in Alameda, Cal., on November 3, 1889; died February 30, 1920. He was converted under the ministry of a Rev. Mr. Glover, at the tender age of thirteen, and in a few months, while yet a youth, he felt called of God to the work of the ministry. For some reason, unknown to the writer, he deferred joining the Church for several years. Perhaps it was through respect to the wishes of his father, who was not a believer in the Christian religion and who was very anxious to have his son—his namesake—prepare himself for the practice of the law, of which profession the father was a member. But notwithstanding his devotion to his father and desire to comply with his wishes, young Josselyn could not get rid of the impression that his Heavenly Father had a work of another character for him to do. Realizing that if he was to preach preparation must be made, and having been assured that no assistance need be expected from the father, whose will he could not conscientiously obey, he set about trying to devise some plan by which he might secure the best possible equipment for the work of the ministry. In some way, providentially he believed, he learned that in far-away Tennessee there was a school into which, without money, a young man, aspiring for a religious education, could enter with the assurance that his own efforts would be supplemented by the assistance of the management. Consequently, in October, 1908, at the age of nineteen he entered Trevecca College, where for the next six years he pursued his studies, completing the theological course in May, 1911, and the academic course in May, 1914. A peculiar circumstance connected with his life is the fact that it was four years or more after having completed his theological course before he joined any Church. Before connecting himself with the Church he desired to assure himself of his agreement with its doctrines and policy. Being convinced that he was in hearty agreement with the teachings and practices of Methodism, he sought membership therein. In the summer of 1915, Rev. B. F. Isom, pastor of Waverly Place Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., received him into fellowship with that goodly congregation. Soon thereafter he was granted license to preach by the special committee of the Nashville District, and in October of the same year he was received on trial into the Tennessee Conference and was assigned to the Unionville Circuit, Fayetteville District, where he remained two years. From Unionville he was sent to the Huntland Circuit in the same district. Here again he did most satisfactory work for two years. It was the unanimous desire of the members of the Quarterly Conference of this charge that he be returned for the third year; but when told frankly by Brother Josselyn that he was anxious to further pursue his studies, and for that reason would like to have an appointment in or near the city of Nashville, his people generously and yet reluctantly agreed to his removal. At the session of the Conference at McKendree Church in 1919, Brother Josselyn was appointed to the Bellevue and Buffalo charge, in the Nashville District, where he was doing very acceptable work, having in the three and a half months of his pastorate ingratiated himself into the hearts of his people, who felt that he was absolutely indispensable to the success of the work of the Church in that most difficult field, when disease and death came and clipped the brittle thread of life and released his gentle spirit, which went back to God. Not only was he doing most excellent work in this pastorate, but was also doing splendidly in George Peabody College, where he had matriculated in September, 1919, with the hope of finishing a course which he mapped out and receiving his degree from this great school. On May 10, 1914, Brother Josselyn was married to Miss Rebecca Jacobs, of Virginia, who, like himself, had been a student in Trevecca College. To this union was born on June 5, 1915, a little girl, whom they called Virginia, after the native State of the mother. Besides his wife and little girl, Brother Josselyn leaves a widowed mother and two sisters in his native State, California. Brother Josselyn was ordained a deacon by Bishop McCoy at the session of the Conference held at Gallatin, Tenn., October, 1917, and an elder by Bishop Atkins at the Conference at McKendree Church in 1919. In many ways Brother Josselyn was a remarkable man. He was frail of body, but strong in mind; small in stature, but large of heart. He was as gentle as a woman, and yet as brave and manly as a hero. He never temporized or compromised with sin, but spoke his convictions with the voice of a true prophet of God. He was a hard student. He had a thirst for knowledge. He was not content with the knowledge he had gained while in school before entering the ministry, but was ever reaching out for fresh truth. He did not believe that in this life only we need knowledge; but on the other hand he believed that the knowledge and equipment acquired here will be useful in the life to come. On being asked by his wife why he labored so hard to secure an education, he replied: "I am in training here for a greater work up yonder." Doubtless the belief that his work was to continue in the other world, and that he would need a better equipment there, prompted him to enter the university notwithstanding the frailty of his body; for he was naturally of a very delicate mold, and those who knew him best were sure that he was not destined to live many years upon the earth. It seems strange that one so useful and promising should be stricken at such an early age; for he was only thirty years, four months, and seventeen days old when he left us. Brother Josselyn died from the effects of erysipelas at his home in Bellevue after everything that skilled physicians, a trained nurse, and loving friends could do for his relief. His presiding elder, Rev. J. Allison Molloy, with the assistance of a number of the Nashville pastors, conducted a service at the residence, on the morning of February 21, after which the body was conveyed to Unionville, Tenn., his first pastorate, where the writer, assisted by Revs. J. Allison Molloy, W. H. Johnston, George L. Beale, and I. W. Parrish, conducted the funeral services in the Methodist church; and then lovingly we placed all that was mortal in a grave that had been prepared in the churchyard by men who had loved and honored him while he lived and labored among them, there to await the resurrection of the people of God.—W. V. Jarratt.

JAMES M. CLARK was born April 12, 1850, in Arkansas. Early in life he became a devout Christian and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in his native State. His life and education were such that he was granted license to preach on September 20, 1875, and in November of the same year he was admitted on trial into the White River Conference, where he did faithful and effective service for ten years. In the fall of 1885 he came to Missouri, and has since been an acceptable member of the Southwest Missouri Conference. His appointments were important charges and districts, which he filled with efficiency and ability. His preaching was clear, forceful, and deliberate. Brother Clark was the embodiment of a Christian gentleman, apparently free from guile. For years he felt compelled to sustain the relation of a superannuate, during which time he often filled the pulpits of his brethren in their absence. In 1918, at the session of the Conference at Jefferson City, he was granted the superannuate relation, which he sustained until he departed this life, on April 27, 1920. Brother Clark was married to Miss Frances Colbern on September 20, 1886, and she, with two sons, Dr. Morris H. and Mr. Harry C. Clark, survives.

JOHN WILLIAM EZELL was born in Green County, Mo., February, 22, 1856. His parents were of the industrious, pious class of pioneer people who wrought so well in the early days of the Ozarks. John William was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at fourteen years of age. He entered Morrisville College at the age of twenty and soon took rank among its brightest students. His affable disposition soon made him a favorite with his fellow students. He was licensed to preach in 1881, and continued in the local ranks for two years. He joined the Southwest Missouri Conference at Boonville in the fall of 1883, Bishop A. W. Wilson presiding, with a class of ten members. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Parker on October 15, 1884, and elder by Bishop Hendrix on October 2, 1887. He served as junior preacher with L. H. Vandiver on the Longwood and High Point Circuit. He served five other charges until 1893, when he was put in charge of the Springfield District, which he served five years. Returning to the pastorate, he served five other charges. In 1908 he transferred to the Missouri Conference and located at Fayette that he might have the benefit of the colleges there for his children. Having served two charges there, he transferred back to the Southwest Missouri Conference and took a supernumerary relation in 1911. While in this relation he worked a farm that he might educate his children. He kept his children in school until the five of them were graduated. This was the spirit of the man. His children are all Christians and engaged in useful pursuits. One son, William Harney, is an honored member of the Missouri Conference. Brother Ezell was placed on the effective list at our last Conference, and appointed to the Morrisville Station, where he was doing a splendid work, preaching to the delight of the people. His ministry was very fruitful, and many were converted by his preaching. He came to this last appointment in high spirits and preached with great acceptability, until he began to fail in health about the first of January and grew worse until on Sunday morning, May 16, 1920, he quietly fell asleep in Jesus, supported by the faith that he had so long and faithfully preached to others. He was married to Miss Sallie J. Wheeler on October 14, 1885. It was a happy union, and for nearly thirty-five years they lived and labored together in the itinerancy of the Methodist ministry.

AVERY SAMUEL ABERNETHY, the seventh of eight children of Luther and Mary Jane Abernethy, of Lincoln County, N. C., was born May 11, 1893; died in the Watts Hospital, Durham, N. C., July 22, 1920. His family were Lutherans, but young Abernethy's conversion in his fifteenth year, at which time he joined the Pisgah M. E. Church, South, on the Lincolnton Circuit, carried his father with him to the Methodist Church. On July 27, 1912, he was licensed to preach on the Lincolnton Circuit. He was admitted on trial into the Western North Carolina Conference at Reidsville in 1915, and on November 18, 1917, at the Conference at Asheville, Bishop Atkins ordained him a deacon. On October 26, 1919, at the session in Greensboro, Bishop Darlington ordained him elder. He has served the following charges: During the summer and fall of 1915 he was junior preacher on the Rock Springs Circuit; 1915-17, Sparta Circuit; 1917-18, Elk Park Circuit; 1918-19, Lewisville Circuit; 1919-20 (eight months), Orange Circuit. Besides the public school, he attended Rutherford College four years. During his pastorate on the Lewisville Circuit, with the advice of friends and with the consent of the bishop, he decided that fall to enter Trinity College for further equipment for his life work, and at the session of the Western North Carolina Conference was appointed as a student in Trinity College. After pursuing his studies but a short while, upon the advice of his physician, he gave up his student work and at the session of the North Carolina Conference was appointed to Orange Circuit. He made a very fine beginning in this work; but at the Durham District Conference one who knew him well says that, though he appeared cheerful, it was apparent that the death summons was on him. The night following the Conference, the malady that he had been fighting for some time seized him. He was carried to the hospital and after two weeks of great suffering was graciously released. On July 19, 1915, he was married to Miss Fleta Irene Ramsay, daughter of J. W. and Edna J. Ramsay, of Gaston County. Two girls blessed this union. Besides his wife and children he is survived by his parents, two brothers, and four sisters. His wife's father and mother moved to Trinity College some years ago for the education of their sons, which was one of the occasions of Brother Abernethy's going to Trinity. The father-in-law passed away January 18, 1920, which makes double the grief of the widow. Prof. F. S. Aldridge, Head Master of Trinity Park High School, and the writer conducted the funeral of Brother Abernethy on Saturday, July 24, at the Carrboro Church, in the suburbs of Chapel Hill, to which the entire circuit had come to mourn the loss of a much loved pastor.—Frank Siler.

JOSEPH D. ARNOLD was born in Mecklenburg County, Va., March 15, 1839. His father and mother were devout Methodists, his father being a local preacher. He was graduated from Randolph-Macon College at the age of twenty-one. Soon after the Civil War began he enlisted in the Confederacy in the first company from his native county. He did real service and lost his right arm in the battle of Malvern Hill in 1862. He was a brave soldier in the cause of his Southland, but was no less true as a soldier of Jesus Christ, for whom he cheerfully and faithfully fought. He was licensed to preach in the spring of 1863, and therefore preached fifty-seven years, for he preached up to the last. Soon after the close of the war he had charge of the Danville Female College, which position he filled for four or five years. He then went to Jonesboro, N. C., and established the Jonesboro High School. After four years as principal of the school he joined the North Carolina Conference in 1879, and was appointed to Tarboro charge, where he remained three years. Here he built a parsonage. He next served Jonesboro three years, where he built a church, parsonage, and high school. He next served Henderson charge four years, and here he built a church. He then served Reidsville charge one year, and at the next Conference dropped out of the pastorate and took a position as professor in the Asheville Female College, where he taught for five years. He reentered the pastorate and served the following charges: King's Mountain, two years; Forest Hill (Concord), three years; Lexington, four years; Rutherfordton, three years; Newton, one year; Bethel, three years. The record shows that he was abundant in labors and that he served his Church faithfully and well. He fell asleep Friday evening, August 20, 1920. He died from an attack of cystitis at the ripe age of eighty-two. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Bessie Mosely, of Virginia. His second wife, who survives him, was Miss Anna Clark, daughter of Gen. David Clark, of Halifax, N. C. For nearly thirty years she walked with him, sharing the joys and sorrows of his life. Besides his wife he leaves sons and daughters as follows: Mrs. J. T. Schaaf, Mrs. Pearl Townsend, Miss Virginia Arnold, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs R. C. Stearns, of Richmond, Va.; H. M. Arnold, of Roanoke, Va.; and Dr. B. W. Arnold, of Lynchburg, Va., Professor of History in Randolph-Macon Woman's College.—M. F. Weaver.

JOHN WESLEY JONES was born September 4, 1854; died September 12, 1920. He was born, reared, married, and died in Iredell County, N. C. He was reared in the Presbyterian faith, but in his youth chose the Methodist Church, and Methodism and Arminianism never had a more ardent advocate. He gave his heart to God in 1873, and soon thereafter felt his call to the gospel ministry. He was married to Miss Maggie McPherson on April 9, 1872, and God alone knows and eternity itself will reveal how much this good woman has meant to this faithful itinerant. Soon after their marriage they moved to Rutherford College, where, under the tutorage of the sainted Dr. R. L. Abernethy, Brother Jones was prepared for his life work. During these days of struggle for an education they kept boarders, and part of the time after he was licensed to preach he supplied the old South Mountain Mission. In the year 1880, at the Annual Conference held in Winston-Salem, he was admitted on trial into the traveling connection. The following are the appointments he served: Double Shoals Circuit, 1881-82; King's Mountain Circuit, 1883-84; Kinston Station, 1885; Beaufort, 1886; Madison Circuit, 1887; Maxton and Caledonia, 1888-89; High Point Station, 1890-93; Hendersonville Station, 1894-95; Morganton District, 1896-98; Morganton Circuit, 1899-1900. At this period, his health having failed, he was granted the superannuate relation and moved to Mooresville, where he spent the remainder of his life, except a few brief months when he undertook to serve Mount Zion Station and Race Street Station, his health not permitting him to continue in these fields of service. While his health was much impaired, he did not spend the years lived in Mooresville in idleness, for during these years he served the Mooresville Circuit and St. John's Church four years each. The latter church he founded and aided in the erection of a neat house of worship, which now stands as a monument to his energy. Four years ago he was appointed junior preacher at Mooresville Station, during which time he has been of great assistance to the pastor of that Church. This year he was given charge of Dixie Church, a new charge just established in North Mooresville, and was abundant in labors until within a few weeks of his translation to heaven. He was also very efficient in labors in three other fields of service while he "waited by the way." He did effective work for the North Carolina Christian Advocate, traveled extensively for Rutherford College, and did yeoman service in successfully establishing the Methodist Mutual Insurance Company of North Carolina. There are left the following members of his immediate family: his aged and feeble helpmeet, Mrs. B. A. Troutman, Misses Nancy and Mary Jones, and Captain Chambers, a half brother, an attorney of Chattanooga, Tenn. The funeral services were held on September 14 by the writer, assisted by Revs. W. A. Newell, J. Ed Thompson, E. N. Crowder, W. B. Davis, T. A. Groce, and J. H. Green. During the service the business houses and schools closed, a throng of men and women of every walk of life filled the large church, and many failed to secure room in the building. Willow Valley Cemetery, at Mooresville now holds the remains of this servant of God who lived and wrought so mightily for good and who is now reaping a rich reward.—Lee A. Falls.

JOSEPH COLUMBUS ROWE was born in Rowan County, N. C., eight miles east of Salisbury, on August 4, 1848. He joined the North Carolina Conference at Salisbury in 1877, having been licensed to preach in 1874. He received the beginning of his training in books in the public schools of Rowan County, in Franklin Academy, a school five miles west of Salisbury, and at Olin Academy, an institution twelve miles north of Statesville. His education was wrought out in years of reading and thought, subsequent to his school days, for he was ever a student. In 1872 he was married to Nancy Adella Brown, and was the father of six children: Mrs. A. M. Frye, of Bryson City; Rev. G. T. Rowe, D.D., of Winston-Salem; Miss Eugenia Rowe, of Asheville; Dr. Henry B. Rowe, of Mount Airy; C. W. Rowe, of New York; and a daughter, Laura, who died in 1911. For the first eleven years of his ministry Dr. Rowe served circuits with such acceptability that in 1888 he was assigned to First Church, Statesville; since which time he has served in the largest and most important stations and districts of the Conference. He served, in order, the following named charges: 1877-78, Alexander Circuit; 1879, Farmington Circuit; 1880, Yaddkinville Circuit; 1881-82, Elkin and Jonesville; 1883-84, Olin Circuit; 1885, Lenoir Circuit; 1886-87, Albemarle Circuit; 1888-89, Statesville Station; 1890-91, Monroe Station; 1892, Franklin District; 1893, Statesville Station; 1894-97, Statesville District; 1898-99, West Market Street; 1900-02, Charlotte District; 1903, Monroe (Central); 1904-05, Salisbury (First Church); 1906, Concord (Central); 1907, Asheville District; 1908-11, Salisbury District; 1912-13, Asheville (Central); 1914, Charlotte District; 1915-18, Salisbury District; 1919, Salisbury (South Main Street). After nearly forty-three years of uninterrupted service in the Methodist ministry, Dr. J. C. Rowe is dead. He was stricken with influenza on Monday morning, February 2, and on Saturday developed pneumonia, passing away on the following Monday morning, at the South Main Street parsonage, Salisbury. He was buried at the Chestnut Hill Cemetery, at Salisbury, on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.—John F. Kirk.

JOSEPH ALEXANDER WIGGINS was born in what is now Swain, but at the time of his birth was a part of Macon County, N. C., March 3, 1832; and passed away at his home, in Robbinsville, Graham County, N. C., April 6, 1920. Brother Wiggins professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1856. The following year he was licensed to exhort. He was licensed to preach and admitted on trial into the Holston Conference in 1859, and appointed to Cleveland Circuit in Tennessee, which he served until the beginning of the War between the States, when he enlisted in the second Tennessee Cavalry, in which he served the Confederacy as chaplain for the four years of the war. On August 8, 1866, he was married to Miss Mary Jane Hayes, and to them were born eight children, six of whom, with the widow, are still living. Brother Wiggins had an active ministry of thirty-two years, during which time he served the following charges: Cleveland Circuit, Robbinsville Mission, Murphy Circuit, Madisonville, Athens Circuit, Waynesville Circuit, Murphy Circuit, Hayesville Circuit, Bakersville Circuit, Boone Circuit, Webster Circuit, North Haywood, Boone Circuit, Rye Cove (Va.), Robbinsville, Whittier, and Robbinsville again. He was superannuated in 1892, but since then he has served as supply on the Robbinsville charge for perhaps as many as ten years. In December, 1884, he moved his family for the last time into Graham County and settled on a farm near Robbinsville, where he lived until November, 1919, when he moved into the town of Robbinsville. During the thirty-six years that he lived in Graham County he preached in all sections of the county and was loved and highly respected by all sects and creeds. He always favored everything that was for the upbuilding of the community and for the furthering of the cause of Christ. He was ever fearless in speaking the truth. The early days of his ministry were specially heroic. His life was often threatened and sometimes attempted, but he was never known to turn back in the face of danger. Though being often notified not to come again into certain communities at the peril of physical violence, he never failed to go. He was never known to shirk a duty or to refuse to go where called or sent. He was true to the best traditions of our Methodist itinerancy and was a typical Methodist preacher. Brother Wiggins lived for more than eighty-eight years. In his last days he thanked God that none of his children had ever dishonored him and that none of them had ever suffered hunger during the years of his ministry. He knew in whom he trusted. He did not study how he should obtain livelihood or of how much he should receive for his labors. His salary was always pitifully small, but he cultivated the soil, raising what he could to supplement his salary. He never murmured or complained of his lot. In a good old age he died full of faith. Blessed be his memory.—M. T. Smathers.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? A. B. Roberts, C. D. West. 2.

ALFRED B. ROBERTS was born March 8, 1844, in Buncombe County, N. C. He was married to Miss Nancy Ann Caraway in 1865 in Erath County, Tex. He died from an affection of the heart in Plainview, Tex., April 20, 1920. He was confined to his bed only about three weeks, during which time he kept his Bible in his hand, or had someone to read such portions of Scripture as he asked for. Brother Roberts was licensed to exhort by Rev. William Monk, presiding elder of the Stephenville District, on September 26, 1874, and was licensed to preach August 17, 1878, by Rev. J. P. Mussett, presiding elder of the same district. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Kavanaugh at Waxahachie on November 20, 1881, and was ordained elder November 15, 1885, by Bishop McTyeire. He joined the old Northwest Texas Conference in 1887 and took the superannuate relation in 1912. Brother Roberts was more than an ordinary man, and had some extraordinary gifts as a preacher and gospel singer. His powerful exhortations could stir an audience as but few men could move a congregation. As a man and as a preacher, he was unique in some respects. He had no patience with a sham, and hated it with intense hatred. In his death the Church has lost a useful member, a strong preacher, and a true man. His faithful wife survives him, and, with her children, expects to meet him again when Jesus comes to receive his own.—R. F. Dunn.

CHARLES DEEMS WEST, son of William R. and Margaret Guthrie West, was born in Chatham County, N. C., March 12, 1859; died May 7, 1920, having been a Methodist nearly forty-three years and a preacher of the gospel for thirty years. What a wondrous and abiding work was crowded into these years! At the place where he was born he was converted in 1872, under the ministry of Rev. W. H. Willis, but did not join the Methodist Church until 1877, at Goldston, N. C. He was licensed to preach at Palo Pinto, Tex., April 5, 1890, by Rev. W. L. Harris, preacher in charge; admitted on trial into the Northwest Texas Conference at Abilene in 1890, the sainted Bishop Key presiding; ordained deacon at Waco in 1892 by Bishop Hargrove; and elder at Hillsboro in 1894 by Bishop Hargrove. He never transferred out of the Northwest Texas Conference, of which he died an honored member. Brother West served the following charges: 1890-91, East Taylor Mission; 1892-95, Holland Mission; 1896-97, Big Spring; 1898-99, Rising Star and Pisgah; 1900-01, Iredell and Walnut Springs; 1902, Carbon and Gorman; 1903-04, Snyder Circuit; 1905-07, Avoca Circuit; 1908-09, Hamlin Station; 1909-11, Rule Station; 1912-13, Claude Station; 1914-15, Paducah; 1916-17, Agent of Superannuate Homes; 1918, Ovalo; 1919 to the date of his death, Dumas and Hartley. On April 26, 1894, Brother West was married to Miss Ona Ellis, of Maxdale, Tex., who through the years walked side by side with him in life's tenderest companionship.—Texas Christian Advocate.

Ques. 12. Who are the deacons of one year? Justin V. G. Anderson, William B. Hicks, T. W. Shepherd, Jesse A. Townsend, Raymond Van Zant, J. E. Yeats, J. W. McCrary, G. W. Montgomery, L. B. Hankins. 9.

Ques. 13. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected deacons? Traveling preachers, William B. Hicks, Jesse A. Townsend, Raymond Van Zant. 3. Local preachers, none.

Ques. 14. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been ordained deacons? Traveling preachers, William B. Hicks, Jesse A. Townsend, Raymond Van Zant, Claude R. Kidd (elected last year). 4. Local preachers, none.

Ques. 15. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been elected elders? Traveling preachers, Joseph E. Boyd, Clarence O. Davis, William A. Hitchcock, Horatio W. Hanks, Charles M. Killian, Horace C. Gordon, Andrew O. Hood, Henry A. Nichols. 8. Local preachers, none.

Ques. 16. What traveling preachers and what local preachers have been ordained elders? Traveling preachers, Joseph E. Boyd, Clarence O. Davis, William A. Hitchcock, Horatio W. Hanks, Charles M. Killian, Horace C. Gordon, Andrew O. Hood, Henry A. Nichols. 8. Local preachers, none.

Ques. 17. Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration? Their names were called, one by one, and their characters examined and passed.

THOMAS WILLIAM GLASS fell asleep in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Cope at Hornersville, Mo., at one o'clock on June 29, 1920. Brother Glass had barely passed his sixtieth birthday, but these sixty years had been given to the highest and best things, so that he was fully prepared for the transition when it came. Having been converted when a lad of seventeen, he began immediately to make preparation for his life work. When he was eighteen years of age he was licensed as an exhorter. Soon thereafter he was granted a license to preach, and took his first charge as a preacher when he was a mere youth of twenty-one. For twenty-nine years he was an effective member of the St. Louis Conference, receiving his appointments with gladness, and devoting the best of his life to the building up of the kingdom of God. Practically his entire ministry was spent in the Poplar Bluff District, the district in which he was born, converted, and licensed to preach. He was a modest man, and his ability was not always appreciated, because he would not advocate his own claims. He felt that when he entered the itinerant ministry he had taken a vow to do the work assigned. In the early days it was no little matter to travel the large circuits in the Ozark Mountains and the lowlands of Southeast Missouri. Brother Glass endured these hardships until he was overtaken by disease, when he was compelled for a few days to retire from active work. He was never happy in the superannuate relation, and after a short time in retirement he reported to the Conference that he was again ready for work. He was never fully able to shake himself loose from disease, notwithstanding he continued in the active ranks until he had served four pastoral charges, when he was compelled to go on the superannuate list again. This relation he sustained until the day of his death. He was married to Miss Zetta J. Neal on December 14, 1879. During the entire period of his ministry this good woman labored by his side. He was the father of eight children, all of whom are still living: Mrs. A. W. Preston, Mrs. E. C. Cope, John B. Glass, Thomas L. Glass, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. M. H. Fletcher, Charles Laban Glass, and Zetta May Glass. These children, with their mother, remain to mourn their loss.

JAMES WIDEMAN LEE, son of Zachary and Emily H. Lee, was born at Rockbridge, Ga., November 28, 1849. He was educated at Bawsville Academy, Grantville High School, and Emory College, Oxford, Ga. He was married to Eufaula, daughter of Rev. L. L. Ledbetter, of Cedartown, Ga., December 26, 1875. To Dr. Lee and wife were born three sons and three daughters: Ivy L., James Wideman, Lewis

H., Mrs. Wilburn T. Trueblood, Mrs. Robert S. Hoxie, and Mrs. Mortimer P. Burroughs. Brother Lee was ordained deacon in 1876. His appointments were Rockmart, Long Cane, Carrollton, Dalton, Rome, and Trinity Church (Atlanta), in the North Georgia Conference. From Atlanta he was transferred to the St. Louis Conference and stationed at St. John Church, St. Louis, in 1893. In the summer of 1894 Dr. Lee headed an expedition to Palestine and, passing in order over the journeys of our Saviour's ministry, wrote "The Earthly Footprints of the Man of Galilee." After serving St. John Church four years Dr. Lee was appointed presiding elder of the St. Louis District, and served from 1897 to 1901. He was then reappointed pastor of St. John and served this church a second term of four years. He was then transferred to Georgia and filled a pastoral term at Trinity, his old charge in Atlanta. In 1909 he was returned to St. John for his third term of service. After this, Dr. Lee was again appointed presiding elder of the St. Louis District, and after two years' service on the district he was appointed chaplain of Barnes Hospital—a position he continued to occupy until the Master called him to his eternal reward. In the summer of 1919 Dr. Lee, as was his custom, went to the home of his son, Ivy Lee, at Rye, N. Y., to spend his vacation. While there he fell and fractured his hip, and after lying in the Roosevelt Hospital some weeks he was brought home to the Barnes Hospital, where on October 4 he entered into rest, his wife and sons and daughters being at his bedside. Besides "The Footprints of the Man of Galilee," Dr. Lee was the author of several books. "The Making of a Man," published in 1902, is a work of great merit. It has been translated into the Japanese, Chinese, and Korean languages. "Christ the Reason of the Universe" is an address which he delivered before the World's Parliament of Religions in Chicago in 1893. In 1897 he published "Henry W. Grady—Editor, Orator, and Man." "The Self-Interpreting Bible," "The Illustrated History of Methodism," "History of Jerusalem," "The Real Uncle Remus," "Abraham Lincoln," "The Geography of Genius," and "The Religion of Science" testify to Dr. Lee's great activity and ability as an author. Some of these books, notably "The Making of a Man" and "The Religion of Science," will hold a permanent place in English literature for the philosophical setting which they give to religious faith. Dr.

Lee's funeral was held at St. John Church. The altar of the church was banked with floral offerings and the casket was covered with a blanket of roses. The choir sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "I Would Not Live Always," and "Face to Face." Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of the Church, read the first lesson. Dr. Mark M. Rhodes, of the English Lutheran Church, read the second lesson. Dr. John F. Cannon, of Westminster Presbyterian Church, paid a tribute to Dr. Lee's activity and zeal and brotherly cooperation in the Christian work of St. Louis. Bishop E. R. Hendrix made the chief address and Dr. C. W. Tadlock, of Centenary Church, made the closing prayer. The pallbearers were stewards of St. John Church and the burial was in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

WILLIAM COURT was born in St. Louis, Mo., April 28, 1868. His father, William Court, was a successful merchant and also a contractor and builder in St. Louis. His mother, Julia Kuepper, came from Germany. The family estate was confiscated when she came to America. William's father died when he was yet a boy and left his widow with a large family of children and limited means of support. William thus early became accustomed to regard life seriously and to adjust himself conscientiously to its duties. From the first he chose the way of self-control, industry, and uprightness. His purpose was to be a true man, and to the attainment of his purpose he directed his natural ability and all his opportunities. He was from boyhood distinguished for seriousness of disposition and conscientious stewardship of what the Master gave him. When about twenty years of age, Mr. Court felt that he had fully settled upon a life service in the cause of Christ as the Church might direct. He had received a primary education in the public schools of St. Louis, and at the age of twenty-three he entered Central College, at Fayette, Mo., from which he graduated in 1897. From Central College Mr. Court went to Vanderbilt University, and graduated from there in 1900. From the university Mr. Court entered immediately upon the work of the ministry; first as assistant pastor of Lafayette Park Church, St. Louis, and the following year as preacher in charge of a mission which he organized into Cabanne Church. He was married to Miss Cora Trawick, daughter of Dr. A. M. Trawick, of Nashville, Tenn., on April 18, 1901. In November of that year William Court and wife, being chosen by the Mission Board for service in Japan, sailed for the Sunrise Empire, where Mr. Court was made principal of the Palmore Gakuin, in the city of Kobe. They remained in Japan for five years, when health conditions made it necessary for them to return to the States. After returning from Japan, Mr. Court served Grand Avenue Church (St. Louis), of which he was the founder; Farmington, four years; Lafayette Park (St. Louis); Farmington District, three years; DeSoto District, four years; and last, St. Paul Church, which he had served, when the Master called him to his reward, four months. This appointment seemed a very happy one, and the new pastor and his wife entered into the work with loving hearts and were lovingly received. Both congregation and pastor expected years of happy and fruitful service. "In the midst of life we are in death." On February 4, 1920, we were startled by the news that William Court had passed away after three or four days' sickness of influenza. A noble specimen of physical manhood, in good health, his death arrested us like the uprooting of a great tree by a storm that had passed in the night. May Heaven's blessing rest upon Sister Court and her children, Andrew Trawick, Mary Lula, and William Archibald!

JAMES H. EARLY was a son of George G. and Sarah A. Early. He was born at Wishart, Polk County, Mo., April 17, 1855. There were eight children in the family. He was converted while attending Morrisville College, August 24, 1871, and joined the M. E. Church, South. His graduation from Vanderbilt University occurred in 1886. His license to preach was granted May 22, 1878, hence he was eligible to appointment as a supply while he was at Vanderbilt. He served mission fields near by and organized Park and South End Churches in Nashville. After his graduation he was married to Miss Georgie R., daughter of the late Dr. John B. Hill, of Bellevue, Tenn. This union proved to be a happy one. He was transferred to the St. Louis Conference in 1887 and stationed at St. Paul Church, which he served for four years; then to Marvin Chapel for four years. Altogether he filled appointments in St. Louis for seventeen years, in each of which he made good. He also served the Farmington District two years very acceptably. About a dozen years ago his health began to fail and he served the Church in lighter fields, until it became necessary for him to give up all work. On November 16, 1919, he answered the first roll call of the Church triumphant. Just before his departure he said to his good wife, "There's a home waiting for me over there." Besides his noble wife, he leaves two daughters, Miss Nina L., of Bryn Mawr College, and Miss Evelyn V., teacher at Covington, Tenn.; also one son, James Hill, of Nashville, Tenn. In addition he leaves two brothers, Marion C., of St. Louis, and Wesley M., of Providence, R. I.—Nelson B. Henry.

SAMUEL H. HALL was born in Franklin County, Va., August 22, 1851; died at Draper, Va., February 24, 1920, and was buried at Greeneville, Tenn. He was married to Rachel Louisa Brooks at Greeneville, Tenn., April 14, 1887. There were born of this union two children—Ira Keener and Hattie Anne—who, with the mother, remain on this side the mystic river, while father has passed into rest. Brother Hall first joined the Protestant Methodist Church and was licensed to preach in that Church in 1873. He was received into the Holston Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Asheville, N. C., in the fall of 1888. He was a faithful pastor and preacher until death claimed him. He was a true man in all his relations to his fellow man, and always had the love and respect of his people in his charge. On his last charge he was very popular with all denominations and his death was a shock to all. We miss him, but we expect to see him again.—D. P. Hurley.

FRANK M. REYNOLDS was born at Andersonville, Tenn., October 22, 1875. He died of heart failure, at the old home in which he was reared, on April 12, 1920. He was the oldest son of Lloyd and Francis Reynolds. His father was a licensed exhorter of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Brother Reynolds united with the Church at the age of ten years, having been carefully trained by Christian parents. His early education was obtained in the public schools of Anderson County, in the high school, and in the Anderson Institute, a branch of Carson-Newman College. He taught school for many years and was an excellent teacher. In 1910 he graduated from Hiwassee College. The last ten years of his life were devoted to teaching and preaching. He joined the Holston Conference, M. E. Church, in 1905, and transferred to the Holston Conference, M. E. Church, South, in 1910, at Chattanooga, Tenn. He was ordained elder in 1911 at Morristown. In 1910 he was principal of the Tazewell High School; in 1911 at McDowell; 1912, Stony Point and Grassy Creek; 1913, junior preacher, Andersonville Circuit; 1914, Evensville Circuit; 1915, Decatur Circuit; in 1916 and 1917 he held the supernumerary relation; in 1918, district evangelist for Knoxville District. He was twice married. He was first married to Miss Arlena Wallace. To this union were born seven children, six of whom are living. He was married the second time to Miss Minnie Craig, in 1913. To this union was born one child. He leaves a wife, seven children, two sisters, two brothers, and two half-brothers to mourn his death. Two of his brothers are now fine young preachers in our Conference. They are L. S. Reynolds, now stationed at Newport, Tenn., and R. G. Reynolds, stationed at Cleveland, Tenn. The funeral was conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. G. F. Carr, pastor of the family. The remains were laid to rest in the family cemetery at Red Hill Baptist Church in the presence of a large congregation of relatives and friends. Brother Reynolds was a good man and died in the faith.—H. B. Vaught.

In early manhood he professed faith in Christ and joined the Methodist Church. Feeling the call to preach, he entered the itinerant ministry of our Church, serving charges in the Montana, Pacific, and Los Angeles Conferences. He loved to preach on the great fundamental themes of the Christian faith, such as the new birth, justification by faith, the witness of the Spirit, and the holy life; believing that in these were found the only adequate foundations for the well-being of all life, both individual and collective. And his everyday life was a living testimony to the truth of the gospel he preached; for in all the relations of life he sought to "love mercy, do justly, and walk humbly before his God."—W. L. Whisnant.

Ques. 10. Who are transferred to other Conferences? W. C. House, E. A. Townsend, J. H. Stuckey, L. C. Lilley, Walter Douglas, R. J. LaPrade, T. J. Gross. 7.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? J. R. Hardin, J. C. Fowler, Frank Seay, Luther Roberts. 4.

JOSEPH CLINTON FOWLER died at his home at Tishomingo, Okla., April 5, 1920. He was born in Cornersville, Tenn., in 1860. He was licensed to preach in 1886 and admitted on trial into the Tennessee Conference, where he served two years and transferred to the North Texas Conference. He remained in that Conference four years and transferred to the Indian Mission Conference in 1894. He was an active preacher until his death. If I mistake not, he was serving the Tishomingo Station his eighth year when he died. Brother Fowler filled acceptably some of the best appointments in his Conference. He was presiding elder of the Muskogee District for four years. Brother Fowler was a modest, unpretentious

Christian gentleman. He was true in every way to God, the Church, his family, and his friends. His wife was a member of the faculty of Spaulding Female College while I was President and her husband was serving the Muskogee District. She is now the President of the Woman's Missionary Society of the East Oklahoma Conference. Besides his wife, he leaves two children: Holman and Mary Jo.—Theo F. Brewer.

JAMES ROBERT HARDIN was a descendant of a prominent Huguenot family who fled to this country from France in 1865, after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. His father was Mark Hardin, a minister of the gospel and an officer in the Confederate army. His mother was Nancy Jane Hicks, a woman of sterling character and mother of three sons who were ordained ministers of the gospel in the M. E. Church, South. He was born in Hickman County, Ky., January 11, 1854, and professed faith in Christ at old Wesley Church when only eight years old. His was indeed an old-fashioned conversion. He made his formal entry into the ministry in 1878 and was licensed to preach under the presiding eldership of Rev. Ben Hayes in the second Quarterly Conference, Fulton Circuit, Union City District, Memphis Conference. In November of the same year he was admitted on trial at Jackson, Tenn., where he began his itinerant ministerial career. In 1879, at Bolivar, Tenn., he was ordained deacon by Bishop McTyeire. In 1882, in Dyersburg, Tenn., he was ordained an elder, McTyeire again being the presiding bishop of the Conference. At Benton, Ky., he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Virginia Wood, a descendant of one of the first Methodists in America. She was an attractive and accomplished young woman whose education was of a strictly Wesleyan type and whose beautiful and striking traits of character preëminently fitted her to be the valued helpmate of so worthy a man. To this union were born two daughters, Grace (the wife of W. H. Crowder, of Tulsa, Okla.) and LaVerne (the wife of H. O. Spaulding, of Mineral Wells, Tex.). He spent twenty-nine years of his ministry in the Memphis Conference.

In 1907, because of ill health, he transferred to the Texas Conference, and a year later to the East Oklahoma Conference, and in these two Conferences he spent the remaining twelve years of his life. In January, 1919, just one year before his death, he gave up actual ministry and moved to Mineral Wells, Tex. The call came at six o'clock on the morning of his sixty-sixth birthday, Sunday, January 11, 1920. Quietly and triumphantly he fell asleep to awake in heaven after forty-two years of preaching the gospel. He has left us bereft below, but we shall meet him in joy eternal in the realms of the blessed.—One Who Loved Him.

LUTHER ROBERTS was born April 26, 1875, the fourth child of Rev. Creed F. and Mary Barnes Roberts; departed this life at Oklahoma City, August 7, 1920. He was converted at the early age of ten and united with the M. E. Church, South. Just as he reached manhood the Lord's call came to him to preach the gospel, and he gave himself over immediately to the work of an ambassador for Christ. He was licensed to preach by his own father at the session of the Ardmore District Conference in 1897, was recommended for admission and was admitted on trial into the Indian Mission Conference in the fall of the same year. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Key in 1899 and elder in 1901. He served pastorates all over Oklahoma, in New Mexico, and in Texas. He was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Beverly on June 21, 1899. To this union one son, Beverly, was born. Both wife and son survive him. He was richly endowed by nature with unusual talents. He was a commanding man in the pulpit. Being a printer by trade, he learned at the "cases" the art of terse, epigrammatic expression which lent so much charm to his later pulpit deliverances. Had he enjoyed the finish of the schools he could have measured up with the best. Like his sainted father before him, he had the spirit of the pioneer Methodist preacher. He loved the Church and respected all her traditions. Luther Roberts was the soul of honor, incapable of false and double dealings. He knew but one law when it came to dealing with his brethren, and that was the law of open-eyed honesty. He was an Israelite without guile. He was not only a Christian gentleman, but an intense patriot as well. He was thoroughly conversant with the political thought and movements of his day. Long ago he foresaw the coming class struggle. He enlisted in the Y. M. C. A. branch of the service during the world war and offered himself for overseas duty. While waiting at Camp Mabry, Texas, he fell a victim to the influenza and from that sickness he never recovered. For twenty-seven long months he suffered intensely. He had a passion for life and desired to live that he might preach the everlasting gospel, but the forces against him were too strong and he succumbed to the inevitable and went the way of all the earth. He was buried at Holdenville, Okla., on Sunday, August 8, 1920, Dr. M. L. Butler, of the Oklahoma City District, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. S. H. Babcock, the pastor, and Revs. J. C. Cooper and W. M. Grose.—Charles L. Brooks.

FRANK SEAY, the son of Thomas Seay (Governor of Alabama, 1886-90), was born in New Orleans, La., December 17, 1881. He was married October 27, 1908, to Clara Calloway, of Selma, Ala. He was but little past his thirty-eighth year when he died at his home in Dallas, Tex. While but a young man in years, he had taken his place among the really great characters of our day. His death, which seemed so untimely, can only be understood by Him who doeth all things well. In educational circles he occupied a place of marked distinction. He was graduated in 1899 from Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., and from Vanderbilt University in 1902. In the summer of 1902 he studied in the University of Chicago; in the fall of 1902 he entered Harvard University, taking his degree in 1903. In 1906 he was a student in the University of Berlin, Germany. In the fall of 1906 he became a student in Oxford, England. In 1909 he became Professor of Theology and New Testament Greek in Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex.; in 1912 he became Professor of Philosophy and New Testament Greek; in 1915 he went to Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., and became Professor of New Testament Greek and Interpretation. As a teacher he was loved and honored by all who came under his influence. His personality was charming, his manner sympathetic, his spirit democratic. Perhaps no teacher was more universally loved by his students. His counsel was largely sought by all the students. As an author he had already distinguished himself. His splendid productions and his young life gave such promise as to arouse our hopes to expect many useful and inspiring things from his pen. Among his published works we recall "The Gist of the Old Testament" (1905),

"The Story of the Old Testament" (1912), "Outline for the Study of Old Testament History"—the latter written at the request of the College of Bishops for the Conference Course of Study (1917). Many of his addresses on history and religion have been published. In the Church he stood easily at the forefront with our great leaders. Ordained in 1903, he served as pastor at Forrest Avenue Church, Montgomery, Ala., 1903-05; St. Stephen's Road, Mobile, Ala., 1907-08. It was here that he became a member of the original committee of three on associated charities and secretary to the larger committee to establish such charities. During his labors in our colleges and university he was largely sought throughout our Church to preach on all sorts of occasions. He was indeed a great preacher. He became a member of this Conference in 1916. As a Christian, Frank Seay lived a beautiful life. Wherever he went people never doubted "that he had been with Jesus." His life, patterned after the Master's, was one of service. His faith was well founded. He had studied hard and thought deeply and sought the heights, but his faith was anchored sure. Having served his own day and generation by the will of God, he fell on sleep.—L. L. Evans.

J. W. HILL was born in Lamar County, Tex., in 1854; converted to God in early manhood; licensed to preach and received on trial into the North Texas Conference in 1874; was married to Miss Allie Chalk, daughter of Rev. J. W. Chalk, in 1876; died in the peace of God at Honey Grove, Tex., July 26, 1920, in the forty-sixth year of effective service in the Methodist itinerant ministry. Denied the advantage of collegiate training, he made himself, by the sheer force of intellect and industry, a real scholar, in the best sense of the word, a man at home in the highest zones of thought, master of the English language and literature, and easily at home in the German and Latin. Beginning with a frontier mission, he filled, as the years went by, every grade of pastoral charge to the highest in the Conference. He was always acceptable and efficient, quite generally staying to the quadrennial limit. His entire ministry, except one year in San Antonio, was given to the North Texas Conference. Dr. Hill was truly a great preacher; better still, he was a great evangelist, having held many of the most remarkable and far-reaching revivals in the history of the Conference. His personality was unique and commanding. Brave as a lion and tender as a woman, at once frugal and generous, cheerful to the limit of exuberant optimism, instinct with rare and irrepressible humor, intellectual, studious, eloquent—to know was to admire, to know intimately was to love him tenderly. Dr. Hill faced death as bravely as he had faced life. Alone with him a few days before the stroke that shattered his consciousness, he talked of the approaching end with all the quiet, trusting calmness that belongs alone to the saint of God.—E. W. Anderson.

ISAAC NEWTON CRUTCHFIELD was born in Wayne County, Ky., September 7, 1851. He came of an old Methodist family. His paternal grandfather, Seaborn Crutchfield, attended the first General Conference ever held in the United States, the Christmas Conference, held at Baltimore on December 24, 1784, at which Conference Bishop Asbury was ordained to the episcopacy. His parents were John and Elizabeth Crutchfield. He moved to Texas on March 17, 1869. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when ten years of age, under the ministry of Rev. Bryan A. Cundiff. He was licensed to preach at Pilot Point, Tex., on June 20, 1874, under the ministry of Rev. L. B. Ellis. He was admitted on trial into the North Texas Annual Conference at Bonham, in November, 1877. He was ordained deacon by Bishop McTyeire on November 9, 1877, and elder by Bishop Parker on November 18, 1883. He was for thirty years on the effective list, two years a supernumerary, and thirteen years a superannuate. While on the supernumerary and superannuate list he served as supply and in evangelistic work all but five years of that time, doing some of the most effective work of his life in that period. During his thirty years on the effective list he spent twenty-three years in the North Texas Conference, two years in the Denver Conference, three years in the New Mexico Conference, and two years in the Northwest Texas Conference. The following are the charges he served: Gilmer, 1877; Coffeyville, 1878; Linden, 1879; Roxton, 1880; Archer, 1882-85; Fannin, 1886-88; transferred to Denver Conference, holding supernumerary relation, but served Magdalena in 1888 and Corrillos in 1889. When the New Mexico Conference was organized, he went with that portion of the former Denver Conference, and was appointed presiding elder of the Eddy District, serving this district two years, 1890-91; then White Oak one year, 1892. He was then transferred to the Northwest Texas Conference in 1893; but as his transfer did not reach him in time for an appointment, he settled at Vernon and did evangelistic work. During this year he attended the General Conference, representing the New Mexico Conference in that body. In 1894-96 he served Altus and Crowell in the Northwest Texas Conference. In 1897 he transferred back to the North Texas Conference, serving Jacksboro in 1897; Iowa Park for three years, Chisholm for two years, and Bellevue one year. He was superannuated in 1904, and resided at Bowie. From this place he served Elk City and Gary, in the Oklahoma Conference. He then moved to Georgetown, and for two years engaged in revival work. In 1909 he was made district missionary for the Sherman District. After his superannuation and return to the bounds of the North Texas Conference, he served as supply the Ross-ton Circuit one year, Henrietta Mission one year, Archer City Mission one year, and Electra Mission one year. His health failing him, he could take work no longer, but resided at Bellevue the closing years of his wonderful life, doing all the good he could until the summons came which called him to the heavenly reward. He was married to Miss Artha Basca Brown at Coffeyville in 1879. To this union two children were born—Artha May and Finis Alonzo. In 1885 his wife died at Antelope, Tex. He was again married, in New Hope, N. Mex., to Miss Olive Rebecca Johnson, in 1891. To this union five children were born: Miss Ruth, Bascom Linton, Miss Aleitha Nell, Miss Helen Elizabeth, and Miss Amy Aubrey. Two of his children have preceded him to the heavenly world—Mrs. Artha May Green and Miss Helen Elizabeth. This was a family of preachers. There were four preachers of his immediate family: Allen Crutchfield, Isaac N. Crutchfield, Seaborn Crutchfield, and Milton Crutchfield, brothers. Two of his nephews are preachers, James C. and Wallace Crutchfield, and one son, Finis A. Crutchfield. All are worthy ministers in the M. E. Church, South. When he died, on June 22, 1920, a great concourse of people went to the little church in Bellevue—the place that he loved above all others, and a place where its people all loved him—to participate in his funeral. Men worth their millions left their business in other cities to attend his funeral. Cowmen, from their ranches miles away, attended. Ministers from various cities were in attendance. Their tributes of love were touching and tender. The writer and Rev. F. O. Miller had charge of the service, assisted by his loving pastor, Rev. I. S. Ashburn, and Revs. T. N. Weeks, J. Sam Barcus, Ira Kiker, H. H. Lisle, and others. His body was laid away in the silent tomb, his spirit going to God and his dust awaiting the resurrection morning.—T. H. Morris.

JAMES L. PIERCE departed this life September 21, 1920, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Willis Blaylock, Dallas, Tex. The day following, the funeral service was held in the Denton Street Church, Gainesville, Tex., of which his brother, J. Foster Pierce, is pastor; in which service a number of the members of the North Texas Conference took part; and his body was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery of that city. For a year he had been in failing health, and toward the last he suffered much; but was heroic and triumphant. Dr. Pierce belonged to a family of great preachers. His father, Dr. James L. Pierce, his grandfather, Dr. Lovick Pierce, and his uncle, Bishop George F. Pierce, were outstanding men in their day, and had much to do in making the history of Methodism in the South, especially in Georgia. The subject of this sketch was born in Madison, Ga., April 10, 1861. He graduated at Emory College, Oxford, Ga., in 1882, and came to Texas the same year. For a short time he studied law. Then for three years he taught school at Honey Grove. While there he met and married Miss Ida Graves. To this union were born eight children: Mrs. Ralph Bell, of Gainesville; Dr. J. L. Pierce, of Dallas; Mrs. Willis D. Blaylock, Dallas; Miss Ruth, a teacher at McKinney; Graves, Beach, and Bryant, of Dallas; and Phillip, who had gone in advance of his father to the spirit world. In the fall of 1886 J. L. Pierce was received on trial into the North Texas Conference, and a more princely young man has never been received by us. In 1890 he was transferred to the Louisiana Conference and served successfully First Church (Shreveport), Carondelet Street (New Orleans), and Monroe. The ten years he spent in that Conference were years of great usefulness. He was transferred back to the North Texas Conference and served the following charges: First Church (Dallas), Wesley Church (Greenville), Travis Street (Sherman), Commerce, Gainesville, Denton, Terrell, and McKinney. In every charge he served he did faithful, intelligent, constructive work. He had no patience with shallow preaching, or with claptrap methods. He had faith in God, and believed the gospel to be the power of God unto the salvation of men.—L. P. Smith.

WILLIAM P. JORDAN was born in Sunbury, Gates County, N. C., September 3, 1847. He was the son of the Rev. Costen Jordan, of the same county, and Elizabeth Anne Pell, of Edenton, N. C. At the age of sixteen he was converted and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. In 1867 he was licensed to preach by the Rev. Henry B. Cowles and shortly thereafter was admitted on trial into the Virginia Conference, of which he remained a member for nearly fifty years. In 1876 he was united in marriage with Miss Alice Moore, of Sussex County, Va., whose fidelity and devotion to him and the Master's service were an abiding inspiration. Their union was blessed with two sons, Wallace Pell and Carl Moore, whose close and diligent application to their chosen pursuit has won for them a place among Norfolk's most esteemed and successful business men. Brother Jordan's first appointment was Bertie Circuit, where he served as junior preacher under the Rev. R. N. Crooks, whose apostolic spirit and unselfish devotion to duty made a deep and lasting impression upon the mind and heart of the young itinerant. In the course of his ministry he was assigned to many responsible fields of labor, and enjoyed that measure of success which comes from complete consecration and the exercise of indefatigable energy and peculiar gifts. He was twice stationed at Chase City, Va., where he was greatly beloved, not only by his own congregation, but by all the denominations in the town. In November, 1899, after thirty years of uninterrupted and assiduous service, Brother Jordan found himself compelled to retire on account of failing health. He sought recuperation and rest and was considerably benefited as the years went on, but was never able to reënter the itinerant ranks. Upon retirement he went to live with his sons in Park Place, Norfolk, and as soon as his health would allow he offered himself for service in the Park Place Methodist Church, where he was elected teacher of a Bible class for men. As teacher of this class Brother Jordan found a sphere for the use of his pulpit powers which rest had renewed and quickened, and in this congenial realm he rendered some of his most effective service. By nature he was modest and retiring. He had no taste or desire for the brilliant realm, the lofty seat, the sensational arena, or the pretentious congregation. He possessed a moral courage which did not fail to assume any responsibility, a singleness of purpose which could not be deflected from the path of rectitude, and an indomitable will which no obstacles could daunt. He manifested a lively interest in all matters of Church and State, and whenever the opportunity presented itself he openly and aggressively identified himself with the cause of righteousness and truth, and declared his convictions in no uncertain terms. Brother Jordan in early life acquired the habits and tastes of a student and throughout his entire career he sought that information and culture which he knew to be essential to the highest measure of success. His vivid imagination, retentive memory, superior judgment, and sound practical sense served him well and contributed in no small degree to his efficiency and worth. His end came rather unexpectedly, but I am sure he was thoroughly prepared and ready for the summons. At midnight on December 5, 1919, he complained of a severe pain in the region of the heart, and before medical aid could be obtained his spirit had winged its mystic flight to fairer worlds on high. His funeral service was conducted from Park Place Methodist Church by the writer, who was assisted in the service by the following ministers: J. T. Whitley, Frank L. Wells, John J. Bradford, and Dr. Sparks W. Melton, pastor of the Freemason Street Baptist Church in Norfolk. A large concourse of sorrowing friends was present to attest the love and esteem in which he was held. The remains were interred in beautiful Forest Lawn Cemetery to await the trumpet of the archangel, and the Master's call to the largest and fullest reward.—George E. Booker.

WILLIAM R. PROCTOR, the son of Rev. J. H. Proctor, an honored and glorified member of this Conference, was born September 9, 1867, and died at Asheville, N. C.,

April 22, 1920. A purer or more stainless soul it has never been my privilege to know. Even deeds that were regarded by others as being justifiable or excusable, he could not get the consent of his conscience to perform, and his conscience, enlightened and ennobled by the Spirit of God, was his guide, and he never swerved a hair's breadth from the path it marked out for him to tread. Early in his life as an itinerant preacher, his father died, leaving the widowed mother and younger sisters to his care—a trust that he regarded as sacred and holy, and one that he cherished with the utmost fidelity until he saw the mortal remains of every member of his family laid beneath the sod. Nothing more beautiful in the way of unselfish filial devotion has ever come under my observation than his love for his mother. She took the place of friend, lover, sweetheart, wife, in his heart; and he never married, but poured out all the wealth of his heart's devotion upon his mother, until in age and feebleness extreme she passed to her reward. He was a most excellent preacher, and was appointed to a number of stations in towns and cities, never, I think, having served on a rural charge. He had a large and well selected library, prepared his sermons with care and conscience, and brought into his pulpit the "beaten oil of the sanctuary." Until his failing health made it impossible, he was also a diligent and faithful pastor, and carried the aroma of a holy life, and yet a cheerful one, into the homes of the members of his congregation. His last appointment was in the town of Martinsville, where his life was as ointment poured forth. His congregation regularly paid his salary in full for months after he gave up his work, and this they kept up to the day of his death, and counted it a privilege. He was in much doubt at the last session of this Conference as to the wisdom of taking an appointment, but finally yielded to the entreaties of his people and was returned to Martinsville for his third year. Very soon after Conference, however, his health, already seriously impaired, began rapidly to fail, and he sought the advice of the best medical skill, and was sent to Asheville, N. C., with the hope that the climatic conditions there might stay the progress of his disease. But God willed it otherwise. He took his bed as soon as he went there, and never left it until God took him home to rest. With the exception of an occasional visit from the laymen of his congregation, he was in the midst of strangers, and had no familiar face in which to look, but he was faithful unto death. Almost the last message that came from his dying bed was that which he committed to one of the members of his Church: "Tell my people that the truths of the gospel I have preached to them are my all-sufficiency in this hour, and I need and care for nothing more." A number of the laymen of his church took his mortal remains to Petersburg, Va., where they were laid to rest by the side of those of his loved ones in old Blandford Cemetery to await the resurrection of the just.—R. M. Beckham.

CHARLES HENRY BOGGS was born in the town of Greencastle, Pa., December 27, 1830. His father was Dr. John Boggs, a physician, a man known and loved for his intellectual and moral worth; his mother, Isabelle Craig Allison, a woman of great strength and beauty of character. His early education was received in his native town, and when sufficiently advanced, he was sent to West Jersey Collegiate School. On finishing the course there, he entered Pennsylvania College, and afterwards came to Manchester, Va., where his brother, Rev. Frank J. Boggs, of sainted memory, was stationed. In accordance with the expressed wish of his father, he commenced the study of medicine, reading in the office of Dr. William R. Weisiger. Soon after this, the church and community were stirred with a great religious awakening, and he was among the number who entered upon a new life. With his conversion came the unescapable conviction that he must preach, so he abandoned the study of medicine, and at the age of eighteen began to qualify himself for the ministry. He was directed in his studies by his brother, Dr. Nelson Head, and Rev. G. W. Langhorne. In 1851 the Quarterly Conference of High Street, Petersburg, licensed him to preach, and that fall he was admitted on trial into the Virginia Conference at Alexandria, Va., and was sent to Lexington Circuit. Appomattox was his next field, then Goochland, and then King William. Here he married Miss Octavia Campbell, of Westmoreland County, Va., a woman of unusual intellect and Christian character, and while reared in an atmosphere of wealth and culture, she entered into the life of an itinerant with such complete consecration that her long life was a benediction to her husband, her children, and the community in which they resided. In 1857 he transferred to the Western Virginia Conference and traveled Monroe Circuit one year. Then came the war, and, contrary to the wishes and importunities of friends and kindred in the North, he cast his lot with the South, and was commissioned Chaplain in the Ninth Virginia Cavalry, serving faithfully until the close of the war, when he located on his farm in King William, where he preached every Sabbath, and gave a home to the ministers placed in charge of King William. In 1879 he moved to Missouri, connecting himself with the South Missouri Conference, and four years later he returned to the Virginia Conference and was stationed on Buckingham Circuit. Afterwards he served Cumberland, Sussex, Cartersville, Hanover, Bowling Green, Greene, Batesville, Norfolk Circuit, and Highland Park, his last charge. At the Conference of 1898 he asked for superannuation and continued to live at Highland Park until God took him home. Brother Boggs's home was a miniature of heaven. He commanded his household after him, but his scepter was a rod of love. His children have honored him by leading useful and consecrated lives. One of his daughters, Mrs. Thomas Flippen, is an elect lady in our Church; Miss Elizabeth lived with and cared for him in his declining years with a devotion that passes description; his son, Rev. W. G. Boggs, is an honored and beloved member of this Conference. As a pastor, he gave his life to the flock over which the Conference appointed him shepherd, entering like a beam of sunshine into homes and hearts, advising and counseling, comforting and consoling all who needed his kindly ministration. The crowning years of our brother's life were the years that we sometimes think of as the years of retirement, the years in which we cannot work. Brother Boggs did not travel during the last nineteen years of his life. He was in the superannuate relation, but he wrought as a master workman and built into the community in which he lived the ideals that make earth like heaven. This aged man of medium height, compactly built, with dark blue eyes, snowy white head and beard, leaning on his long staff, with which he always walked, was known and loved by every citizen, irrespective of race or condition. He watched for the newcomers, and was the first to make them welcome; he sought out the poor, carrying to them substantial relief; he went into the homes of mourning, giving beauty for ashes; and whether in their joys or sorrows, the man that was always sought for was Brother Boggs, the community pastor. When on June 6 it was known that "he was not, for God had taken him," a shadow fell on Highland Park, deeper perhaps than any shadow that had ever been cast on that community, and the people mourned, for their friend was gone. They bore his body to the church that he had served for many years, where a sweet, touching service was conducted by L. T. Williams, assisted by C. O. Turtle, D. T. Merritt, and Roscoe M. White. The Bible class, one hundred strong, which he had taught, acted as honorary pallbearers, and his body was laid to rest in beautiful Hollywood.—Samuel C. Hatcher.

JOHN WALTER EURE was born in Gates County, N. C., November 25, 1859. He was the son of Henry Thomas and Ava Miranda Eure. He made a profession of religion in the eighteenth year of his age and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. At the age of twenty-four he became agitated on the subject of a call to the ministry. He was convinced that it was his duty to preach, but he was cognizant of his limitations, his meager educational qualifications, and of the time he must necessarily spend in preparation and training. These things caused him to hesitate and reflect; but the hesitation was only for a brief period, for with that invincible determination for which he was ever distinguished, he surmounted all barriers and went forth to realize his ideals and to accomplish his purposes. In a short while he entered Randolph-Macon College, where he prosecuted his studies with fidelity and diligence, and in 1900 he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. In 1902 he entered the Virginia Conference, and was assigned to Matoaca, where he remained four years. His work there was not confined to his own church and congregation, but extended to the whole community. So great was his interest in the young people who were so situated that they could not attend the public schools that he established for them a night school and instructed them in the ordinary branches of an English education. In addition to this, he provided the means by which others were permitted to attend college. For two years he was agent for the Baltimore and Richmond Christian Advocate and representative of the Randolph-Macon Alumni Fund. These two positions he filled at one and the same time with marked success. On October 14, 1908, he was united in marriage with Miss Addie Taylor, daughter of Rev. T. J. Taylor, of precious memory, a young lady of splendid attainments and charming personality. In the providence of God they were blessed with three children, Elizabeth Campbell, Margaret Lee, and John Walter, Jr. At the Conference of 1908 Brother Eure was appointed to the East Dinwiddie Circuit. From the time he arrived to the day of his departure his ministry was abundant in labors. The new church at Carson, Va., is a monument to his consecrated energy and zeal. From East Dinwiddie he was sent to Denny Street, Richmond, where he had a host of friends and did a most excellent work. Here, too, he was instrumental in erecting a beautiful and attractive church edifice. After spending perhaps the most successful quadrennium of his ministry at Denny Street, he was read out for Madison Heights, where he spent three years. Here he found many obstacles to development and progress; but with that genius for overcoming difficulties which always characterized him, he threw himself unreservedly into his work and saw unmistakable evidences of brighter and better things. At the last session of our Conference Brother Eure was announced as Industrial Secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A. in the city of Norfolk. It was there that death found him engaged in his loved employ, but ready for the summons to higher labors and grander rewards. As a preacher, he was earnest and faithful, determined to sacrifice nothing for public favor, to shun no duty, to shrink from no responsibility, and to declare the whole counsel of God. As a pastor he was systematic and diligent. He visited from house to house, cared for the sick and needy, and manifested a special interest in the neglected, the abandoned, and the unfortunate. The illness which resulted in his death covered only a few short weeks. He hoped to recover for the sake of his work and his loved ones, but he was thoroughly resigned. So implicit and so complete was our brother's trust in Jesus that when death came he greeted him as a friendly messenger and accompanied him with expectant heart and triumphant soul to our Father's house of many mansions.—George E. Booker.

HENRY EDWARD JOHNSON was born March 27, 1837. Thus began in the county of Cork, Ireland, a life which for its usefulness, originality, versatility, and virility has had few peers. When he was three years old, his parents came to Virginia, where he grew up on a farm. His early education was very limited, only one-half day in his youth being spent in the school-room. At the age of seventeen he was converted in Clay Street Chapel, Richmond, Va., and united with the Methodist Church. In 1857 he entered the Virginia Conference in the class with Drs. Lafferty, Lambeth, Sledd, and others. In 1866, being stationed within the territory ceded to the Baltimore Conference, he accepted a transfer to that body, and some years later, desiring to avail himself of the educational facilities afforded by a permanent residence in Baltimore, he took charge of an independent Methodist church in that city, where he spent twelve years. At the end of that time, having accomplished his purpose, and wishing to reënter the itinerant work, he visited his old Conference, but found it so crowded that he did not apply. He continued his work in Baltimore for two years longer, and then, on the invitation of several prominent ministers of the M. E. Church, he entered the Erie Conference and was for six years stationed in Pennsylvania. Here the health of his wife failed and her physicians advised an immediate return to a milder climate. He came back to the birthplace of his devoted wife, but she lived only a few months. A chapter could be written on his heroic struggle to provide the comforts and treatment she needed in those months. He spent his days cutting wood and his nights in bringing it to Richmond to secure from its sale medicine and nourishment for her whom he loved with all the passion of his strong nature. Dr. Johnson was readmitted to the Virginia Conference at the session held at Norfolk in 1892, and he continued until his death to be a loyal workman in our midst, filling important appointments in Richmond, Norfolk, Suffolk, and Charlottesville. At the session of the Conference held in Richmond last year, completely broken in health, as his brethren thought, he still pleaded for an appointment, and was assigned to Hopewell and City Point; but he soon had to return to Crozet, where he had served two successful pastorates. Here during the last months of his life he spent his waking hours in study, working to the very last weeks of his earthly sojourn. On September 23, 1920, this busy, tired man fell asleep, and on Sunday afternoon, September 26, the writer, assisted by Dr. B. F. Lipscomb, conducted the funeral services in the town of his adoption, attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. A prominent lawyer, who had traveled a long distance to be present at the service, said that one text fitted the occasion, "A prince and a great man has fallen." Dr. Johnson was thrice married. His first wife was Miss Mattie J. Cooke, of Chesterfield; afterwards he was married to Mrs. Mary D. Farish, of Powhatan; and his last marriage was to Miss Kate R. Wayland, of Crozet, who survives him. The accomplishments of the eighty-four years of his life were marvelous. As a builder, he erected thirty-two churches and parsonages; as a pastor he gave minute and detailed attention to every department of his work, visiting from house to house, instructing children, counseling the youth, and comforting the aged and infirm. As a student, he mastered his mother tongue, all branches of theology, was well versed in literature, and kept abreast of modern thought. As a preacher, he had no superior and few equals in our Conference. He was a man of uncompromising convictions. He never trimmed on any question, nor had any reservations. Those who dealt with him knew where he stood. He never took counsel of the winds, but threw his life with all of its power into any cause that he thought to be right.—Samuel C. Hatcher.

MARTIN VAN BUREN BOWLES was born September 7, 1838; died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. O. Palmer, in St. Albans, W. Va., September 18, 1919, at 3 P.M. Returning from the last session of the Annual Conference, he was taken sick. Unable to go to his own residence, he was taken to the home of his daughter, where he received medical treatment and the care of his wife, children, and friends unto the end. Brother Bowles was received into the Western Virginia Conference on trial in October, 1886, at Charleston, W. Va., being forty-eight years of age. For a period of twenty-nine years he served faithfully and successfully the following charges: 1886-87, Raymond City; 1888, Wayne; 1889-90, Phillippi; 1891-94, Rivesville; 1895, Lubeck; 1896-98, Fayette District; 1899-1901, Summersville; 1902, Poca; 1903-06, St. Albans; 1907-08, Beckley; 1909, Rupert; 1910-13, Spencer; 1914, Guyandotte. He superannuated in 1915, which relation continued until his death. Brother Bowles was a preacher of more than ordinary ability. His life was clean. He lived the gospel he preached. He was united in marriage to Mary Rayburn in October, 1858, and his wife, now eighty-one years of age, walks the last few weary miles alone. To them were born nine children. The five living were at the burial—viz., George, of Putnam County; Rev. Sanders J., of the Central Texas Conference; Mrs. O. H. Palmer, of St. Albans; Sebastian C., of St. Albans; and Mrs. Luella Hovater, of Charleston, W. Va. Four passed on before their father—viz., Thomas J., James Lauck, Lefford Mason, and Pearl Billups. Brother Bowles leaves twenty-three grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren. He was a man of lovable character, genuine Christian experience, often eloquent in his preaching, and made many friends and led many souls to Christ. We shall see him again in another world. —B. F. Gosling.

ROLAND SOLOMON BIAS was born at Salt Rock, W. Va., September 15, 1869; departed this life May 6, 1920, at Rocky Fork, W. Va. He was the son of Rev. Roland and Martha Bias, devout and godly people of the community in which they lived. He was converted to Jesus Christ at the age of sixteen, and lived a consistent Christian life unto the end of his earthly pilgrimage. He was licensed to preach at the age of twenty, and for some years filled the office of a local preacher. In 1894 he united with the Western Virginia Conference and remained a member thereof unto the end. He served as a supply for three years before becoming a member of the Conference, traveling the Lincoln and Cabell Circuits. As a member of this Conference he served the following charges: Charleston Circuit, four years; Reedy Circuit, one year; Charleston Circuit, three years; Rone Street Church (Charleston), one year; Griffithville Circuit, one year; Scarbro Circuit, three years; East Bank Circuit, one year; and Auxier Circuit, one year. Brother Bias was not a strong man physically, and for a part of the time while he was a member of the Conference his health was in such condition that he could not do the work of a traveling preacher. He was given the superannuate relation in 1916. He then retired to his farm at Rocky Fork, W. Va., where he passed the closing years of his life. Brother Bias was married to Miss Anna Bledso, of Salt Rock, on April 16, 1887. This union was blessed with five children, three of whom are yet living: Mrs. Maud Bailey, of Charleston, W. Va., Murrel Bias, of Rocky Fork, W. Va., and Mrs. Dorothy Davis, of Des Moines, Iowa. These, together with his good wife, were with him when the time of his departure came. His earthly remains were taken to his old home for burial. He had selected as a text for his funeral sermon Philippians i. 21. On a beautiful day in the springtime he was laid to rest.

JOHN JOSEPH MCKINNON, son of Henry D. and Susie McKinnon, was born June 8, 1883, at Melbourne, Ark.; and died at Mill Creek, W. Va., February 28, 1920. The first years of his ministry were spent in the bounds of the Little Rock Conference, during which time he served the following charges: Stuttgart, Jersey, Mount Ida, and Umpire. In 1910 he was transferred to the Western Virginia Conference, serving the Van Lear charge and attending the Sandy Valley Seminary. The following year he served the Auxier Circuit and continued his studies at the Seminary. At the Conference in 1911 he was appointed as student in the Morris-Harvey College, and while there served Ethel and Hurricane charges. About the time of his graduation he was married to Miss Mamie Moore, of Barboursville, W. Va., and moved to the East Bank Circuit. The following year he was moved to Sandyville, serving this charge two years; and from this charge he was moved to Mill Creek, where he was completing his fourth year at the time of his death. Brother McKinnon was converted at the age of eleven years and early in life felt the call of God to preach the gospel. No task in the ministry was too difficult for him to face, and although he served some very difficult charges in his ministry his faith and his loyalty remained undaunted. His work on the Mill Creek charge was attended with great success. The charge was greatly strengthened in its spiritual and financial life. His illness and sudden death were occasioned by influenza contracted during a revival meeting which was brought to a close by the epidemic. The funeral services were held at Barboursville with Rev. W. O. Sadler, pastor at Barboursville, officiating. Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, Rev. O. F. Williams, and H. M. Sturm spoke of his fine brotherly character. Rev. A. M. Martin, his presiding elder, being unable to attend the services, sent a special message in which he laid special emphasis on the faithfulness and earnest devotion of Brother McKinnon.

GEORGE R. LOEHR, for forty years a missionary of our Church in China, died at Nashville, Tenn., Sunday, January 18, 1920.

the China Mission Conference in 1886 he transferred to that body as one of its charter members and remained a member thereof to the time of his death. Brother Loehr was appointed a missionary to China by Bishop Paine. He sailed from America on November 6 and arrived at Shanghai on December 9, 1880. With the exception of necessary furloughs in the homeland, he gave the whole of his mature life to the country he loved so well. During his early life in China he was associated with Dr. Young J. Allen in the conduct of the Anglo-Chinese College, continuing with that institution from its small beginning until it reached its great sphere of usefulness as one of the most influential educational institutions in the city of Shanghai or even in that part of China. Brother Loehr during later years gave largely of his time to preaching, until he was called again to take up educational work in our school at Huchow; but even with his school duties he made time to preach and was as much at home in preaching to Chinese in churches and chapels or on the streets as he was in teaching in the schoolroom. Realizing the need of the people of China for the gospel, he utilized his time when walking along the streets by selling and distributing Bibles, Gospel portions, and Christian tracts, and so sent his influence broadcast through the agency of the printed Word. He translated some few books into Chinese, his commentary on the Acts of the Apostles being in large demand; and though requested to give himself more largely to the work of translation, he was prevented from doing so by the pressure of other duties. During his forty years of missionary life, his residence was in the four large cities of Shanghai, Soochow, Sunkiang, and Huchow. It was his desire to die in China, but in the providence of God this desire was denied him, and his body reposes in American soil. He married, after going to China, Miss Malvina Allen, daughter of Dr. Young J. Allen. She, with four children—Mary, now Mrs. Davis, who lives in Texas; Allen G., United States Vice Consul at Shanghai; George R., Jr., Y. M. C. A. Secretary at Honolulu; and Louise, who has been teaching in China—survives him.—J. A. G. Shipley.

CHARLES ANDERSON COLEMAN was born four years before the Civil War on Island No. 35 in the Mississippi River. A son of the Father of Waters, a four-year-lad in the awful lap of the war, his schooling was limited to three brief terms of three months each—less than a single year—in the then prevailing rural “subscription” school. If “Life on the Mississippi” was a passing jest to Mark Twain, it need not be forgotten that there were others down there for whom it could be only a lifelong hardship and sorrow unrelieved. The untamed wilds of forest, bayou, and shifting sand, the appalling winter mud, the dreadful overflow, the malaria, the loneliness and lack of communication made a world of bitterness, darkness, and privation for Charles and his gentle Christian mother. Moreover men’s minds, no less than their hands, tend to become subdued to the color of the stuff they work in. Profanity and coarseness, drunkenness and cruelty, disregard of God, strife among men, and cruelty to children were the familiar features of the boyhood world. The tender love and unfaltering faith of his mother, according to his own grateful testimony, made the only relieving light against the dark and discouraging canvas. Two older children had made little or no response even to her influence. Charles did. To him, where sin abounded grace did much more abound. And there between that sweet woman’s songs and prayers and tears on the one hand and the crude and bitter wrongs around him, converted at an old camp ground and making his Christian profession at the age of fourteen, it may be doubted if Charlie Coleman ever knew when or how he received the call to preach the glad word of God and hope against such a world of sorrow and wrong. The record of his appointments, ending with his death at the last session of this Conference in Memphis, filled up an even thirty-three years. First, Camden Circuit and Mifflin Circuit, two years each; then Decaturville, one, and so following for a third of a century—Lynnville, New Providence, Manleyville, Jackson, Embury, Clinton, Randolph, Ripley, Newbern, Curve, Cayce, Martin, Brazil, never but once halting for as many as four years in one place. Charlie Coleman lived an outstandingly sound life and preached out of it, as from an unfailing reservoir, an outstandingly sound gospel. But his was a mind native to truth also; and the pique and zest of it made him a persistent student and a wholesome thinker. The Bible was to him a perpetual wisdom, light, and progress. Many of us can never forget those incomparable Bible institutes conducted ten to fifteen years ago by noble Dean Tillett, of Vanderbilt, before it was all so ruthlessly and foolishly broken up. Coleman was in clover, always on hand, always listening with that characteristic twist of the head to one side for the to him belated reception of truth from such teachers as George Adam Smith, Charles E. Jefferson, Bishop Hughes or Hoss, or Drs. Bradley, Johnston-Ross, Graham, Taylor, Mouzon, and the like, with papers and discussions by blessed blind Joe Ramsey and all the boys. To tell the truth, Brother Coleman never got it all. To tell the whole truth, he did not get very much of it. But it was a sight to touch a man’s heart and stir your soul to see the bent and ply of the brave-minded man in his hunger and thirst after light and righteousness.

Charlie Coleman was no man for the sidewalk loiter. If he won the affection and held the respect of men, it was not by spending the priceless leisure of the ministry lounging about "jollyng the boys." There may have been in truth a sort of pathetic limitation to his social life, if you will; but he was notably a man of the Church and of his own home, and we would look to find him at one or the other place. He was married three times, the last wife walking with him but one brief year. Five years ago Brother Charles bought ground and lumber and built his own home—he and his son, who worked with him out of school hours. He bought cloth on one close occasion and cut and made his own suit of clothes also. He made with his own hands the graduating dress of one daughter and the wedding dress of another. If his heart did not falter, neither did his fingers fumble. He put and kept his children in the best schools in reach of him. There was no quitting to it, no blind following of fashion in it. It was the serious ambition and the settled business of his life. And they stand, all the seven of them, for culture and religion to-day, centers of usefulness and honor in all their places, serving their country, supporting the Church, honoring their father, a seven-fold monument to his rare manhood and to his heroic ministry.—C. A. Waterfield.

DAVID LEITH was born in the city of Dundee, Scotland, March 15, 1847, and passed to his reward on December 26, 1919. He was the son of Thomas and Isabella Kenny Leith. There were seven children—two daughters and five sons; David was the youngest. He said he had no early religious training other than the Sunday school. He was convicted of sin and, on February 5, 1866, at an ordinary weekly prayer meeting, was soundly and genuinely converted, and early united with the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Glasgow, Scotland. His early educational advantages consisted of five years in the parish school and one year in high school. He was impressed early in his religious life that God had called him to preach the gospel, and in March, 1869, being recommended by the Quarterly Conference of St. John's Methodist Church of Glasgow, Scotland, was licensed as a local preacher. As opportunity was presented, he exercised his gifts, especially in holding open-air services frequently. He longed to be an itinerant Methodist preacher; and being unable to do so in his mother Church, he came to the United States, landing within the bounds of the Memphis Conference on November 29, 1873. With eighteen others he was admitted on trial into the Memphis Conference in Jackson, Tenn., Bishop McTyeire presiding. At this Conference he was ordained a local deacon by Bishop McTyeire. Brother Leith completed the four years' course of study in two years, and in November, 1875, he was received into full connection and ordained elder by Bishop Doggett at Paducah, Ky. His first charge was Macon Circuit, one year; then Bethlehem, one year; then Saulsbury, one year. At the end of his third year he withdrew from our Church and accepted the pastorate of a Congregational Church in Scotland, remaining there until 1881. In November, 1881, he was readmitted into the Memphis Conference, and served First Church, Jackson, two years; Hernando Street (now Second Church), Memphis, two years; Trenton Station, four years; was transferred to the North Alabama Conference, and for two years was pastor of St. John's Church, South Birmingham; Attalla, three years; Courtland, one year; Guntersville, one year; Florence, two years. In November, 1898, he was transferred back to the Memphis Conference and served Henderson Station one year; Brownsville Circuit, two years; Milan Station, one year; Somerville Station, four years; Colliersville Station, two years; Paris District, three years; Buntyn and Springdale, two years; Pepper Memorial, two years; Newbern Station, two years; Dyer Station, one year. Here his active ministry came to a close, and at his request the Conference granted him the superannuate relation, which he held for two years. At the close of his first year in the Conference, his presiding elder, the Rev. John Moss, said on the floor of the Conference that David Leith could come nearer being in two places at one time than any man he ever knew. He was a strong preacher, a diligent and painstaking pastor, looking after and taking care of every interest of the work committed to his hands. His successor always found that a true and faithful minister had been in the field. Brother Leith was twice married—first in his native Scotland, to Miss Elizabeth Buchan, on June 3, 1868. They were given three daughters—viz., Mary, Elizabeth, and Saline. The second marriage was to Miss Sarah Lillian Smith. One son, William Wallace, blessed this union. The deceased is survived by his wife, the three daughters, and the son. During the two years of his superannuation Brother Leith occupied the home near Memphis. He continued to preach as opportunity was given. He found a debt on the home, and he was diligent in raising funds to clear this debt. About one thousand dollars was collected by him with which to reduce the debt. He ate Christmas dinner at the home of a brother-in-law, Mr. Ernest Grey, apparently in his usual health, and his death, in the early morning, was unexpected, even by his wife, who was busy preparing the morning meal. Only a few words were spoken to his companion, then quietly, without pain, he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. Funeral services, led by the writer, assisted by several of the city pastors, were held in the parlors of Thompson Brothers, and the remains were carried to Paris, Tenn., where they were laid to rest by the side of his first wife.—George H. Martin.

JARRETT SMITH RENSHAW, son of Rev. Jarrett and Easter Renshaw, was born May 23, 1848. His very earliest convictions were about God and the Church, for in that family there were religious devotions night and morning. On his resilient but receptive mind these early impressions became fixed and through life he never wavered. On September 17, 1863, at Pleasant Hill, north of Jackson, at a meeting held by C. J. Mauldin and John A. Vincent, he came forward to ratify and confirm the promise, vow of repentance, faith, and obedience contained in the baptismal covenant. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of First Church, Jackson, November 4, 1868, and on December 1, 1868, was admitted on trial into the Memphis Conference at Paris, Tenn. On November 18, 1870, he was received into full connection at Brownsville, Tenn., and was ordained traveling deacon by Bishop Doggett on November 20. At Jackson, Tenn., on November 28, 1872, he was ordained a traveling elder by Bishop McTyeire. He was married to Miss Nannie Smith on October 12, 1871, who left him disconsolate and responsible for the rearing of her ten children. On November 9, 1887, he was married to Miss Belle Neely, who shared his toils and burdens till the end. Before me lies a long list of appointments, reaching all the way from Brownsville Circuit, as junior preacher in 1868, to Oakland Circuit, 1915, when he took the relation of a superannuate. On March 5, 1920, on Harbert Avenue, in Memphis, Tenn., surrounded by his whole family, he got his final discharge and went home. Funeral services were held at the home led by Revs.

J. J. Thomas, T. E. Sharp, and G. H. Martin. Near Durhamville, in St. Paul's Cemetery, they laid his remains down to sleep till morning breaks at the voice of his Redeemer.—J. J. Thomas.

ARCO ROBINSON was born December 27, 1882, and died June 26, 1920. He was the son of Rev. William and Nancy V. Robinson. His father has been a local preacher in our Church since 1875. His mother was a strong religious character and was reared in a religious home in which a family altar was maintained. Both of his grandfathers were Methodist preachers. He was converted in September, 1905, during a revival at New Friendship Church, on the Hollow Rock Circuit. He was licensed to preach by the licensing committee of Lexington District in November, 1910. He was admitted on trial into the Memphis Conference on November 17, 1910, at Paducah, Ky. He was admitted into full connection November 15, 1912, at Brownsville, Tenn. At the same time and place he was ordained deacon by Bishop Kilgo. He was ordained elder November 7, 1914, at Paris, Tenn., by Bishop Murrah. Brother Robinson was married to Miss Clara Bell Walker on December 24, 1905. Two sons, Stephen Paul and Warren Candler, and two daughters, Willie Mai and Mary Adloid, were the children to this happy union. He served the following charges: Scott's Hill Mission, one year; Camden Circuit, two years; Gates Circuit, one year; Hazel Circuit, one year; Cottage Grove, three years; and Hardin Circuit, one year. At the close of the Conference year 1919, on account of declining health, he superannuated. Thus closed the short ministerial career of a very earnest and useful man. He had the advantages of a high school education and used his attainments very successfully in the ministry of the gospel. The evangelistic spirit characterized his preaching. He had a passion for souls and many people were converted wherever he served. He made no compromise with sin and worldiness, but exposed them with the courage of an apostle and the zeal of an evangelist. He wrought well in the Master's name and finished his life in holy triumph. He said to a sister who visited him just before he died: "You did not come a moment too soon. I want to go home. Take down the bars and let me go home. I am only a pilgrim here." Again he said, "There's nothing between me and heaven but death." With these words of a heroic spirit he closed his useful life here below to enter upon the unending pleasures and supernal glories of the life beyond.—S. B. Love.

J. H. YOUNG.—No ordinary man has passed away from our fellowship of love and service into the church triumphant. Unusually endowed physically, mentally, and morally, he was withal such a modest and refined soul that one had to come very close to him to glimpse the largeness and beauty of his character. He was not a man who carried his soul on his sleeve. Notwithstanding his superb physical endowments, there was an element of timidity in his make-up, due to his exquisite sense of values. While as bold and as brave as a lion when a great issue was at stake, in matters that concerned himself he was shrinking to the point of depreciation. In a ministry of almost half a century it is safe to assert that never once did he turn a hand or use the slightest influence to affect his own appointment. Even when he knew that he was likely to be sent to smaller appointments on account of failing strength, he went as bravely and as serenely on as ever. He, who had occupied some of the best-known pulpits in Southern Methodism, accepted the changed appointments with the equanimity of a philosopher and the grace of a true Christian. In addition to this superb moral beauty of character there was also the beauty of a nature unstained by false pride or selfish ambition or jealousy of others. In all my intercourse with him never once did I hear him speak unkindly of any man. Even in the criticisms which occasionally fell from his lips concerning men and measures that he could not approve there was no trace of the personal element. It was purely impartial and usually just. How much of this serene beauty of character was due to family inheritance and how much due to his long and devoted following of Christ we cannot say. Yet one thing was always evident—he was a gentleman in every instinct and fiber of his splendid nature. The impressive and handsome physique that attracted attention everywhere was illumined by a sublime and unselfish soul. J. H. Young was a man who would have succeeded in almost any calling. With a strong mind and fine reasoning faculties high success would have come to him at the bar or in any of the learned professions. One of the most pathetic and trying hours of his life was when his father, long a lawyer in Lexington, Ky., finally learned that he was not to become his partner but to become a minister of Jesus Christ. The aged man had continued in the practice in order that his son might succeed him; and when the son told him his unchangeable decision, sadly the old man went out and took down the sign that had so long pointed to his office door. It was no light thing for a man of "Joe" Young's surroundings and upbringing to enter the Methodist ministry of half a century ago. And as we look back to-day and recall his many splendid and noble natural endowments the one thing that dwarfs everything else is the fact that while a young man with one of the great professions calling him he heard the call of the Master and forsook all and followed him. For a few years after entering the ministry he taught the sciences at Kentucky Military Institute. Yet he knew that there was a deeper and more enduring and more real knowledge open to the soul by the key of faith. He knew Jesus Christ in the power of his pardoning and redeeming blood. He realized that there was a vast world of the spirit that must be approached through simple faith in Jesus Christ. Dr. Young knew full well what he was leaving when he forsook the true balm of a settled home and became a traveling preacher, companion and friend of other nomads of faith. While other ministers could justify their entrance into semi-business activities, Dr. Young never swerved aside for secular affairs, but gave himself wholly to the work of the ministry. Looking back to-day on his life of complete devotion to the cause of Christ it glows as a pillar of light without the least shadow. After his wife's death his spirit seemed to be uplifted into the eternities. Wave after wave of joyous anticipation came sweeping down over his soul. That other world became a joyous and unfading reality. Coincident with his own decline in strength his daughter's last illness and death came apace. Still the fires of faith glowed in increasing power and still the waves from the upper world rolled in upon his stricken soul with unfailing strength and illuminating power. He suffered, suffered greatly, yet he knew that underneath and about him were the everlasting arms. And so it was to the very end. When he returned in early December from Battle Creek, Mich., to linger a few days at the Deaconess Hospital in Louisville, he told Rev. E. F. Goodson, before his lips were paralyzed, of the mighty comfort and peace that abided with him. His soul was bathed in eternal sunshine. In "Joe" Young the sublime virtue of patience had its perfect work through the presence of Jesus Christ. In the Kentucky Conference, where he grew up; in the Baltimore Conference, where he served old Trinity Church; in the St. Louis Conference, at Centenary, Wagoner Place, and Kirkwood; in the Louisville Conference, where he was the first pastor of Fourth Avenue; at Virginia Avenue; as presiding elder of the Louisville District; and later on at Settle Memorial, at Lander Memorial, at Bowling Green, at Morganfield, and last at Russellville—in all of these pastoral charges he left the impress of a life devoted to Jesus Christ. His influence in a community went far beyond his own congregation. Much as we mourn for him, much as our hearts miss him, we dare not cry after him, to call him back. After a sublime and victorious life he has passed into the life that is life indeed. He has joined the loved ones whom he loved so well in this life.—F. M. Thomas.

SCHUYLER GOODSON SHELLEY, son of Lewis S. and Deborah J. Shelley, was born in Clinton County, Ky., December 11, 1855. He was the oldest of six children, all of whom were boys. His father was a local preacher and his mother was a sister of Rev. T. C. Frogge, who for more than fifty years was a member of the Louisville Conference. From his early childhood he was taught both by precept and example to fear God and keep his commandments; and while yet in his teens he sought God and consciously found him. He made good use of his educational advantages and thus acquired a real thirst for knowledge of books in his early years, which continued with him to the end of life's journey; for he was a reading man and had his mind well trained so that it served him well in all of his work as a preacher of the gospel. He was most happily married on September 15, 1886, to Miss Georgia Dowell, of Breckenridge County, Ky. Her heart was ever with him in all of his work as a preacher of the gospel, and no doubt his usefulness was greatly augmented by her prayers, sympathies, and labors. She still lives to mourn her great loss. Brother Shelley joined the Louisville Conference in 1879 and spent forty years in the itinerant ministry without break, though he had some afflictions which hindered him in his work for a while. He traveled a number of circuits, served several stations, and was presiding elder for ten years on the Columbia, Lebanon, and Elizabethtown Districts. He had but recently closed his second quadrennium on the Columbia District, which had been so well done, in spite of his age, that he endeared himself not only to the Methodists, but to other Christian people and to those who were not members of any Church. Brother Shelley's last charge was Campbellsville Station, where he served only four months; but they were busy months—preaching, visiting from house to house, planning his work for the year, and so forth. His last message from the pulpit was on the third Sunday in January from the text, "Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." What a fitting message he must have given his people from these gracious words of promise! He was taken ill late that afternoon and was not able to preach at night, and during his sickness expressed himself as being submissive to God's will. He leaves two brothers, Rev. C. L. Shelley, of Brown's Cross Roads, Ky., and Dr. R. A. J. Shelley, of Waldron, Kans. He died on Sunday, January 25, 1920, at the morning preaching hour. The funeral was held from the Methodist Church in Campbellsville, and was conducted by the presiding elder, Rev. T. J. Wade, assisted by a number of others. At his request he was buried at his wife's old home, in Breckenridge County, Ky., to await the resurrection morn.—Jesse L. Murrell.

BENJAMIN F. ORR was born in Graves County, Ky., August 5, 1848. His parents were William and Nancy Orr, and he was the ninth of eleven children. His education was that furnished by the schools of his community and was seriously hampered when the Civil War broke out and the county in which he lived was overrun by the armies of both the Union and the Confederacy. Throughout his life he was an industrious student and educated himself to a far greater degree than many whose earlier opportunities had been more propitious than his. He was converted in 1865, and two years later was licensed to preach by Rev. C. B. Parsons, of Louisville. He was admitted to the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1869, and joined the Louisville Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1877. During his forty-seven years of active ministry he never failed to attend Conference and only twice left before the appointments were read. He was always a prominent figure on the Conference floor, taking part in many debates. Thirty-five years ago Brother Orr wrote a book, "Papal Power in Politics," which had a wide circulation. He was the author of many contributions to religious periodicals, including the Methodist Review. He was married four times. His first wife was Sarah M. Rice, of Leitchfield, who died about eight months after her marriage. He was married a second time to Elizabeth O. Griffith, Columbia. She was the mother of seven children, one of whom died in infancy. His third marriage was to Mollie S. Williams, of Daviess County, to whom two children were born. His fourth wife, Kate W. Weatherholt, of Cloverport, died twelve years ago. After his superannuation he was appointed teacher of the Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Church, Paris, Ky., and continued to teach the class until the Sunday before his death. During his ministry he served the following charges in the Kentucky Conference: Leitchfield, Nebo, Covington, Hopkinsville, and Columbia; in the Louisville Conference he served Campbellsville, Munfordville, Leitchfield, Owensboro Circuit twice, Hopkinsville Circuit, Auburn, Adairville, Trenton, Princeton District, Sonora, Morganfield Circuit, Henderson District, Allensville, Middletown, Brandenburg, and Bardstown. On July 31, 1920, he passed away peacefully at Paris, Ky., and was laid to rest in the cemetery there on August 1. He is survived by three sons, James A. and Benjamin Orr, Jr., of Paris, and Eugene M. Orr, of Louisville, and four daughters, Mrs. Edward E. Perry, of Sonora, Mrs. C. M. McGhee, of Newport, and Misses Olivia and Ruth Orr, of Paris, Ky.—S. J. Thompson.

THOMAS L. CRANDELL was born June 26, 1851, and entered upon his eternal reward August 6, 1920. He was sick only a few days, seemed to be conscious that the end was near, and talked freely of his future. The evening before he died he prayed with his wife and those in the room, and was soon in the unconscious repose of that sleep we call death. His birthplace was Hardin County, Ky., where he spent his boyhood days. He was licensed to preach on July 30, 1881, at Salem Church, on the Sacramento Circuit, in McLean County, Ky. He was ordained a local deacon by Bishop Wilson in 1885; admitted on trial into the Louisville Conference September 16, 1885, at Greenville, Ky.; received into full connection in 1888; ordained elder by Bishop Hargrove in 1890. Without a break for thirty-five years he served the following charges: Crofton, Dixon, Uniontown, McDaniels, Falls of Rough, Carrsville, Kuttawa, Caseyville, Mannsville, Greensburg, Central City, Hill Street (Louisville), Lynnhurst, Morton Memorial, Jeffersonville (Ind.), and Shepherdsville, from which charge he was called to meet in the great conference above. In the second year of his itineracy he was married to Miss Bunnie Cary, of Muhlenberg County. He attributed much of his success to his faithful wife, who survives him. Brother Crandell was evangelistic in his preaching, and his journal shows that he made every charge he served a success. He always took his appointments cheerfully and was loved by the people in the Church and out of it. He built several churches and left the churches and parsonages in good repair. He looked well to church records and business pertaining to the charge. He now sleeps in Eastern Cemetery, Louisville, Ky., with others of our Conference awaiting the glorious resurrection.—J. T. Rushing.

JAMES CARROLL MAYHEW was the only son of J. G. and Phoebe Mayhew, now residing at Winters, Tex. He was born at Levita, Coryell County, Tex., January 4, 1886. JAMES CARROLL MAYHEW was the only son of J. G. and Phoebe Mayhew, now residing at Winters, Tex. He was born at Levita, Coryell County, Tex., January 4, 1886. When an infant his parents settled twelve miles from Winters. At twelve years of age he professed faith in Christ, and in early manhood he entered the business world. His tireless energy, unbounded ambition, and pleasing personality contributed to his success. He was endowed with unusual musical gifts and in social circles was a general favorite. On November 16, 1909, he was married to Miss Minnie Vardiman, of Gatesville, Tex., who survives him. In 1913 he was admitted on trial into the Central Texas Conference, and was appointed to Killeen Circuit. The next year he was appointed to Robert Lee. Here his health failed and he was compelled to give up his cherished ambition to be an itinerant Methodist preacher. He was a preacher of unusual ability, making large use of the Word of God, much of which he had stored in his memory. While in the sanitarium he organized a Sunday school, and after he was confined to his bed other patients would have their cots placed beside his that he might talk to them on the things of God. After his removal from the sanitarium to his home, his sick room was a place where people came for counsel and spiritual help, and none ever left without receiving a blessing. He never complained; his resignation to the divine will was complete, and his death was most triumphant. It was in the early hours of the holy Sabbath, January 25, 1920, that he was transferred from the Church militant to the Church triumphant. He was buried from the church at Winters, the services being conducted by Revs. J. L. Speer and J. H. Baldrige.

OLIVER C. SWINNEY was born near Killeen, Tex., September 12, 1874; died at Temple, Tex., April 15, 1920. He was converted at Reece's Creek, under the ministry of W. A. Gilleland, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when twelve years old. At the age of seventeen he was licensed to preach by the Killeen Quarterly Conference and served as a useful local preacher for ten years. He was happily married on November 14, 1897, to Miss Stait Boydston, who walked by his side to the end of his life. There were born to this union two daughters and one son, all of whom survive. Brother Swinney was admitted into the old Northwest Texas Conference at Corsicana in November, 1901, Bishop Wilson presiding. He served the following charges: Harmony Circuit, one year; Evant Circuit, two years; Copperas Cove, two years; Alma, one year; China Springs, one year; Crawford, two years; Morgan, two years; Bosqueville, one year; Troy and Pendleton, three years; Grapevine, one year; Stanford Memorial (Fort Worth), one year; Godley and Cresson, one year, and was reappointed by Bishop Ainsworth to this charge for the second year. This proved to be his last appointment. He became a victim of the prevailing influenza in the latter part of the winter and sought relief at a sanitarium at Temple; but instead of finding it he grew worse, and finally passed away on April 15, 1920, with his immediate family, seven brothers, three sisters, and other relatives present, who tenderly ministered to his last earthly needs. Brother Swinney was a careful student of the Bible, an able preacher, and a good pastor. He both knew and loved the doctrines of the Methodist Church, and could, when called upon, defend them with surprising ability. He was sympathetic, courteous, and brotherly toward everyone and much of his success as a preacher was due to these noble traits of his character. His funeral service was held by his presiding elder, Rev. J. W. W. Shuler, in the Methodist Church at Killeen, Tex., and we laid his body to rest in the beautiful little city cemetery to await the resurrection morning.—R. B. Young.

A. C. SMITH, the son of Iverson and Susanna Smith, was born at Rock Rim, Ala., June 17, 1870. He graduated from the Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., in June, 1897, and joined the Alabama Conference in November of the same year. Brother Smith was married to Miss Stella King, of Sneads, Fla., in December, 1898. Of this union two children were born, Eva and Percy, both of whom survive him. His wife's health failing, he transferred to the old Northwest Texas Conference in 1905, and was stationed at Gatesville, Tex. His wife's health grew worse and in February, 1907, she passed away. On February 10, 1919, he was married to Miss Mary Robertson, daughter of Hon. J. M. Robertson, of Meridian, Tex. When the old Northwest Texas Conference was divided, Brother Smith found himself in the new Northwest Texas Conference and stationed at Hereford. He also served at Dalhart and Miami, in that Conference. In the latter charge his health failed and he was forced to take a superannuate relation. He was transferred to the Central Texas Conference in November, 1913, and was appointed to the Grandview Circuit. He served that charge for two years; Bronte, two years; Big Hill and Ben Hur, one year. He was appointed to the Highland Park Church, Fort Worth, in 1918, and again in 1919. His health failed in 1918 and for months he did his work in great physical weakness. Hoping to regain his health, he accepted the work again and struggled manfully to do the full work of a pastor. When he was too weak to stand to preach, he would sit down and finish his sermon. When he found it impossible to continue the work, he asked to be released, and this request was granted about April first. He loved his home, his wife, and his children. He loved his Church and was a true Methodist itinerant preacher.—W. H. Matthews.

JEROME HARALSON was born near Holly Springs, Miss., November 1, 1845. He was born again when a lad of about thirteen years. He served the Church as class leader, Sunday school superintendent, and steward until about twenty-five years of age, at which time he was licensed to preach and entered the itinerant ministry. He was admitted to the White River Conference in 1870, and spent the first fifteen years of his ministry in Arkansas—a part of the time in school work. He served from 1881 to 1883 as President of Quitman College and received from this institution the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. On October 6, 1869, he was married to Miss Marietta McKendree, who survives him. In 1885 he was transferred to the Northwest Texas Conference and appointed to Taylor and Round Rock. In 1886 he was appointed presiding elder of the Weatherford District, which at that time covered all the settled territory from Weatherford to Texline and from the Brazos River to the upper end of Greer County—a territory equal to about seventy average counties, embracing nearly all of what is now the new Northwest Texas Conference and in addition a part of the Central Texas and the western part of the West Oklahoma Conference. He traveled over this vast territory in a buggy and received for his services less than $900. At the end of two years this district was divided by forming the Vernon District and he was appointed to this territory for two years more. The traveling of these districts involved exposure to all kinds of weather—sleeping on the ground, in dugouts, and very rudely constructed houses. The exposures and hardships incident to this service were largely responsible for the fact that his health broke down prematurely and caused him to be superannuated about ten years later. Subsequent to his work on Vernon District he served Haskell, Hubbard, Corn Hill and Salado, Burnet and Bertram. He was superannuated in 1899. Brother Haralson was a voracious reader of great books. His information was accurate and covered a wide field, but he was especially fond of devotional and theological literature. He had a passion for preaching, and when he was physically able he never let an opportunity pass. While he read homiletics, he had a method of preaching that was all his own. He was evangelistic in his temperament and was never happier than when calling sinners to repentance, and he had the great joy of seeing many converted under his ministry. During the last twenty years of his life he was a great sufferer, scarcely ever entirely free from physical pain. Added to this was a constant struggle to provide the absolute necessities of life. He had an unwavering faith and trusted when he could not see. His face was always toward the future, for he believed that the best of life is yet to be. About nine years ago he moved to Jacksonville, Tex., secured a little home near the Alexander College, and as his strength would allow he taught, lectured, preached, and visited to the edification and delight of all who came within range of his influence. The people of Jacksonville loved him and gave many substantial tokens of their regard for him and his noble wife. For several days before his death, on May 30, 1920, he knew that the end was near and talked as definitely about his arrangements with the Lord for the future as he would have talked about any well-planned business matter. Having served his own generation by the will of God, he calmly pillowed his head on the bosom of Him to whom he had committed himself in early youth and fell asleep to wake up in heaven. The funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church by Rev. B. R. Bolton, assisted by Prof. W. K. Strother, Rev. W. H. Vance, and Rev. S. S. McKenney. The good people of Jacksonville provided for the expenses and with loving hands they laid his body to rest in their beautiful cemetery on May 31, 1920.—John M. Barcus.

ZACCHEUS ASBURY DOWLING was born near Clayton, Barbour County, Ala., October 1, 1849, and passed to the other world on August 28, 1920. The end came suddenly. He had gone to spend the night on Shades Mountain, near Oxmoor; retired for the night in cheerful frame of mind; awoke about four o'clock on the morning of August 28, and after brief conversation and without suggestion of sickness or sign of suffering he was gone. During the week he had been engaged in protracted meeting services at his church, St. Paul, Birmingham; and almost literally he ceased at once to work and live. His parents were Hansford and Martha Weaver Dowling. The father was from South Carolina, the mother was from Georgia; a brother of his mother, Rev. Sheldon Weaver, was an honored member of the South Georgia Conference. The blood of Erin ancestors was in his veins, sturdy Irish stock in his inheritance—thoroughly Americanized, with Wesleyan Methodist warp and woof in every fiber of his being. He grew up in the country, on the farm; and the beauty of the woods and the fragrance of the fields ever held for him attraction and charm. He was well born and well bred: a gentleman by inheritance, and a Christian gentleman by choice, by the election of grace, and by constant practice. In the schools of the neighborhood was laid the basis for the liberal culture which was his, with broadening and finishing afforded at Southern University and Vanderbilt. He was well educated, scholarly, intelligent, of wide general reading, abreast of the times in current literature, level-headed, a good gospel preacher, faithful as a pastor as in every other relation, modest, chaste, true, industrious, frugal, temperate, patient—a good man in all life's relations. From schoolboy he became schoolman, giving fourteen effective years to successful and honorable teaching. In 1886, at Eufaula, he was given license to preach, Dr. H. Urquhart being his presiding elder. In the fall of that same year he entered the North Alabama Conference with assignment to Town Creek. At the Conference session at Anniston, in the fall of 1888, he was by Bishop Hargrove ordained a deacon; and in 1890, at Birmingham, by Bishop Granbery he was ordained an elder. His pastoral charges were: Town Creek, 1887-88; Hartselle, 1889; Calera, 1890-92; Oakbowery, 1893-96; Elyton, 1897-98; Jasper, 1899-1900; Lineville, 1901; West End, 1902-05; Russellville, 1906-07; Montevallo, 1908-10; Cullman, 1911; Sheffield, 1912-13; Bethlehem-Central Park, 1914; Shady Side-Ensley, 1915-16; Boyles, 1917; St. Paul, Birmingham, 1918-20; a total of thirty-four unbroken years. He did his share of hard work as a Methodist preacher—did constructive work, and did it well. His spirit was distinctly evangelistic and pastoral; his ministry was faithful, efficient, fruitful. In the best sense, he was a builder of the Church. In February, 1880, he was married to Miss Addie Glenn, of Glennville, Ala.; and she shared faithfully the itinerant allotment through these thirty-four years. She survives him, together with one son, Prof. Herndon Glenn Dowling, and four daughters: Mrs. E. B. Heiser, Misses Lillie, Claude, and Mabel. Miss Lucile preceded her father to the other world by nearly two years. The funeral services were held at Mount Vernon Church, Birmingham, on Sunday afternoon, August 29. Brother J. C. Persinger and Dr. J. D. Simpson read the appointed Scriptures; Rev. J. L. Brittain, Dr. Simpson, and the writer made appropriate remarks; Dr. J. T. Morris led in prayer; the choir sang proper hymns. The Mount Vernon Church people rendered every service possible in respect for the dead preacher and in sympathy for the bereaved family. The pallbearers were brother pastors: Revs. W. E. Aldridge, W. F. Price, J. E. Morris, M. R. Heflin, S. O. Kimbrough, and D. K. Pegues. The mortal remains were laid to rest in Elmwood Cemetery, there to sleep till the day of consummation, when the trump of God shall sound the resurrection dawn.—E. M. Glenn.

SINGLETON T. WOODARD, son of S. T. and Sallie Singleton Woodard, was born at Jackson, Clark County, Ala., October 15, 1879. His early educational advantages were such as were afforded in the town of his nativity, and also in Texas, to which State he went. He joined the Church in his boyhood at Jackson, Ala. He was licensed to preach at Tyler, Tex., about 1903. On November 23, 1910, he was married to Miss Sallie Pugh, at Grove Hill, Ala. His wife and a little girl survive him. At Huntsville, Ala., on December 3, 1910, he was admitted on trial into the North Alabama Conference, being recommended by the Mobile District Conference of the Alabama Conference. He was sent to Hackleburg, continuing there for the two years, 1911-12. During these two years he received into the Church forty-seven on profession. At the end of 1912 he was transferred to the South Georgia Conference and served Riddlesville charge. At the end of 1913 he was at Anniston, transferred back to the North Alabama Conference, and sent to Hamilton, serving there during 1914, and going at the end of that year to Hackleburg Station for 1915. At the end of 1915 he was discontinued at his own request. During the years 1916-19 it is apparent that he did some pastoral work at Thomaston, Tex. At the session of this Conference in 1919 he was admitted on trial and sent to Cochran-Dansey charge. He died in a Birmingham hospital on September 15, 1920. Brother Woodard was represented as a man of good mind, good preaching ability, with qualities that fitted him for successful approach into the life of men; he was evangelistic in spirit and method. He was called hence before securing admission into full connection with the Conference.—E. M. Glenn.

MOSES EDWARD BUTT, son of Moses and Priscilla Banks Butt, was born in Columbus, Ga., October 31, 1835, and died at Childersburg, Ala., February 15, 1920. Reared in a Christian home and surrounded by good influences, he gave his heart to God in early life and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He was divinely called to preach, and was given license at Hardaway Church, Enon Circuit, in 1856, Stephen F. Pilley being the presiding elder. He joined the Alabama Conference the same year. He was first married to Miss Henrietta Allen, who did not live many years. His second marriage was to Miss Jerusha Ready, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., on October 15, 1863. She died September 17, 1898, leaving two daughters, Mrs. Everett Aycock, of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. W. B. Tate, of Childersburg, Ala. There were two children by the first marriage, both of whom are dead. We find that Dr. Butt was a member of the Mobile Conference in 1866, having finished the Conference courses, and was at that time an elder. He served the following charges: 1867-68, Bay Shore, in the Mobile District; 1869, Suggsville, in the Demopolis District; 1870, Summerfield Station. In 1870 the Conference lines were changed, Dr. Butt remaining with the Alabama Conference, and was returned to Summerfield for 1871; 1872-73, Lowndesboro Station; 1874-75, Marianna District; 1876-77, Auburn Station; then for four years he was Principal of the Greenville Collegiate Institute; 1880, Fort Deposit Circuit. At the session of the Alabama Conference in the fall of 1880 he was transferred to the North Alabama Conference, and served the Columbiana Circuit in 1881-82. At the Conference session in the fall of 1882 he was transferred to the Arkansas Conference and appointed presiding elder of the Morrillton District; 1884-85, Fort Smith District; 1886, Fayetteville Station; 1887-89, supernumerary. In the fall of 1889 he was transferred to the North Alabama Conference, and served Fayetteville Circuit in 1890; 1891-94, Guntersville District; 1895-96, Fort Payne and Valley Head; 1897, Ashville Circuit; 1898, Springville and Trussville; 1899, Hartselle Circuit. At the Conference session held in Birmingham in the fall of 1899 he was granted the superannuate relation, which he held till his death. Dr. Butt was a scholarly, polished gentleman, and a strong, forceful preacher of the gospel of Jesus Christ. He loved his brethren and his Conference. He loved his own family very tenderly, and did what he could to make them comfortable and happy. He loved God and the Church supremely, and it was his chief delight to do his Master's will. He delighted in reading and studying God's holy word. When death came, he had just finished reading a chapter in his Bible, which was found folded on his breast. He was in the sixty-fifth year of the Methodist ministry when God, on Sunday, February 15, 1920, said: "It is enough; come up higher." He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Tate, Childersburg, Ala. The following day, at the crowded Methodist Church, tender and loving tributes were paid by Rev. W. F. Price, Dr. E. M. Glenn, Rev. W. L. Thompson, and the writer. His body was then laid to rest in the town in which he died, to await the resurrection of the just.—J. W. Norton.

JOHN THOMAS MACFARLANE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacFarlane, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, November 22, 1866. During his boyhood days he lived and labored on Garlenaber Farm, Buchanan Parish, Sterlingshire, Scotland. This farm was elevated among the mountains of Ben Lomond, Ben Vierlock, and Loch Katrine, famous in early Scottish history. Mr. MacFarlane was educated in the parish school, Bella Houst Academy, in Glasgow, being trained as a naval engineer. After coming to America he pursued the usual branches of study, and upon his entrance into the Conference he took the Conference Course of Study in the Correspondence Department of Vanderbilt University. The first distinct impression of a call to preach came to Mr. MacFarlane soon after he came to America, and while residing at Chester, S. C.; but he did not yield to it until after his conversion, which occurred in July, 1893, under the ministry of the Rev. John W. Neely. The young convert was immediately put to work in Christian activity. Brother MacFarlane was granted license to preach in the fall of 1893, at Graniteville, S. C., and for several years served as supply on various charges in the Conference. He was admitted on trial into the South Carolina Conference at Orangeburg, S. C., in December, 1899, Bishop Key presiding. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Galloway at Columbia, S. C., in December, 1901; and was ordained elder by Bishop Morrison at Gaffney, S. C., in December, 1907. As a supply, Brother MacFarlane served the following charges: Graniteville, one year; Claussen, one year; Georgetown Circuit, one year; Swansea and Wagener, three years. After his admission into the Conference he served the following charges: Williston, one year; Norway, one year; Smoaks, two years; Elloree, three years; Granby Station, one year; Cherokee, two years; Lancaster Circuit, two years; Brandon, two years; Norris, one year; Bethlehem Circuit, four years; Jordan, one year. At the last session of the Conference Bishop Darlington appointed him to Scranton, where he had entered upon his work with deep earnestness, but before he had been able to accomplish much for the Master there the summons came for his transfer to a larger field of service Beyond the Shadow. Brother MacFarlane was twice married. His first marriage was to Miss Lewellyn Goans, of Lancaster County, and to this union one child was born—Camellia. His second marriage was to Miss Carrie DeLeslie Lawrence, of Florence County, S. C., and to this union five children were born—Henry Bascom Brown, John Holland, Marion May, Ida Dell, and Horace Carter. He was buried at Elim, near Effingham, on March 9. In his early life, before coming to America, he served as a soldier in the English army and bore on his body the marks of heroic service, having been severely wounded in battle. He carried this heroic spirit with him into the ministry, where he found this element absolutely essential. Brother MacFarlane was optimistic. A favorite expression with him was, "Why should I worry?" He seemed to live all the time on Sunshine Street and carried continually a spirit of conquering optimism. Brother MacFarlane was evangelistic. He labored for immediate results, and God greatly honored his faith. His musical talent was a great aid to him in this work. He was a sweet singer, and his Scottish brogue gave added interest to his singing. He died in peace March 7, 1920, and was buried at Elim, near Effingham, on March 9.—Watson B. Duncan.

JESSE LAVANCE TYLER was born in Aiken County, S. C., near Augusta, Ga., May 17, 1874, the son of Mr. W. Scott Tyler and Mrs. Annie Foreman Tyler. As a boy he felt the call to preach, but tried to evade this duty by engaging in business, where he soon won a lucrative position in the business world. Coming under the religious influence of Miss Jennie Anderson, who afterwards became his wife, he was led to yield to the divine call and enter the ministry. He was licensed to preach at Orangeburg, S. C., April 25, 1896, and received on trial into the South Carolina Conference at Columbia, S. C., in December, 1901. On account of the ill health of his father, Brother Tyler had to share the responsibility of meeting the needs of the home and was therefore denied the opportunities of a college education. He, however, applied himself diligently to study and was the first preacher in our Conference to complete the Conference Course in the Correspondence School at Vanderbilt University. After the completion of the Conference Course, he took supplementary courses, doing special work in English and the Bible. Brother Tyler was a kind and sympathetic friend, a persistent and tireless worker, uncompromising and fearless in his dealings with men. On May 26, 1897, Brother Tyler was happily married to Miss Jennie Anderson, of Barnwell County, S. C., the sweetheart of his boyhood days. He leaves a wife and nine children, who long for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still. The children are Nanoline, Bascomb, LaVance, Barnwell Scott, Jennie, Lourie Kilgo, Annie, Ruth, Mary, and Virginia. Little Ethel, the firstborn, died in infancy. Brother Tyler always took a lively interest in district and Conference affairs, serving faithfully and well on committees and boards. He served the following charges in our Conference: Swansea, 1901; Elloree, 1902-03; Smoaks, 1904-05; Springfield, 1906-07; Lamar, 1908-09; McBee, 1910-13; Chesterfield, 1914-17; Brightsville, 1918-19; was appointed to the Hemingway charge for 1920, where he fell on sleep May 9, 1920. He was laid to rest at old Johnsonville Cemetery, two miles from Hemingway, where his body awaits the resurrection morn.—J. T. Fowler.

ELDRIDGE K. AKIN was born in Jasper County, Ga., July 11, 1843, and died at his residence in Kirkwood on the afternoon of September 29, 1920. His parents were Charles Patterson and Louisa Akin, his father a local preacher, his mother the daughter of Colonel Geiger, a Methodist class leader. On account of the Civil War he did not receive a finished education, but took advantage of all the opportunities that came within his reach. He was converted in early life and joined Midway Methodist Church, in Jasper County, under the ministry of Rev. Mr. Crawford. He was married to Miss Elizabeth M. Walker on November 21, 1866. To them four children were born, all of whom are living. Brother Akin joined the Georgia Conference in December, 1863, at Columbus, Ga. His appointments were as follows: Springfield Circuit, 1864-65; Palmetto Circuit, junior preacher, 1866. Financial conditions forced him to locate for two years. He was readmitted in 1869, at Rome, and received the following appointments:

Gainesville, 1870; Dallas, 1871; Powder Springs, 1872-73. His health failed and he took a supernumerary relation for five years. He was then appointed to Canton, 1879-80; Franklin, 1881-82; Hogansville, 1883; Rockmart, 1884-85; Lawrenceville, 1886-87; Jefferson, 1888-89; Greensboro, 1890-91; Winterville, 1892; Zebulon, 1893-96; Forsyth Circuit, 1897-99; Culloden, 1900; Hampton, 1901-03; Fayetteville, 1904; Jasper, 1905; South Bend and Lakewood Heights, 1906-08; Nellie Dodd and South Atlanta, 1909. He superannuated in 1910. In June, 1911, he was appointed to the Capitol View work. There was no church building, and they worshiped in a tent. He was returned in 1912, built up the membership, and erected the present basement. He attended Church and Sunday school as long as he was physically able to do so. He taught the Mothers' Class at the Walker Street Church. The last sermon he ever preached was at Cartersville, on August 20, 1920, at the Sam Jones reunion. He was elected several years ago to be the permanent preacher for future occasions. On July 11, his seventy-seventh birthday, he preached in the evening at Kirkwood Methodist Church. Brother Akin joined the Confederate army in 1861, and belonged to the 44th Georgia Volunteers. He served eighteen months, was disabled, and received an honorable discharge. These dates and places are of peculiar interest to those who knew Brother Akin. They disclose a long life spent in the ministry; they tell the work he did, and show how faithful he had been. No truer man ever held membership in this Conference. He did not strike the high places, but in humble spheres and in hard places he preached, prayed, and toiled. Cheerfully he always went to his appointments, trusting in that God who called him into the ministry; for he never for one moment doubted the Divine call to this high and holy work.—Clement C. Cary.

JOHN MALACHI BOWDEN was born in Meriwether County, near Greenville, Ga., June 28, 1840; died at Hampton, S. C., January 28, 1920. He was the fourth in a family of sixteen children, eight of whom were boys, and fourteen of whom reached maturity, all faithful members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and two of them ministers at her altars—namely, the subject of this sketch and Rev. E. K. Bowden, of Texas. For three years in the field and for a half year in prison, this heroic man served the Confederacy in such battles as Manassas, Spottsylvania

C. H., Yorktown, Wilderness, Corvitt's Farm, Malvern Hill, Gettysburg, and many others in Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Georgia, and Tennessee. Having returned home, scarred by the conflict, but well and strong, he took up the task of helping to rebuild a broken country. Soon, however, he was called to enlist in the "Holy War." Nor was he less loyal, less fervent, less gallant and brave in this war than in that. Responding to this call, he served as a supply in 1867-68, joining the North Georgia Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in the fall of 1868. He served Troup Circuit and Colored Charge, as junior preacher to Rev. T. S. L. Harwell, in 1868; Campbellton, 1869; Franklin, 1870; Palmetto, 1871-72; Hogansville, 1873-74; Fairburn, 1875; Jonesboro, 1876-79; Monticello, 1880-82; Payne Chapel (Atlanta), 1883-85; St. Paul, 1886; McDonough, 1887-88; Senoia, 1889-90; Forsyth, 1891-94; Jackson, 1895-96; Chipley, 1897-1900; Winterville, 1901-04; Hartwell, 1905; Asbury (Augusta), 1906-07; St. Luke (Atlanta), 1908. Later he served as a supply (after his superannuation) at Decatur, upon the death of Rev. J. S. Bryan. On May 3, 1870, he was married to Miss Eliza Lemon Akers, of Lagrange, a graduate of our Lagrange Female College, who illustrated in her character and life all the charms of a cultured Christian womanliness. She was called to heaven nearly ten years before her husband. Of their happy union were born nine children, seven of whom survive: J. Wightman Bowden, of Atlanta; Mrs. J. G. Addy, of Decatur, Ga.; Paul M. Bowden, of Thomson, Ga.; Mrs. J. Lee Allgood, of Kirkwood, Ga.; Ralph O. Bowden, of Hampton, S. C.; Charles Nolen Bowden, of Augusta, Ga.; and Mrs. Charles Henderson, of Maysville, Ga. In an amply marked Bible, long used by him and presented to his eldest son, a prayer was found which he had kept for years and which he had made his own. Among other things, the prayer expressed a desire to be spared a lingering illness. This prayer was granted, for he lingered hardly half an hour when finally stricken before passing into the life beyond. —Elam F. Dempsey.

ROBERT LAFAYETTE CAMPBELL was born in Abbeville District, S. C., on February 4, 1845. He was the only son of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas M. Campbell. In his childhood his parents moved to Georgia and settled in DeKalb County. He was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, at the age of eight, under the ministry of

Rev. Joshua Radford, a local preacher. In 1856 he moved with his parents to Gainesville, where he attended school until the War between the States began. In 1863 he enlisted in Howell's Battery, Georgia Volunteers, Martin's Battalion, Smith's regiment of artillery. At the close of the war he returned to Gainesville, where he was prepared for college by Prof. Lee M. Lyle. Entering the freshman class of Emory College in the spring of 1869, he proved a diligent and faithful student until graduation in 1872 under the presidency of Dr. O. L. Smith. He had been licensed to exhort in 1868, before entering college, under the ministry of Rev. John R. Park, and while a student at Emory was licensed to preach by Atticus G. Haygood on March 19, 1870. Following his graduation Brother Campbell entered the educational work, teaching at Clayton, Hartwell, McDonough, and Duluth, until 1876, when he was admitted into the North Georgia Conference on trial; admitted into full connection in 1878, and ordained elder at the Conference in Augusta in 1879. The charges served were Cherokee Circuit, 1877; Homer Circuit, 1878; Porter Springs Mission, 1880-81; McLemore's Cove, 1882. At the close of this year he located at his own request. He edited the Dawsonville News until 1886, when, at the urgent request of Rev. M. H. Edwards, he went into educational work again, taking charge of the schoolroom work of Young Harris Institute. Here he taught for two years, during which time the enrollment of the school was greatly increased and a new school erected. In May, 1888, he was elected a professor in Paine Institute, and served thirty-two consecutive years, teaching Mathematics, Systematic Theology, and the Bible. Brother Campbell was readmitted to the North Georgia Conference in 1891, and was appointed every year as professor in Paine College, where he labored acceptably to the time of his call to his eternal reward on August 7, 1920. For the past ten years he was Vice President of the institution. He was at his best in the classroom. Teaching by precept and example, he won the love and respect of his students by his unswerving loyalty to the right. Confederate veteran and soldier of the cross, he made an impression upon the colored youth that will never be effaced. Knightly Christian gentleman of the Old South, he was greatly beloved by both races. On December 23, 1873, he was married to Miss Mary Eugenia Mattox. Of this union, four sons and two daughters, with the mother, survive: R. W. and T. M., of Augusta; A. L., of Atlanta; Rev. Clyde K., of the New Mexico Conference; Misses Annie E. and Lula, of Augusta. It was in his home life that Brother Campbell was greatest and best. Faith in Christ, love for God, and obedience to his law were not theories with him, but experimental facts. He loved his Church. For some time he was unable to preach, but until two months before his going away he attended the services regularly. It was his delight to assist his pastor in administering the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and in rendering whatever service he could.—J. T. Eakes.

WILLIAM DUNBAR, the son of W. P. and Eliza Gertrude Dunbar, was born in Barnwell County, S. C., on April 23, 1855. He resided there with the family on the farm until 1870, when he attended school in Lexington, Ky., where he remained ten months, after which he returned home and remained until 1873. The latter part of that year he went to Augusta, Ga., where he found employment, and while in that city joined St. John Methodist Episcopal Church, South, under the pastorate of Rev. Clement A. Evans. Soon after joining the Church he felt called to the ministry, and after going through Emory College he joined the Florida Conference, being received on trial at Tallahassee in 1880. He remained in the Florida Conference until 1886, when he transferred to the North Georgia Conference, and remained an active member of that body until his superannuation in 1918. While at Lawrenceville, in 1918, Brother Dunbar was stricken with paralysis and was compelled to surrender his charge. For a while he hoped that he would sufficiently recover to assume charge of his Church again, but it soon became apparent that he was permanently disabled. He gradually failed until December 1, when he left earth for that world for which he had lived for many years. On June 1, 1881, he was married to Miss Julia Keys Hentz, of Quincy, Fla., who was his companion for thirty-two years. She passed away, while he was stationed at Jefferson, Ga., on December 4, 1913. Ten children blessed this union, six of whom are still living: Mrs. Roy F. White, of Grantville, Ga.; Mrs. L. B. Isbell, of Jefferson, Ga.; Miss Carolina Lee Dunbar, of Atlanta; Mrs. A. B. McNeice and Charles A. Dunbar, of Macon; Miss Varina Leslie Dunbar, of Lawrenceville, Ga. On December 14, 1915, he was married to Mrs. Jessie Cheatham, who survives him. So greatly were the people of Lawrenceville attached to Brother Dunbar, and so highly did they appreciate him, that a superannuate home was purchased by them, and it was directly expressed that he should be the first to occupy this home and on his decease his widow should live in it. It was in this home that he spent the remaining days of his life, and in it he passed away. His body rests in West View Cemetery, Atlanta. Brother Dunbar was openly and positively religious. He knew God, loved him, and lived in close touch with him. He had a daily, conscious religious experience, which cheered his heart and filled him with faith as he looked down the lane of life to its close. He believed in the old-time religion, the same kind that he sought and found in his young manhood at Augusta, Ga., and to which he remained true until the very last. He loved the souls of men, and God honored his ministry and blessed his labors in the Conference in the many charges he served.—Clement C. Cary.

RICHARD BENNETT OVERBY ENGLAND, the fifth son of William G. and Mary Ann England, was born in Oglethorpe County, Ga., August 25, 1855, and lived to be over sixty-four years of age. He was converted in early life, joined Mount Pleasant Church, the Church of his parents, and remained a faithful member till he entered the itinerancy. While quite a young man he felt a definite call to the ministry, conferred not with flesh and blood, but quickly yielded to the movings of the Holy Spirit, and was licensed to preach in 1877, joining the Conference the same year. He was ordained a deacon in 1879 and elder in 1881. He and Miss Myra Kingsbury, daughter of Charles and Sarah Kingsbury, were married at Fairmount, Ga., on December 15, 1880. To them were born three children: Mrs. Maude Elliott, Miss Annie England, and Bennett, the latter dying when he was about seventeen years of age. The following were his Conference appointments: Clayton Mission, junior preacher, 1878; Jasper Mission, 1879; Dawsonville Circuit, 1880-81; Ellijay, 1882; Clarksville Circuit, 1883; Culloden Circuit, 1884; Houston Circuit, 1885; Dallas Circuit, 1886; McLemore Cove Circuit, 1887-88; Carnesville Circuit, 1889-92; Hartwell, 1893-94; Broad River Circuit, 1895-98; Asbury Station (Augusta), 1899-1900; Jackson Station, 1901-02; St. Paul's (Atlanta), 1903-05; Conyers Station, 1906-08; Thomaston Station, 1909-12; Monticello Station, 1913-15; Woodlawn Station (Augusta), 1916-18; Martha Brown Memorial (Atlanta), 1919-20. And at the last appointment he finished his work on earth, quietly lay down to sleep, and awoke in heaven. He served faithfully on several of the important boards and committees in the Conference. He was on the Board of Finance for fifteen years, and was a member of the Commission on Finance when he died. It was no surprise that he professed religion in early life, for he was preëminently the product of a Christian home. Coming from such home surroundings, brought up in a household where the rule was family prayer night and morning, where attendance upon the Church was the practice, a home where father and mother lived for God and walked with God, a home where everything was favorable to religion and nothing conducive to evil, it would have been a wonder if he had not given his heart to God. Never did he get beyond the gracious influence of the home in which he was born and in which he was reared. And while all credit must be given him for his fidelity to God, much of the praise must be laid at the feet of a godly father and a religious mother. It may be said that out of ten children not one lived a sinner's life, but every one became a Christian and was a Church member. Bennett England was an efficient pastor and a good preacher. He was wise and discreet in the management of the Church committed to his care, conservative and yet aggressive. He loved the Church and the souls of men. His end was sudden, with no signs of death and with no note of warning. The day before he died he spent at Emory University getting information for a paper to be read at Mount Pleasant Centennial, which was to take place the following week. Returning home after dark, he told his wife that the work was done and he was ready to finish the paper. How strange are human calculations! Retiring for the night of April 27, he awoke in the morning, and in a few moments breathed his last and his disembodied spirit was in heaven. He hardly had time to bid loved ones about him farewell before he was at rest forever.—Clement C. Cary.

LYMAN HALL GREEN was born June 26, 1853, and died May 23, 1920. These are the earthly limits of a life well lived in devotion to God and service to men. His pilgrimage began at his father's country home in Forsyth County, and it was from his own home in Kirkwood that he started on his upward way. The youth of Brother Green coincided with the dark days of the sixties and the troublous times that immediately followed. For this reason his educational advantages were few. But his own diligence supplemented this lack, and he achieved a much richer culture than his school privileges would suggest. While yet a youth he was soundly converted. His new birth was an experience so definite and satisfactory that it left no room for doubt. He often referred with glad assurance to the time when he passed from death unto life. Equally clear and convincing was his call to the ministry. For five troubled years he postponed and debated this call, not because of uncertainty as to the call itself, but because it crossed his own cherished plans concerning his life work. But when he did yield it was with full purpose of heart. In due season he was licensed to exhort, and later to preach. In 1879 he offered himself for the itinerant ministry and was admitted on trial into the South Georgia Conference. In 1881 he was ordained a deacon by Bishop Pierce, and in 1883 an elder by Bishop Keener. He transferred to the North Alabama Conference in 1889, and in 1891 he was received in the same way into the North Georgia Conference, of which he remained a member until the time of his death. He served the following appointments: Orchard Hill, 1892; Morgan Circuit, 1893-94; Woodbury Circuit, 1895; Franklin Circuit, 1896-97; Palmetto Circuit, 1898-99; Jenkinsburg Circuit, 1900; Ellijay Circuit, 1901; Greene Circuit, 1902; Farmington Circuit, 1903-04; Athens Circuit, 1905; Flowery Branch Circuit, 1906; Buchanan Circuit, 1907; North Rome Circuit, 1908-09; Clayton Circuit, 1910-11; Milner Circuit, 1912-13; Cedartown Circuit, 1914; Dallas Circuit, 1915; South Lagrange, 1916; Whitesburg, 1917; Lyerly Circuit, 1918. In the fall of 1918 he took the superannuate relation and continued in this relation to the time of his death. In this more than a third of a century of itinerant service Brother Green went quietly and faithfully about the duties that fall to the itinerant's lot. He was a close student of God's Word. His well-worn Bibles are treasured possessions of his family. He was also a man of much prayer. It is not surprising, therefore, that he was a helpful preacher. Brother Green was twice married. In 1881 he led to the altar Miss Mary Gullet. Their wedded life was soon cut short by her death. In 1884 he was married to Miss Mary Hodges, who still abides to bless their three children with her presence and wise counsel. Shortly after the Conference of last year Brother Green's health began to fail noticeably. The end—which was also the beginning—came quietly in the early hours of the Sabbath evening. He had appeared unusually well during the day, and seemed to have no premonition that the time of his departure was at hand. While he conversed with his wife, death drew near, and he ceased at once to talk and live. His Sabbath had merged into that eternal Sabbath-keeping which remains for the people of God.—A. M. Pierce.

JULIUS MAGATH was born in Vilna, Russia, June 30, 1859. He was a student and a teacher from his very childhood, his career as a student having been crowned with honors when he received his Master's degree at the famous University of Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1882. He came to the United States in 1884, and shortly after his arrival was admitted into the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, from which Conference his transfer was arranged to the North Georgia Conference. In 1886 he began teaching in Emory College, his gifts as a linguist having won the attention and admiration of President Atticus G. Haygood. After a long period of service as teacher of Hebrew, French, German, and correlated branches of religious pedagogy, he became the appointee of the two Georgia Conferences in the field of missionary work among the Jews. He was engaged in this work when he died. Separated from his brother (and, indeed, from all his people) by the persecutions of the Russian government, he met him in our Southland, after many years of separation, finding this brother also a believer in and a worker for the Christ. The writer studied modern languages under him at Emory, and, along with many young men, can testify to his loving patience and kindly forbearance as he wrestled with his groups of undisciplined young spirits. No man ever taught in old Emory who remembered his boys like he did. No man ever excelled him in the matter of keeping up with the students in their after lives. In the month of September, 1919, as he was about to engage in the work of teaching a class in Spanish at Emory Academy, he was stricken with apoplexy, and was a practically helpless paralytic until the day of his death, May 19, 1920. His devoted wife, who was Miss Lila Byrd, of Tallahassee, Fla., lives in the Oxford home. Two children were born to this union: Katherine, who lives with her mother; and Dr. Thomas Byrd Magath, who is already achieving distinction as a physician in the celebrated Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn. This humble, consecrated, scholarly follower of Jesus Christ has gone to his rich reward, having planted much good seed, watered with many tears and fertilized with many prayers. His harvest will be following him along the road he traveled—the road marked with the blood-prints made by his Master's feet.—W. W. Carroll.

OWEN MADISON PONDER departed this life at the parsonage for superannuates in Grantville, Ga., December 13, 1919. He was thirty-five years old, having been born at Lone Oak, Ga., on October 2, 1884. That was not a long life, as men count such things, but it was long enough for him to make himself immortal. He was converted when eleven years old, and at that time was called of God to preach. With this purpose firmly fixed as his life work, plans and preparations were made accordingly. Having been licensed to preach in 1905, he entered the itineracy, joining the North Georgia Conference in 1909, and was assigned to Chickamauga for his first pastorate. His Conference history is as follows: Chickamauga, 1910-11; Primrose Circuit, 1912; Palmetto Circuit, 1913-14; Clarkesville Circuit, 1915-16; St. Paul (Gainesville), 1917-18; Senoia, 1919. In the middle of the year, on the last charge, his health failed and he had to relinquish the work, going to a special hospital in New York, where he stayed several months, seeking in vain for restoration to health. Gradually growing weaker, he returned home, was superannuated by his Conference, and given a home in the parsonage for superannuates at Grantville, where he lingered a few weeks until God sent for him. White-souled and clean in life, he was faithful in every relationship sustained. Timid and retiring by nature, one had to know him to appreciate his worth. Gentleness and kindness were shining elements in his character. He was a good preacher and faithful pastor. Studious and clear in thinking, he was effective in preaching. His was an ever-widening and deepening influence for good among those with whom he labored. He looked diligently after every interest of the Church, making full proof of his ministry. Those who knew him best loved him most. He was twice married—the first time to Miss White, of Round Oak, who lived but a few months; and the second time to Miss Fox, of Jackson, Miss., who, with two little girls, survives him. Poor in this world's goods, yet rich in faith and good works, this husband and father left an inheritance far richer than any gold could buy. The fires of suffering burned away the dross, so, when called away, his shining spirit went joyously to his home in heaven.—J. W. Quillian.

BRITTON SANDERS was born at Danielsville, Ga., September 19, 1834, and died September 22, 1920. His parents, Hardy Thurmond and Mary Ware Sanders, were devout Methodists, so that he had the gracious privilege of being reared in a Christian home. Their godly admonition and example bore visible fruit in his life when, in his thirteenth year, he "avouched the Lord to be his God" and united with the Church. On November 6, 1862, while at home from the army on furlough, he was married to Miss Sarah E. Daniel. This union was disrupted by the death of the wife on May 2, 1869, and on May 29, 1870, he was married to Miss Fannie D. Rucker. For well-nigh forty-nine years they walked together, and then she entered a little ahead of him into that "city which hath foundations." Of the four children which were the fruit of this marriage, three survive both parents: Rev. A. B. Sanders (of the North Georgia Conference), Mrs. J. W. Beauchamp, and R. D. Sanders. Brother Sanders was licensed to preach in May, 1856, and the next year he had his first experience in the pastorate as junior supply on the Carnesville Circuit. The following year, 1858, he was admitted on trial into the Georgia Conference, so that, at the time of his death, he was in the sixty-second year of his itinerancy, forty-seven of which were spent on the effective list. It is interesting to note that his first charge had twenty-seven appointments, and took in all of Franklin, Banks, and Madison Counties, most of Hart, and parts of Hall and Jackson. During the third year of his Conference life the War between the States began. Soon he was in uniform, going out with the Sixteenth Georgia Regiment and continuing in the service until the surrender. Having laid down the weapons of carnal strife at the close of the war, he promptly took up again those which were "mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds." He was appointed to the Carnesville Circuit, this being the third time he served that charge. His further Conference history runs as follows: Hartwell Circuit, 1866-67; Lincolnton Circuit, 1868-69; Homer Circuit, 1870; Canton Circuit, 1871; Cleveland Circuit, 1872; Danielsville Circuit, 1873-75; Fayetteville Circuit, 1876-79; Villa Rica Circuit, 1880-81; Flowery Branch Circuit, 1882-83; Brooks Station Circuit, 1884; Fairburn Circuit, 1885-86; Turin Circuit, 1887-88; Milner Circuit, 1889-90; West Monroe Circuit, 1891-92; Bowman Circuit, 1893-94; Greene Circuit, 1895; Jenkinsburg Circuit, 1896; Athens Circuit, 1897-98; Stone Mountain Circuit, 1899-1900. At the Conference of 1900, finding that he was growing deaf, and feeling that this interfered with his efficiency, he decided to superannuate. From this time until his death he made his home at Stone Mountain. Brother Sanders had only the advantage of a high school education, but he became a clear, strong preacher. His favorite themes were "Prayer" and "The Witness of the Spirit." After he superannuated he continued to attend Sunday school and preaching services. His going away was without struggle or pain.—A. M. Pierce.

J. M. Lovett, P. H. Crumpler, E. H. McGehee. 4.

EDWARD AUGUSTUS HOWARD MCGEEHEE was born in Henderson, Houston County, Ga., May 5, 1839, and died at Cuthbert, Ga., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. P. Elder, March 22, 1920. He was married to Miss Parmelia Ann Westbrook, of Houston County, Ga., December 15, 1857. She died at Montezuma, Ga., June 11, 1910. To them eight children were born, four of whom died in early childhood. Four daughters grew to maturity. One of these, Mrs. Frank Parramore, died at Valdosta in 1910. The three living daughters are: Mrs. H. P. Elder and Miss Ada McGehee, of Cuthbert, and Mrs. B. E. Whittington, wife of Rev. B. E. Whittington, of the South Georgia Conference. Eleven grandchildren are living, one of whom is the wife of Rev. W. J. Churchwell, of the South Georgia Conference. His second marriage was to Mrs. Emma Daniel, of Macon, in July, 1911. She died in February, 1916. Brother McGehee was licensed to preach by the Perry Quarterly Conference, September 16, 1858; and with a class of twenty-four, among whom were Young J. Allen and J. W. Simmons, was admitted on trial into the Annual Conference the same year. He was the last member of the class to pass away. Bishop Pierce ordained him a deacon on December 2, 1860, and elder on November 30, 1862. He was effective for fifty-eight years. He was a superannuate only two years and four months. For only a short time did the Conference have the privilege of administering to his wants through the Board of Finance. Soon after it was found that an infirm and worn body prevented further service here he left it and went where he might continue to serve. And what need to record here the long list of circuits, stations, and districts he served? We somehow fail to connect him in our thoughts with any one of them. He was just one of the preachers of the Conference, and preached to all of South Georgia. His footprints are in the valleys, and on the hills, and by the sea. In the villages and towns and cities his works are established. An army of people are facing heavenward because he lived. His body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Cuthbert, awaiting the resurrection.—O. B. Chester.

JOHN W. DOMINGOS was born in Houston County, Ga., November 9, 1851; and on January 14, 1920, he entered into the life eternal. From the beginning he had the inheritance of a Christian home. His parents were pious people, who dedicated him to God by baptism in his infancy. Under such conditions it was no strange thing that early in his seventeenth year he was born again, and soon thereafter answered the call of God to preach the gospel. In the fall of 1871 he was admitted on trial into the Conference, and for forty-eight years was a faithful and efficient servant of the Church. It was not his fortune to have had the advantage of a high school or college training, but he had a genius for application, and soon acquired quite a knowledge of books. His desire "to excel to the edifying of the Church" led him early in his ministry to the study of Greek and Hebrew, and, placing himself under competent teachers, he was able in a short time to read the Scriptures in both tongues. He grew rapidly as a preacher and often his sermons were delivered with remarkable power. He had great success as a revivalist, and many can testify that under his ministry they were led to Christ. The love of Christ at all times constrained him. The Son of God to him was no dim, historic figure, but a real, living Lord, whose presence he felt, and whose spirit was incarnate in his life. His beloved companion, who had journeyed with him for forty-five years, found these words written on the flyleaf of his Bible: "This evening I have finished reading through my Bible the thirty-eighth time. May the Lord write it in my heart!" It was his joy to proclaim it. At times when commending the mercy and love of God and pleading with sinners to accept his Lord, his voice was as soft as the tones of a flute and as tender as a mother's lullaby; but when warning the wicked of the wrath of God and the terrors of the judgment, it was like peals of thunder that announce the coming storm. Brother Domingos was a companionable man. He easily made friends and held them to him, as "with hooks of steel." He was without guile. There was nothing sinister in his nature. He was as transparent as the light. He was a man of prayer, of much prayer. In the quiet of his home, in the closed closet, he acquired that most difficult of Christian virtues, the habit of prayer, and those of us who have heard him pray in the congregation of the saints instinctively felt that the act of his kneeling in prayer was the signal for lifting the veil that separates from the "holy of holies." For nearly fifty years he labored among us in the gospel, and by his consecrated life adorned the doctrine he loved so much to preach. In the early part of the year his health failed and he was forced to ask for and was granted the superannuate relation. He went to the home of his son in Macon, Ga., to spend the remnant of his days, but in less than three months the summons came and he quietly and peacefully fell asleep in Jesus. He left behind him a sorrowing wife and son, and a good name above the price of rubies.—J. P. McFerrin.

PLEASANT H. CRUMPLER was born near Snow, in Dooly County, Ga., in 1851, and died February 28, 1920. He was married in 1876 to Miss Linnie Cox, the union being blessed with five children, all of whom preceded him. He was married the second time to Miss Annie Caldwell, of Midway, Ala., who survives him. The record of the labors of our brother, in bare outline of place and year, is as follows: In 1874, Boston and Spring Hill; 1875, Washington Circuit; 1876, Stewart; 1877-78, Ellaville; 1879-81, Springfield; 1882-85, East Macon; 1886-87, Bainbridge and Whigham. In 1888 he was sent to Trinity as assistant pastor, but transferred before the end of the year to Texas, where he remained only one year, reporting again to his own Conference, where he was assigned to the Gordon Circuit. He was on the Alapaha Circuit, including Tifton, in 1891-92; on the Blakely Circuit in 1893; at Fort Gaines in 1894; at Jesup and Johnson Station in 1895; at Ashburn in 1896. In the fall of 1896, because of a long growing trouble with cararact, his eyesight failed him and he was superannuated. He did not, however, remain idle during this period of superannuation, but spent the years 1897-98 in evangelizing in North and South Carolina, where the power of God rested in a singular degree upon his labors. A successful operation having been performed on his eyes, he reentered the pastorate and served the Geneva charge in 1901 and the Irwinton Circuit in 1902. In 1903 and 1904 he was on the Brewton Circuit, and in 1905 on the Brooklet Circuit. After two years on the Eureka Circuit and the Belleville Circuit, in 1908 he went on the retired list again; but filled in 1909 an unexpired term on the Guysie and Alma Circuit. During his last superannuation, he labored hard with his hands to supplement the small appropriation from the Conference, finding strength and refreshment in preaching as opportunities arose, and in the regular attendance on all the Church services. His last years were spent in Ashburn, where he was happy in the love of the people he had faithfully served, and where last Christmas they gave the weary itinerant a home as an expression of their appreciation. He lived his later years longing and praying for, and in lamenting the lack of, revivals such as had been common when souls were powerfully saved and sanctified in such large numbers. Brother Crumpler believed in holiness of heart and strived to realize holiness of life; he believed and loved the early appearance of the Lord; he believed in the widest range of prayer, and during the suffering of his last sickness prayed for a sick child, and before dying was able to rejoice with the mother on receiving the little one as restored from the dead. No wonder the people among whom he spent his last years, by formal resolution, lamented his loss by death, and registered a fuller consecration because of his life.—G. W. Mathews.

JAMES M. LOVETT was born in Screven County, Ga., September 23, 1849; died in Louisville, Ga., October 3, 1920. His father, Dr. R. W. Lovett, was a practicing physician, farmer, and an honored and effective local preacher of the Methodist Church. His mother was a daughter of the sainted Bishop James Osgood Andrew, D.D., of sacred memory to Southern Methodists. He therefore came of good Methodist stock who knew and loved the doctrines and polity of the Methodist Church. He was born and reared in an atmosphere of piety, the influence of which followed through life. The home of Dr. R. W. Lovett was the Bethel of the many Methodist preachers who served the Church to which he belonged. In this way he was early acquainted with the life of the itinerant Methodist preacher. His home was pervaded with an atmosphere of refinement, culture, and learning, and he early came to love the higher and better things of life. His early education began in the public school and when he was sufficiently prepared he was sent to Emory College, Oxford, Ga., from which institution he graduated. It was while he was a student at Emory that he formed the acquaintance of Miss Maud Calloway, daughter of Dr. Morgan Calloway, Professor of English and Vice President of Emory College, to whom he was married at Oxford, Ga., by Rev. Walter Branham in March, 1879. For a little more than forty-one years they made the pilgrimage together, happy in the work of the Church, each supporting the other in the efficient and faithful service they rendered in the cause of the Master. His good wife is left on this side to make the rest of the pilgrimage alone. Besides his wife he leaves one brother,

Dr. W. C. Lovett, a member of this Conference, younger than himself in years, but older by a few years in the ministry, known to all of us by his eminent service in the Church, other relatives, and a host of friends who mourn his going away. Brother Lovett was converted early in life and joined the Church in a meeting held by his pastor, Rev. Edwin Burch. After his graduation at Emory College he taught school for several years, feeling the call to preach but refusing to yield. Sickiness came to his wife, death seemed to be knocking at the door, and he promised God that if he would spare her he would preach the gospel. God answered this prayer and he at once took up the work of the ministry. He applied for admission into the Conference at Columbus, Ga., in 1881, and in a class of seven he was received on trial into the traveling connection of the South Georgia Conference. In the thirty-seven years of his active ministry he served as follows: Cataula Circuit, 1882; Marion Circuit, 1883; Davisboro Circuit, 1884-85; Guyton, 1886-89; Quitman, 1890-93; Brunswick, First Church, 1894; Savannah, Grace Church, 1895-96; McRae and Lumber City, 1897-99; Dublin District, 1900-03; Cordele, 1904-05; Savannah District, 1906-09; Blakely, 1910-11; Louisville, 1912-15; Jesup, 1916-18. In all these places he was most acceptable and the people loved him devotedly. As a presiding elder he was loved, trusted, and appreciated by the preachers and people of the districts which he served. Faithfully and tirelessly he looked after the work he was given to do and no cause of the Church ever suffered in his hands. From Jesup in 1918 Brother Lovett asked for the superannuate relation and retired from the active ministry and moved to Louisville, Ga., where he had a host of friends. He said many times that he would not wait to be asked to retire from active work, and he did not. He might have continued in the active work until his death if he desired, for his last charge was anxious to retain him as pastor there. The brief time that he remained on the retired list was happily spent. He went regularly to church, preached frequently for the pastor at Louisville, and many times for the Baptist and Presbyterian pastors. He also very often taught the Bible class in the Sunday school. He took an active interest in all the work of the Church till the day of his death. He was a striking and effective preacher, taking but little time for the introduction of his sermon, going straight to the heart of his theme, stating in concise and sharp sentences the great truths of the gospel. He was a great sufferer through the years and it was marvelous how he wrought so ceaselessly and effectively with his almost constant troubles. In the beginning of his last illness he realized and said that he was near the end of the way. His last days were full of peace. He passed without a struggle and with a smile on his face. There were no billows, and no moaning of the bar when he put out to sea. He sleeps in the cemetery at Louisville, Ga.—N. H. Williams.

JAMES PATRICK PATE was born in Wayne County, N. C., February 7, 1868, and died in Memorial Hospital, Richmond, Va., May 18, 1920. He was the son of Martin and Elizabeth Pate. He received his early educational training in the public schools of his native county and the Fremont High School. Having a thirst for higher ideals and greater intellectual attainments than were offered to him in his home county, he sought the best and entered Trinity College, Randolph County, where he spent three and one-half years in diligent study.
He left college in his senior year on account of the serious illness of his father. After leaving college he taught for some time before entering into his life work. Besides a wife and two sons, he leaves two brothers also to mourn their loss. His mother preceded him only a few short weeks to the spirit land. The suddenness of her passing came as a great shock, as he himself was quite ill. Brother Pate joined the North Carolina Conference at Goldsboro in 1892, and served the following charges: Straits Circuit, 1893; Prospect Circuit, 1894; Pekin Circuit, 1895; Roberdel Circuit, 1896-99; Lumberton Circuit, 1900-03; Hookerton Circuit, 1904-06; Battleboro Circuit, 1907; Harrellsville Circuit, 1908-09; Carteret Circuit, 1910-11; Whiteville Circuit, 1912-15; Bladen Street, 1916; Kenansville Circuit, 1917; Dover Circuit, 1918-19. A glance at the above will show that Brother Pate was highly honored. A less courageous spirit would sooner have given out with such an arduous task. To him the call of God was first, and the order of his bishop was a marching order. No doubt at times he was discouraged, but his brave spirit spelled victory. Brother Pate was very quiet and unassuming in his make-up. When it became known that he had to go to the hospital, his people immediately provided funds to bear the expenses. The devotion of the Dover people was beautiful. When the news flashed that Brother Pate was dead a pall of gloom settled over the community. Brother Pate has "finished his course, and kept the faith."—F. E. Dixon.

ANDREW PERRY TYER was born in Columbia, Tenn., March 31, 1853. He was the son of John Montgomery and Marnita Gaskill Tyer, who soon after their marriage moved from Greensboro, N. C., to the place above mentioned, but who finally returned to North Carolina and spent their last days in the home of their nativity. Young Andrew came to North Carolina for his high school education, and it was at this time that he was converted at a camp meeting near Jonesville, N. C., in 1875. Then events developed rapidly. He felt the call to the ministry, and determined to make the best preparation for it that he could. He entered Trinity College, then located in Randolph County, in 1876, and was graduated in 1878. There is a combination of dates here that does not follow the usual order of our day, but Brother Tyer was not a usual man. He entered Trinity College in 1876; married Miss Mary S. Coltrane, daughter of Jesse F. Coltrane, and a sister of Rev. N. E. Coltrane, of the North Carolina Conference, December 28, 1876, Dr. Braxton Craven, President of Trinity College, performing the ceremony; joined the North Carolina Conference at Salisbury, N. C., in 1877; graduated from Trinity College in 1878. Few men can pass such important events in life in such rapid succession. Brother Tyer had a remarkably varied and useful ministry, covering a period of forty-one years to his superannuation at Goldsboro, in 1918. During this time he served the following charges: Asheboro, 1878-79; Carthage, 1880-81; Lumberton, 1882-83; St. John's Station, 1884-85; Mooresville Circuit, 1886; Pineville Circuit, 1887-88; Monroe Station, 1889-90; Charlotte District, 1891-93; Statesville District, 1894; Mount Airy Station, 1895; field work for Trinity College, 1896; Elizabeth City District, 1897; Grace and Bladen Streets, Wilmington, 1898-99; Main Street, Durham, 1900; Wilson, 1901-04; First Church, Elizabeth City, 1905-06; Washington Station, 1907-08; Maxton and Caledonia, 1909-11; Oxford, 1912-15; Selma, 1916; Littleton, 1917-18. As stated above, he was given a superannuate relation at Goldsboro in 1918, and spent the remainder of his life at Greensboro, passing peacefully to his reward October 5, 1920. This list of appointments shows the wide range of experience he had in ministerial work. It carried him into practically all parts of the State. He joined the Conference some twelve or thirteen years before the division, and six years of that time was spent within the bounds of the present North Carolina Conference. He spent twelve years of his ministry in the bounds of what is now the Western North Carolina Conference, being at work on that side of the line when the Conference was divided. In 1895 or 1896 he transferred to the North Carolina Conference, in which he spent the remainder of his active ministry. He was thus brought into intimate contact with all sections of our State, from the mountains to the sea. And then he served all classes of charges—circuits, stations, districts, small stations, large stations. He was particularly interested in Christian education. He was for many years a member of the Board of Trustees of Trinity College, and was always loyal in its support. He was a member of the committee appointed by the North Carolina Conference to effect the legal transfer of its property interests to this Conference, when Mr. B. N. Duke, whose father had previously bought the property to save the institution to the Church, made the proposition to turn Louisburg College over in legal form to the Conference. Together with the writer he labored to organize its original Board of Trustees and secure a proper charter for the institution. He was pastor in Maxton about the time, or soon thereafter, that Carolina College was coming to its birth, and was for a time a member of the Board of Trustees of that institution. For three consecutive quadrenniums he was president of the Conference Board of Education. Brother Tyer was a clear thinker, a strong preacher, and a man of splendid social qualities. He was a conversationalist with exceptional capacity for interesting his hearers, and he loved the society of his friends. He mixed and mingled with men with ease, and was the center of almost any circle that he entered. He had the power to bind men to him in the bonds of a strong friendship, and he gave himself unstintedly to his friends. Always bright and cheerful himself, he imparted his spirit of optimism to those with whom he was associated. He died as he had lived—in conscious fellowship with God. Shortly before the end, his pastor, Dr. E. L. Bain, stood by his bedside. The hand of disease had paralyzed Brother Tyer's power of speech, but he was in possession of his mental faculties. Dr. Bain said to him that he knew it was difficult for him to speak—not to try to do that; but, if it was all right with him, to raise his hand. A smile spread over his features, and he lifted both hands. A few hours later he crossed the great divide. His funeral service was conducted from West Market Street Methodist Church, Greensboro, October 6, 1920, by Dr. E. L. Bain, assisted by Rev. S. B. Turrentine, D.D., president of Greensboro College, and Rev. J. H. Barnhardt, presiding elder of the Greensboro District, and his body was laid to rest in Green Hill Cemetery. He is survived by his wife, two sons (W. B. Tyer, of Greensboro, and J. J. Tyer, of Helsingfors, Finland), and three daughters (Mrs. S. P. Colliers, of Winston-Salem, Mrs. W. T. Sawyer, of Elizabeth City, and Miss Edna Tyer, of Greensboro). One of the leading personalities of North Carolina Methodism has gone on before, but we shall know where to find him; and while it brings us an hour of sorrow, it is one of undimmed hope.—L. S. Massey.

GEORGE WASHINGTON GORDON, son of Jonathan and Naomi Gordon, was born in Lafayette County, Miss., January 29, 1855; and died at Aberdeen, Miss., December 7, 1919. He was converted in 1870; licensed to preach in November, 1874; admitted into the North Mississippi Conference on trial in November, 1876; ordained deacon in 1877 and elder in 1879. He served the following charges: 1878, Fulton; 1879-80, Athens; 1881-82, Shannon; 1883, Kossuth; 1884, Jonesboro; 1885, Ripley and Blue Mountain; 1886, Iuka Station; 1887-88, Fulton; 1889, Greenwood and Carrollton; 1890-93, Coffeeville; 1894, Nesbit; 1895, Guntown; 1896-97, Columbus Circuit; 1898, Itta Bena and Sidon; 1899, Ethel; 1900-01, Ackerman; 1902-04, Europa and Maben; 1905-06, Courtland; 1907, supernumerary; 1908, Myrtle; 1909, Kossuth; 1910, supernumerary; 1911, Vaiden; 1912, Mantachie; 1913-14, Sherman; 1915, Chester; 1916-19, Noxapater. Brother Gordon was married on January 28, 1876, to Miss Callie Bowlen, of Saltillo, Miss., who died August 15, 1911. On December 27, 1911, he was married to Miss Mattie Morgan, of Carroll County. Of this marriage came Sarah, his only child. Brother Gordon possessed the fundamental elements which go to make a real preacher. He was a converted man. He knew in whom he believed. He was not only born into the kingdom of God, but he lived in the atmosphere of an abiding experience. He read and knew the Scriptures. He had definite ideas as to what the Scriptures teach. He believed that his Church had best interpreted the Word of God. He was a profoundly convinced Methodist and could ever render out of the Scriptures a ground for the hope that was in him. He preached great fundamental things and he did so with great strength and force. He was among the last of the fast-vanishing class of preachers who, with clear insight and strong conviction, preach the great fundamental doctrines of the Churches. Brother Gordon was a fond, devoted, and considerate husband and loving father. His home life was in keeping with the high standards of the religion he professed. He was a faithful friend, a good citizen, and a courageous, noble, and sincerely honest man. After serving the quadrennium on the last charge he filled, he went to Aberdeen to attend what was to be his last Conference. All unconscious of the fact that he was fatally stricken, he persisted in going to what was to him the place of duty. Before he could meet with his brethren in Conference session, he had to take the bed of sickness from which he was never again to rise. A three weeks' struggle with influenza and pneumonia followed, during much of which time he passed the weary, painful hours in expressions of joy and praises to God.—N. G. Augustus.

JOSEPH DUCKWORTH NEWSOM, son of James Newsom, was born in Louisiana, on March 17, 1828; and died in Meridian, Miss., December 18, 1919. He was three times married. His first wife, Sarah A. James, was the mother of his six children, all of whom preceded the father to the spirit world except one son. Miss Frances James was his second wife and Miss Lelia McCracken his third. Brother Newsom was converted in 1839 and was received into the Mississippi Conference in 1848 and served the following appointments: Coles Creek, 1849; Tallulah, 1850; Princeton and Hampton Plantations, 1851; Lake Washington, 1852; Wilkinson, 1853; Bayou Sarah, 1854; Laurel Hill and Barrow's Chapel, 1855; Wilkinson, 1856-57; North Warren, 1858-59; Hildale, 1860-61; Black Hawk, 1862-63; Holmes, 1864-65; Black Hawk, 1866-68; Lexington, 1869-70. At the close of the latter year, the North Mississippi Conference was organized and he was returned to Lexington for 1871-72; Vaiden, 1873; Liberty, 1874-75; Louisville, 1876-79; Bolivar Station, 1880; Greenwood, 1881; Minter City, 1882; Indian Bayou and Faison, 1883-84; Deer Creek, 1885-86; Friars Point, 1887; Huntington and Mound Bayou, 1888; Duncan and Friendship, 1889; Hebron, 1890; Kossuth, 1891; Sparta, 1892-93; Ethel, 1894; Newport, 1895; superannuated, 1896-98; Longtown, 1899; Cedar Bluff, 1900; then superannuated until his translation in December, 1919. Thus was spent a ministerial career of seventy-one years. In physique he was slender, sinewy, supple. He carried no surplus flesh. His was an unabused body, hence his longevity. No stimulant or narcotic had weakened or destroyed a fiber or function of his frame. He realized the necessity of caring for the house in which his spirit lived and worked. With human help, the Spirit may Christianize both body and soul. There was a quaintness about Brother Newsom that enriched his own life and others which he touched. Into the darkest situation he would often flash a light that would clear up the most perplexing questions. The brightness of his spirit made the hardest charges more endurable. Practice of what he conceived to be right kept his moral vision clear. One view of a situation gave him instant decision as to the right, and his course was settled. It never entered his mind to consider his own popularity or the opinion of others. So simple and sincere were his intuitions of propriety and good morals that observers noted wholesome distinctions. His position on moral issues was never in doubt. He became an epistle known and read of all men. His life was a luminous comment on the sanctity of the Sabbath. God had set the day apart and no compromise was tolerable. Joy-riding and theaters open on the Sabbath on the pretense of recreation for laborers were shams that stirred his righteous soul. Worldliness in the Church gave him great concern and drew forth his wise and helpful counsel. There was no middle ground for the Christian, according to his faith and conscience. In the days of the fathers he would have been called a Puritan. His consistency of conduct and life gave great steadiness to the congregations to which he ministered, as well as to his brethren in the ministry. His devotion to the cause of Christianity was nothing short of inspiring. He began itinerant work when charges were large and laborious, when luxuries were almost unknown and comforts were scarce. Churches were poorly built and poorly furnished, generally very uncomfortable. But this diligent servant sought out such places for more than half a century that he might tell the people of Jesus and his love. Roads were bad, churches far apart, bridges few, accommodations for shelter and food most uninviting. Often rooms were open and fireless with slight covering for beds. In addition, the salary was small—too small for providing adequately for the necessities of life. However, he served uncomplainingly, like his Master. It was a mark of his ministry, as of that of the Master, that "the poor have the gospel preached unto them." His intuition of right and his readiness to carry out his convictions, his devotion to Christ, his unswerving and unceasing fidelity to duty made him a notable man and minister of Jesus Christ. The impress of his godly life will not soon pass from those to whom he ministered and with whom he associated. His body was laid to rest in the city of Meridian to await the resurrection after services conducted by Rev. H. B. Watkins and other ministers present.—John Ritchie.

THOMAS COKE WIER was born December 15, 1827, in Greene County, Ala. His father, Rev. William Wier, was born in Ireland on June 5, 1793. His family came to America in 1795 and settled in South Carolina. Here William grew to manhood and was married to Miss Elizabeth Lipscomb, a sister of Dr. Dabney Lipscomb, who spent the greater part of his long and useful life in Columbus, Miss. William Wier and wife joined the Methodist Church, he from a Presbyterian and she from a Methodist family. They finally settled in Greene County, Alabama. William Wier was licensed to preach in 1829 and in 1830 he was admitted into the Methodist traveling connection. He was one of that faithful band who wrought mightily under God to establish Methodism in Alabama and in some of the border counties of Mississippi. He died in the faith in 1853 and with his wife sleeps in the Odd Fellows Cemetery at Columbus, Miss. Brother Wier was graduated in 1849 from La Grange College, Alabama. Later from this same college he received the degree of Master of Arts. After his graduation he remained in this college two years as principal of the grammar school and as the assistant in the department of languages. In the spring of 1854 he graduated from a medical college in Charleston, S. C. While pursuing his medical studies, Dr. Wier was deeply impressed with a call to the ministry. He was licensed to preach in the fall of 1854 and in December, at Talladega, he was admitted on trial into the Alabama Conference. His first appointment was Montevallo Station. He remained at Montevallo for two years, which was then the time limit. Dr. Wier had no house of worship there and but few members. At the close of his second year there was a gracious revival and on the last Sunday of the Conference year a new Methodist church was dedicated by Dr. T. W. Dorman, of the Alabama Conference. His second appointment was Wesley Chapel, Mobile. In the second year of his pastorate there he was happily married, on May 4, 1858, to Miss Mary L. Baker, whose father, Col. R. A. Baker, was a prominent layman in Alabama Methodism. In 1859 Dr. Wier was stationed at Livingston. In 1860 he was presiding elder of the Macon District and continued in this appointment until 1862, when he became a chaplain in the Confederate Army. He was chaplain for two years and then he was agent for the Soldiers' Tract Association. He served in this position, with Rev. R. J. Harp, until the close of the war. In 1865-66 he taught in Summerfield College; in 1869-70 he was presiding elder of the Columbus District, but still in the Mobile Conference. At the end of the year 1870, by change of Conference boundaries, Dr. Wier became a member of the North Mississippi Conference. For eight years he was president of the Verona Female College. During this time he was pastor at Verona six years and at Okolona one. In 1879 he was presiding elder of the Holly Springs District. In 1880 he was principal of the Grenada Institute, and in connection with his college duties he supplied the Winona and Vaiden charge. From 1880 to 1884 he was again presiding elder of the Columbus District. From 1884 to 1888 he served the Sardis and Davis Chapel charge. In 1889 he taught in the North Mississippi College and served the Okolona Station. Two years, 1890-91, he was pastor of the Starkville Station. For the two succeeding quadrenniums he was presiding elder of the Columbus and Sardis Districts, respectively. From 1899 to 1903 he was stationed at Lexington and Tchula; in 1904-05 at Booneville; in 1905-06 at Coldwater and Love's Station. This was his last regular work. He had been in the effective ranks for fifty-two years. At the Annual Conference in 1906 he was given the superannuate relation. Dr. Wier was a delegate to the General Conference in 1882 at Nashville, Tenn., and in 1886 at Richmond Va. At Coldwater in 1906 his faithful wife closed her beautiful and consistent Christian life. For more than forty-eight years she had been the loving, sympathetic, and helpful companion of her husband. Ten children blessed their union. One died in infancy; seven sons and two daughters lived to be grown. One son, Baker A., died some years ago at Fort Smith, Ark.; another, William Benson, died at Little Rock, Ark., in December, 1919. Dr. Wier is survived by five sons and two daughters: Howard Baker, of Fort Smith, Ark.; Frank L. and Robert K., of Starkville, Miss.; John Stuart, of Charlotte, N. C.; T. C., of Fort Smith, Ark.; Mrs. A. W. Bonnell and Mrs. K. M. Rowe, of Oklahoma. Dr. Wier was much beloved in the charges where he served. In Starkville, Miss., where he spent several years both as presiding elder and pastor in charge, and the greater part of his superannuated and his superannuate days, few men have been more greatly missed. He went frequently into the homes of the people in every station of life, and he went to comfort and to help. He always had a kind word for the children, a kindly interest in the young, friendly counsel for the mature, sympathy for the aged, and love for all. On August 29, 1920, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Bonnell, in Muskogee, Okla., Dr. Wier passed from earth to his heavenly reward. He was in the ninety-third year of his life and the sixty-sixth of his ministry. His remains were brought from Muskogee to Starkville. The funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church by the pastor, assisted by Rev. W. M. Young, Rev. Chester Ray, and Rev. W. H. Hill, of the local Presbyterian Church.—J. T. McCafferty.

IRBY FOX HOLLAND was born February 27, 1888, at Walthall, Miss.; and died at Nashville, Tenn., May 6, 1920. He was well born, his father and mother being of the sturdy stock whose integrity was above reproach. He attended the Clarkson Academy, located near the place of his birth, and after several years of close application to his books he entered Vanderbilt University and took a theological course, graduating from that institution in 1913. He was converted in early boyhood and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Soon after his conversion he began to take active part in religious services, conducting prayer meetings and leading in other devotional services. Later he applied for license to preach, which was granted under the administration of Rev. E. S. Lewis, then the presiding elder of the Winona District. In the fall of 1913 he was admitted on trial into the traveling connection of the North Mississippi Conference and remained a faithful member of our brotherhood until the Master bade him rest from his labors. He was married to Miss Lucy Taft, of Nashville, Tenn., on September 24, 1914. To this union two children were born, both of whom, with the faithful wife, survive him. He served the following charges: Lambert, 1914-15; Macon Circuit, 1916-17; Gunnison, 1918-19. He was granted the superannuate relation at the close of 1919. Soon after he was assigned to Gunnison for the second year he contracted the influenza while ministering to others of his town who had fallen victims to this dreaded disease. He was quite ill for several weeks, but was convalescing rapidly when a call came to bury a little Italian child. He knew he was weak, but the case was pathetic and he could not resist. The exposure was too much for his enfeebled body and he relapsed with pneumonia. He lingered in the twilight of two worlds for nearly five weeks before he passed the crisis and began to recover. But before he was able to be out again it was discovered that pulmonary trouble had developed and then came the final battle for life. The physicians advised him to go to North Carolina to a sanitarium. Later he was moved to McGee, Miss., so that he could be near his relatives and intimate friends. Brother Holland was a gifted preacher. No young man of our Conference had brighter prospects for the future. His preaching was of the evangelistic type, and his revival efforts resulted in splendid success. His sermons showed careful preparation and were delivered with unction and power. He possessed a simple, childlike faith in God. When the dews of the last evening were upon his brow his heart was still warm with the fires from God's altar. In death his faith was triumphant. His body was laid away in the Nashville cemetery to await the resurrection morning, and his soul mounted on the wings of the angels who came to carry him home.—V. C. Curtis.

JOHN WILLIAM PRICE, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Baker Price, was born at La Grange, Mo., December 30, 1842; and passed to his reward from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Likens, at Somerville, Tenn., on June 22, 1920. While he was yet an infant his parents moved to Russellville, Ky., where he grew to manhood. He attended college at Bowling Green, securing an education far above the average for that time, and becoming fixed in habits of study which remained with him to the end. In 1869 he was married to Miss Mary E. Valentine, who preceded him to the great beyond by some three or four years. To them were born six children, three of whom survive: Mrs. C. E. Wright, of Greenwood, Miss., Mr. Will Price, of Corinth, Miss., and Mrs. Margaret Likens, of Somerville, Tenn. Though he was licensed to preach at the early age of twenty, his heart was set on the study and practice of medicine and he was for some six years a "beloved physician." However, there was constantly with him a vision of human needs which could only be met by the Great Physician, and his loyal soul could not long content itself with merely ministering to the bodies of men. So in the fall of 1868 he forever laid aside the practice of medicine and enrolled his name with the knights of the saddlebags, becoming a member of the Louisville Conference. Here he served Hopkinsville, Henderson, Auburn, and Bowling Green Circuit. In 1879 the condition of his health was such that he sought a milder climate and he came to the North Mississippi Conference. In his new field of labor he at once took high rank, having been placed in charge of the Greenville District in his second year. He later served Water Valley, Columbus, Starkville, Greenwood, Holly Springs, the Grenada District, and other important charges, and was everywhere beloved for his genial, kindly spirit and honored for his loyal devotion to the cause of righteousness. His pastorates were notably evangelistic, gracious revivals attending his ministry of the Word. He was never happier than when engaged in leading souls to Christ. Only a few weeks before his death he gave active assistance to a brother minister in a revival. His preaching was orderly, lucid, appealing. His pathos was deep and sincere, moving the hearts of those who listened. On occasions he was genuinely eloquent. Few ministers excelled him in knowledge and appreciation of music. He loved to sing, taught his children to sing in home and church, and always had the best choir in the town where he preached. His was a glad gospel, bringing peace to his own heart and joy to others. It made him cheery in the social circle and sweet and tender in his home. It fell to his lot to give battle in the contest of his State with the open saloon, and liquor men dreaded the mettle of his blade. Threats did not daunt him nor opposition discourage him. He was faithful and true. He often spoke of the nearness of heaven. To him death did not mean a long journey and the crossing of a great river. He quietly fell on sleep and woke up with God. May his mantle fall on his sons in the gospel and benedictions abide with his children! —J. R. Countiss.

JOSEPH WHARTON REPASS was born in Bland County, Va., November 8, 1861; and died in San Antonio, Tex., October 24, 1919. He was an educator, and President of Westmoorland College until failing health caused him to relinquish that position. He went to San Antonio from Russellville, Ky., in 1917, and became President of San Antonio Female College. He founded Russell College, Virginia, in 1893. Later he was Professor of Natural Science in Martha Washington College, at Abingdon, Va. In 1902 he became Principal in Woodson Institute, Richmond, Va. Since then he had been President of four of the prominent colleges for women and girls in the South: Clarksville Female Academy, in Tennessee, 1904-05; Centenary Female College, at Cleveland, Tenn., 1905-10; Logan Female College, at Russellville, Ky., 1910-17, when he came to San Antonio. At a younger age he had been Principal of Greenwood High School, in Virginia, and taught in Holston and Zollicoffer Institutes. When Dr. Repass came to San Antonio, his reputation as an educator was very high, and he was giving great satisfaction as President of Westmoorland College when he resigned, on account of poor health. When he was licensed to preach, at Gate City, Va., he immediately showed power and qualifications as a pulpit man. His accurate knowledge of the doctrines of the Church, his character, and his presentation of the gospel in sermons caught the attention of the public. Soon after he left college he was married to Miss Sadie Lacy, of Mendota, Va., who survives him, as Principal of Westmoorland College, with her two children. He was a man of most unselfish spirit, of marked purity and nobility of life, and his departure is deeply felt by the West Texas Conference.—H. G. H.

TEMPLE G. WOOLLS, son of James Selby and Ann Syndor Woolls, was born at Louisville, Ky., February 12, 1838; and died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. P. Guinn, at Cotulla, Tex., May 25, 1920. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, since 1856; was licensed to preach in 1873 and admitted on trial into the West Texas Conference at Lockhart the same year. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Keener in 1874, and elder by Bishop Doggett in 1876. He continued in the active work until 1882, when he asked for and was granted a location. From that day until 1898 he was constantly engaged in teaching in the public schools, in which work he was very successful. From 1898 until 1908 he was engaged as a supply, serving various charges with great acceptability. In 1908 he was readmitted into the traveling connection, which relation he sustained to the time of his death, though for some years he had been on the superannuate roll. He was a man of rare gifts and rare culture. He was a master of beautiful and persuasive English, and was a preacher of great popularity, literary in his tastes, and a man of wide reading. He knew well how to lead a sinner to Christ, for through dark waters and temptations he had been led that way himself. His father was an old Kentucky preacher, but died in the West Texas Conference in 1878. Most of his life and work lay among the hardy frontiersmen of the Southwest, where in school and preaching a stirring Methodist gospel he occupied a wide field of usefulness.—H. G. H.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? John Helpinstill, J. B. Turrentine. 2.

JOHN HELPINSTILL was born near Lynn Flat, Nacogdoches County, Tex., September 28, 1859. He was married on May 2, 1880, licensed to preach on November 18, 1882, and admitted on trial into the East Texas Conference on November 28, 1883. He was ordained deacon at Beaumont by Bishop McTyeire in 1885 and elder at Marshall by Bishop Duncan in 1887. He made a good record as an itinerant preacher, going always willingly to the work assigned him, and returning at the end of the year with a good report. He was forced by ill health to take a superannate relation after only a few years of service, but did not cease to render service to the Church with his superannuation. Though frail and suffering from frequent hemorrhages, he continued to preach acceptably as often as his condition permitted. He passed peacefully away at Cushing, Tex., on April 20, 1920.

JAMES BRYSON TURRENTINE was born in Daingerfield, Tex., January 28, 1864, and died September 5, 1920. He was in the highest and best sense a self-made man. Thrown on his own resources in early life, the man that was to be began to struggle in him, and whether as shopkeeper, farmer, ranchman, train conductor, or yardmaster, each was made a stepping stone upward to the goal he had set for himself. He sought knowledge in the public schools by day, and at night by candle light, the light of pine knot fire and kerosene lamp, until he had laid the foundation of a useful career, when he read law and was admitted to the bar soon after attaining his majority. His license was granted by the district court at Daingerfield, and almost immediately he was elected county attorney of his native county. From the day of his taking office he became a terror to evildoers. He was happily married in 1886. He was converted in 1891, and the same year God called him from the study of law and the acts of legislatures to the study of the Gospels and Acts of the Apostles, and to the ministry of the Word. He was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, but in 1892 resigned his office as county attorney and was admitted on trial into the North Texas Conference, and showed first to the people of Kildare and Queen City, and to all the regions round about, that they should repent; and so powerful was his reasoning and evangelical his preaching that more than three hundred and fifty souls were converted in the first two years of his ministry. Brother Turrentine was an able minister of the word in every way. He knew and expounded the doctrines of the Church with such wisdom and fervor that whether as pastor, presiding elder, or college president he had immediate and lasting results to his ministry. This was not all. He was a good pastor. He fed the flock of God. He ministered to his people in their places of business and led men to Christ. He visited from house to house and prayed around the family altars. With Bible and song he cheered the sick and dying, and at the open grave out of the fullness of his sympathetic heart he comforted the mourners. With all this he was a good business man. His reports were always full, and he left every charge stronger than he found it. He served the following charges: Kildare, 1893; Queen City, 1894-95; Trinity, 1896; San Augustine, 1897; Center, 1898-1901; Willis Point, 1902-04; First Church, Texarkana, 1905-06; First Church, Beaumont, 1907; Bryan, 1908; Texarkana again, 1909-10; Centenary, Palestine, 1911; Navasota District, 1912; Tyler District, 1913; Jacksonville District, 1914; President of Alexander College, 1915; Marshall District, 1916. At the end of this year, his health being poor, he was granted the supernumerary relation and moved to his home in Texarkana, where he was appointed Clerk of the Federal Court and United States Commissioner. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Hargrove in 1894 and elder by Bishop Keener in 1896.—J. T. Smith.

JOHN FRANKLIN WYNN was born near Athens, Limestone County, Ala., February 10, 1836. He was the sixth of a family of eleven children born to John Henry and Frances Martha Brownley Wynn. Their home was the frequent stopping place for the consecrated itinerants who rode the surrounding circuit. The following incident recorded by him, and evidently treasured in his memory, illustrates the vital result of the godly lives and efforts of those pioneers of the Church. He says: "When about four years of age, I remember very distinctly that one of these godly men took me upon his knee and talked so kindly with his hand upon my head that I was impressed with the importance of living a Christian life, and felt that I had rather be a Methodist preacher than anything in the world." In 1850, at the age of fourteen, he attended the Cambridge Camp Meeting, where his parents regularly went as tenters, going, as he says, determined to seek salvation; and after some days of earnest seeking, near the hour of midnight, he realized God's forgiving grace and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in whose membership he spent seventy faithful years. Up to this time neither of his parents was a member of the Church; but the following year, at the same camp ground, and doubtless inspired by the example of their son, they were both converted and joined the Church. In 1857 he moved to Louisiana, and in August of the same year he was licensed to preach by the late Rev. Lewis A. Reed. The following winter he was received on trial into the Louisiana Conference, thus beginning a ministry of sixty-three years within its ranks, of which forty-three were spent on the effective list. In 1859 he was admitted into full connection and ordained deacon by Bishop Andrew. In 1861 he was elected to elder's orders, but on account of the confusion incident to the Civil War no bishop was present to ordain him, and so his ordination was delayed till near the end of the following Conference year. In December, 1862, he was married to Miss Paulina Gorton, of Waterproof, La., who for nearly fifty-six years was not only a faithful companion to him, but an effective helper in his labors, whose quiet and saintly life did much to add to the success of his work. She preceded him to the better world about two years. Of the children born of this marriage, six grew up to mature years, and all of these are still living, fulfilling in earnest Christian lives the hopes and prayers of the godly home in which they were reared. Of these, Rev. Robert H. Wynn, D.D., is a member of the Louisiana Conference; Mrs. Octavia Rickey is the wife of Rev. H. W. Rickey, also of the Louisiana Conference. The others are J. W. Wynn, of Rayne, La., Miss Alice Wynn, of New Orleans, Miss Mary Wynn, of Crowley, and Mrs. E. W. Wall, of Baton Rouge. A sister also survives him, Mrs. Ellen Edwards, of Alexandria, La. Another sister was married to the late Rev. B. F. White and was the mother of Hon. H. H. White, of Alexandria. The charges served by Brother Wynn were: 1858, Floyd, as junior preacher; 1859, Atchafalaya; 1860, Floyd again, as junior preacher; 1861, Chicot Pass; 1862, Trinity Circuit, junior preacher. Immediately following his marriage, at the close of this year, he was stationed at Waterproof; but the county being soon occupied by Federal troops, making it impossible to carry on his work, he was changed to Oakley, in Franklin Parish, where he remained for nearly three years. In 1866 he served the Atlanta charge, and in 1867 and 1868 the same charge with Montgomery added; 1871-74, Rapides Circuit; 1875-78, Columbia; 1879-80, Washington; 1881-82, Plaquemine Brulee; 1883-86, Oak Ridge; 1887-90, Montgomery; 1891-94, Pineville; 1895-96, East Baton Rouge; 1897-1900, East Feliciana. At the close of this year, the forty-third of active service, he was granted a superannuate relation at his own request, on account of failing health, and spent the last twenty years of his life in Crowley, La. At the ripe age of eighty-four, "having served his generation by the will of God, he fell on sleep." A study of the facts behind these simple chronological annals reveals a life rich in piety, abundant in labors, and notable for self-sacrificing fidelity. It is noticeable that in six different charges he remained the full four years allowed by the laws of the Church, and that in several instances he served a second pastorate in the same charge after an interval of a few years. All of these charges, served so faithfully, were inconspicuous and offered scanty financial remuneration; but through all these difficulties there was no complaint, and in spite of them the growing family was educated and prepared for useful life and service. He was never characterized as a preacher of unusual ability and he never occupied prominent places, but wherever he had served there was left behind the universal and emphatic feeling that he was a man of God. He was preëminently a man of prayer. In frequent seasons of private prayer and Bible reading, he waited on the Lord, literally carrying "everything to God in prayer." His fervent and direct petitions in the homes of his people left a benediction behind them. Perhaps the best illustration of the genuineness of his work is to be found in his life as a superannuate. This closing period of his life was a constant and spontaneous ministry to human need, and his home became a resort for those who needed sympathy or counsel or help. An illustration of his quiet influence in these days is to be found in the story of a woman, formerly a Roman Catholic, who was converted in a union meeting. When asked what Church she wished to join, she said, "I want to join the Church that Brother Wynn belongs to." His own religious experience was deep and satisfying. During his earlier ministry, while pastor at Columbia, his attention was directed to the experience of perfect love, and he earnestly sought and claimed the experience of entire sanctification. He passed away on August 4, 1920, and was buried on the day following in the Crowley Cemetery with appropriate services conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. W. Tucker, assisted by Revs. E. C. Gunn and A. I. Townsley. Great crowds of his neighbors of every faith and every station assembled in sincere sorrow to offer the last tribute of affection to "Brother Wynn." He has left to his family and friends, and companions in the ministry of Jesus Christ, a precious heritage of faith and piety, and has gone on to the blessed and eternal fellowship of those "who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."—W. Winans Drake.

JESSE BEN FULTON was born in Natchitoches Parish, near Campti, La., January 16, 1878. He was the son of Rev. Jesse Fulton, one of the pioneer preachers of Louisiana Methodism. His mother, Lucie Hammett, came from a family noted for their piety, loyalty, and devotion to the Church. Having had such a noble parentage, he early made a profession of faith and devoted his whole life to the work of the Church. He was educated in the public schools of our State until he entered Southwestern University, at Georgetown, Tex. He was licensed to preach in 1903 at Shreveport, and served Plain Dealing as a supply during the year 1904. He was admitted on trial into the Louisiana Annual Conference at Lake Charles in December, 1904. His appointments as an itinerant Methodist preacher were as follows: 1905, Pineville; 1906-08, Gilbert; 1909-10, Sibley; 1911-12, Greensburg; 1913-14, St. Francisville; 1915-18, Baker; 1919-20, Franklinton. Brother Fulton was truly a servant of God, and he gave himself whole-heartedly to the great work of carrying the world forward to consummations the most sublime. His physique arrested attention and commanded respect wherever he went. He had a genial disposition without frivolous levity, and a dignified bearing without any austerity. His word was in demonstration of the Spirit and power. Upon his return from Conference last year, he came back with a holy enthusiasm for the evangelistic campaign and set to work immediately to put the Centenary plan in operation. The pulpit was his throne of power. By his preaching, sinners were convicted, mourners comforted, believers edified, and many added unto the Lord. He had just reached the zenith of his power and was destined to reach a high level as a preacher. He was taken with a violent cold which soon developed into pneumonia, and then, to the surprise of every one, was suddenly removed. We like pictures of our friends taken in health and at their best condition. So will we think of Brother Fulton. His death, which occurred on March 4, 1920, was a shock to the entire community. Services were held in the parsonage home, at which time beautiful tributes were paid to him by resident pastors. The body was conveyed to the family burying grounds and laid to rest in the Davis Spring Cemetery, near Campti, La. The funeral services were conducted at the Davis Spring Church by the writer, assisted by Revs. H. B. Thomason and F. N. Sweeney, in the presence of a large gathering of friends, neighbors, and relatives.—Albert S. Lutz.

MARSHALL G. JENKINS was born at Atlanta, Ga., July 7, 1838; and on July 27, 1920, he passed to his heavenly home. He joined the Georgia Conference of the M. E. Church, South, in December, 1859. He was ordained a deacon in 1861 and an elder in 1870. His first year's service was on the Putnam and Colored Mission, beginning there his long and fruitful ministerial life. Afterwards he served the Calhoun Circuit and was pastor at Isabella. Then he was transferred to Texas by Bishop Kavanaugh and stationed at Navasota. Afterwards he served in succession Texarkana, Leesburg, Weiner, Huntsville, Colorado City, Mineola, Gatesville, and Detroit. In December, 1893, he was transferred to the Louisiana Conference, and appointed to Calhoun for 1894. He served Bastrop the two following years, 1895-96; and was pastor at Calhoun the second time in 1897. Subsequently his charges were Covington, Logansport, Mooringsport, and Plain Dealing. Brother Jenkins at one time served the Church in California, but we have no account of his labors there. On December 18, 1902, Brother Jenkins became a superannuate and made his residence in Dallas, always afterwards living in Texas. Rev. J. D. Scott, who assisted in the funeral services, read the following: "Brother Jenkins was fortunately and happily married to Miss Susan Monroe, of Thomasville, Ga., in 1865. She was of the best and highest type of Christian womanhood and a true helpmeet, but she preceded her husband a few years to the glory land. There were born to this union two daughters and one son." Brother Jenkins ranked among the best as a pulpit man and diligent pastor, and was blessed of God in his winning for the Saviour very many precious souls. Of strong and brilliant mind, cultivated and refined, with a loving heart that sought to help and save the lost and comfort the troubled and afflicted, he was a true soldier of Jesus Christ and was careful to preach only the gospel of the Son of God. He has gone home; and having been "faithful unto death," he wears a "crown of life" in the perfect bliss and fadeless glory of the better world.—John T. Sawyer.

THOMAS JEFFERSON EMBREE.—Of Brother Embree's earlier life the writer is not informed. He was well educated and for some time a lawyer. However, at the time he decided to go into the ministry he was teaching. It was under the influence of the Rev. H. W. Bowman, then pastor at Winnfield, that Brother Embree determined to preach. He soon applied for license, after which he was admitted on trial into the Louisiana Conference and appointed to the Ringgold Circuit in 1910, where he gave great satisfaction. From there he was sent to Plain Dealing. There the people soon became very fond of him. Indeed, from the first he was a success in every way as a preacher. The writer has no knowledge of the particulars of his death. He was a devoted husband, a faithful father, and a true friend. He has gone to his reward. May God's tender care be over his loved ones!—R. W. Tucker.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the year? G. W. O. Davis, S. F. Dykes, George M. Hill, W. B. Johnsey. 4.

GEORGE WASHINGTON ORR DAVIS, son of Caleb and Elizabeth Davis, was born in Pope County, Ark., October 23, 1839. He had reached his fourscore years and would have been eighty-one years old his next birthday. He belonged to one of the oldest and best families in Pope County, and he is the last of his generation. Brother Davis inherited a religious nature, and that nature was trained in the right line. He was sheltered in a pure home, free from all degrading influences, taught the Word of God, was converted and united with the Methodist Church when only twelve years old. No wonder that when a soldier in the Confederate service and a captain in the army he was able to stand. The cross of honor was recently conferred upon the brave old soldier, and the honor will be handed down to his children; but the best legacy that he left them was an unsullied record and a good name. Brother Davis was married to Emily Angeline Brown at Dover on January 4, 1859, and they journeyed together for more than fifty-three years. Five children were born to this union. One of these, Emmett Lee, died some years ago. The others—C. A. Davis, of Dallas, Tex., Albert R. Davis, of Gumlog, and Mrs. S. J. Rye—were at his bedside and tenderly ministered to him in his last hours. One daughter, Mrs. W. C. Bowden, of Brownwood, Tex., was too ill to be with him. For eighteen years Brother Davis did the work of an itinerant Methodist preacher, serving the following charges: Oakland Mission, London Circuit, Appleton, Dover, Dardanelle Circuit, Corning Mission, Clinton, and Cleveland Circuit. He had been on the honor roll as a superannuate preacher for sixteen years. The end came, after a week's illness, on March 18, 1920. Funeral services were conducted from the M. E. Church, South, in Russellville, on Friday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in Oakland Cemetery. The funeral was conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. S. S. Key, of Dardanelle, Rev. Wiley Lin Hurie, and Rev. J. P. Snipes, the pallbearers being ex-Confederate soldiers.—J. B. Stevenson.

S. F. DYKES, a beloved member of the North Arkansas Conference, died at the home of his daughter, in Roswell, N. Mex., last July. She writes that through his long months of sickness he suffered a great deal, but without complaint or murmuring. On the contrary, he grew sweeter in spirit and stronger in faith. His life was beautiful by the constant influence of the Holy Spirit. He looked for the end with longing and eagerness, confident that he was going home to live forever with precious loved ones who had gone before. When the end came he was ready, and fell asleep in Jesus.—T. Y. Ramsey.

GEORGE MONROE HILL, son of Henry and Deborah Hill, was born October 2, 1853. He was genuinely and scripturally converted in his early youth, joined the M. E. Church, South, was called to preach, licensed, and was admitted on trial into the traveling connection in November, 1874, at Searcy, in the old White River Conference. He was married to Miss Ella Pearl Wilson, of Oxford, Miss., November 14, 1882. He died at Black Rock, Ark., June 10, 1920. The funeral was conducted by the writer the next day, and he was laid to rest in Marianna on June 12, beside the remains of his two children, who died there thirty-six years ago. Brother Hill's itinerary can only be given in part. His personal records were lost in the fire that burned his parsonage when pastor at Wheatley. He was a presiding elder for eight years: two years on the Newport, one on the Searcy, and one on the Batesville District. In 1890 he was transferred to the Little Rock Conference, in which he served eight years, four of which were on the Washington District as presiding elder. He was a local preacher four years, studied law, and was admitted to the bar. His examination was perfect according to the report of his committee. He began the practice of law and was doing well, but it did not suit him. He was readmitted into the White River Conference, remained a few years, and then transferred to the Missouri Conference, where he served eight years. He transferred to the North Arkansas Conference in 1916. Last fall, at Jonesboro, he was superannuated, not by his own consent altogether, but he submitted cheerfully, and was faithful to the end.—James F. Jernigan.

W. B. JOHNSEY.—At the advanced age of eighty-three W. B. Johnsey, a superannuate of the North Arkansas Conference, passed away July 8, 1920, at the home of his niece, in Philpott, Ky. He was born in Kentucky, entered the Louisville Conference in 1867, and belonged successively to the Illinois, Missouri, and Arkansas Conferences. After forty-six years of happy married life, his first wife died and was buried at Rogers. His second wife died in California. After her death he made his home with a niece in Kentucky. His body was buried at Rogers; the pastor, Rev. Eli Myers, being assisted by three of our pastors, E. W. Faulkner, H. C. Hoy, and J. M. Fryar. Brother Johnsey was an old-fashioned Methodist preacher of the highest type, and a dignified and courtly gentleman. When in his presence people were always impressed with his courtesy and sincerity. He was a student of the best books, carefully prepared his sermons, and delivered them with grace and force. As a pastor he was sympathetic and tactful and always in much demand. Being modest, he never forced himself into leadership. He held such charges as Russellville, Bentonville, and Rogers. As a member of the Second Year Examining Committee, he was closely associated with this editor, and assisted in introducing what has now become the correspondence method. He was a useful and genuinely holy man, loved and respected by multitudes who will be sad as they read of his demise, but glad when they recall his saintly life and influence.—Arkansas Methodist.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? D. J. Wright. 1.

DAVID J. WRIGHT, son of John and Elizabeth Jane Wright, was born March 22, 1832, in the fork of Sepulga River in Conecuh County, Ala., and died December 8, 1920, at his home in Evergreen, Ala. He was first married to Miss Sarah Hall, of Snow Hill, Ala., who died in November, 1867. To this union there were no children. In 1884 he was married to Miss Ida Smith, of Pine Flat, Ala. There were seven children, five boys and two girls, to this union—John Davis, Willie Holt, Holland Turner, Emory Smith, Fred Wellen, Ruby and Pearl. Two of them—Willie Holt and Emory Smith—passed over the river before him. He was converted and joined the Church at Concord Church, on the Sepulga Circuit, under the ministry of Brother Skinner. He was licensed to preach in July, 1866, at a Quarterly Conference held at Bethel Church (Butler County), Sepulga Circuit, Camden District. This was held in connection with the first District Conference held in the Southern connection, over which Bishop H. N. McTyeire presided. Rev. Anson West was presiding elder and Rev. W. W. Graham was pastor. Brother Graham is still living in Texas, and is probably the only person living who was present at that Conference. In 1867 Brother Wright supplied the Mount Pleasant Circuit and in 1868 the Snow Hill Circuit. He was received on trial in December, 1868, at Greenville, Ala., Bishop McTyeire presiding. He was received into full connection in 1870 at Montgomery, Ala., and ordained elder in the year 1872. He served the following appointments: Farmersville Circuit, 1869; Evergreen Circuit, 1870; Black's Bend Circuit, 1871-72; Butler and Mount Sterling, 1873-76; Forkland Circuit, 1877-79; Monroeville Circuit, 1880-83; Rutledge Circuit, 1884-87; Lower Peachtree Circuit, 1888-91; Sepulga Circuit, 1892-95; Greenville Circuit, 1896; Lapine, 1897. In the fall of 1897 he was granted the superannuate relation. For the last twenty-three years of his life he was on the honor roll of our Conference, but through these years he remained zealous for his Christ and Church. Whenever his strength would permit, he was ready and willing to do any service for the Master. Brother Wright came of Methodist stock on both his maternal and paternal sides. His grandmother was a Pierce, who was closely related to the noted Methodist divines, Reddick and Lovick Pierce. His style of preaching was mighty and zealous. In prayer he was unequalled. Through the power of his prayers miracles have been wrought. In his pastoral work he was attentive and faithful, firm in discipline, but respected by those whom it was necessary for him to discipline. He was a true knight of the saddlebags. He rode thousands of miles, many times it being necessary for him to swim swollen streams. Thousands were converted under his ministry. In the bounds of the circuits which he served there are found hundreds of true and loyal Christians who were converted under his ministry. It was his delight to lead in the old revival singing. He sang with power such songs as "What Wondrous Love Is This" and "Old Ship of Zion." When the war between the States broke out he answered the call of his country. No braver soldier ever fought in any battle. Three times he was shot down, and throughout his life he carried in his body these marks. For the gospel he was no less brave, and carried also the marks of the service of Christ. In a letter written to one of the brethren of this Conference this year he said: "I am expecting to pass over the river in a few days. Pray for me that I may have a happy exit and be ready to answer the roll call up yonder." His name was called up yonder just about the time it was called here last Thursday. No one was ever more ready to answer that call than he. For several years he had waited anxiously for that call to be made.—J. A. Peterson.

EDWARD F. LEY was born in Micanopy, Fla., September 23, 1858. His father, Rev. J. C. Ley, was for more than half a century an honored member of the Florida Conference. Three of his sons, John B. Ley, Edward F. Ley, and E. L. Ley, entered the Christian ministry and joined the Florida Conference. The subject of this memoir was converted in early life and felt called to the work of the ministry, but did not at first answer the call of God. The pleasures of life and the allurements of business life held him back from yielding to the voice of God. But the deeply religious life of father and mother and association with earnest and godly Methodist preachers led him later to give himself with full purpose of heart to the gospel ministry. After spending some years as a student in Vanderbilt University he was received on trial into the Florida Conference in January, 1882, at Monticello, where he gave himself without reserve to the ministry of the word. Early in his ministry he was married to Miss Lula Coffee, of Madison County, who proved a helpmate indeed through the years of their itinerant life. This union was blessed with eight children, six of whom, with their mother, mourn their loss. Brother Ley was a good and sound gospel preacher and abounded in labors as a pastor. He visited from house to house and his uniform cheerfulness and good cheer gladdened many hearts. In his ministry in Florida he served missions, circuits, and stations. He was for one term presiding elder, and served for two years as editor of the Florida Christian Advocate. Brother Ley was a devoted husband and father. He loved his home and was loved and honored by those nearest and dearest to him. After completing four years of splendid service as pastor at Fort Meade Church, he was assigned to Hastings Station. He had just entered his labors in his new field when, in February, 1920, the Master called him suddenly from labor here to the higher service and enjoyments of the saints in light.—W. M. Poage.

CHARLES WESLEY INMAN was born June 25, 1859, at Wadesboro, Ware County, Ga. His name, Charles Wesley, reveals Methodist parentage. These parents prayed for a preacher, and a preacher was given. The first years of his life, through early manhood, were spent in his native State. He was married to Miss Susan V. Knowles, of Homerville, Ga., April 2, 1878. To this union eight children were born, one of whom, Charles Grady, died while young. Mrs. E. W. Steward, Kate B., Mrs. C. L. Turner, Alfred H., Willis, Charles, and Dorothy Louise, with the mother, survive him. Brother Inman joined the Methodist Church when a child and was converted in his own home in July, 1879. The year of his conversion he yielded to the call to the ministry, was licensed to exhort, and was faithful in his duties and active in that relation, being sought by pastors for protracted meetings because of his evangelistic spirit and success. He came to Florida in 1881 and in the fall of that year was licensed to preach. He preached his first sermon at White Springs and served in the local ranks for several years. He came into the itinerant ministry in 1885. His educational advantages were few and his education was limited; his appointments were places for hard work and great privation; at times he was compelled to walk to his appointment and swim swollen rivers. For thirty-five years, by hard study and application, his was a steady climb in efficiency and usefulness until he was filling some of our best appointments with acceptability. Monticello was his last. Brother Inman was a man "full of faith and the Holy Ghost." Jesus Christ was a living reality to him. He prayed through difficulties to victory and trusted in God in times of financial straits. On one occasion, when moving from one charge to another, he boarded the train with his family without sufficient funds to complete the journey, and while en route a friend who knew nothing of his circumstances handed him more than enough to meet his needs.

Many times God came to his relief in wonderful ways. His sunny disposition and his open-heartedness gave him access to both old and young. His love for man was the impelling force in his ministry. His intense love for the truth gave him balance and enabled him to stand even while friends forsook him. To the end his face was to the enemy of the King. The war drives and the great Centenary objective gave him a goal which actually consumed his physical force; yet his vision grew larger, his aspiration and desire more intense. On account of failing health, he was superannuated at the last session of our Conference, and with his wife and daughter moved to Live Oak, occupying the superannuate home, where he passed away on February 6, 1920. His body was taken to Jacksonville. The funeral services were held in Wesley Memorial Church, which was completed while he was its pastor several years ago.

ROBERT JAMES WELLS was born near Murray, Ky., January 16, 1857, and died at Tampa, Fla., August 10, 1920. He was one of a family of thirteen children. At the age of eleven years, while plowing in the field, he was happily converted. When he was nineteen years old he heard the call of God to preach, but hesitated and waited until he was twenty-eight before he decided to give his life to the ministry. At that time he was made to feel that he would be lost if he did not preach the gospel. He prepared as best he could, sold his home, and started out on his mission. His first appointment was in the State of Illinois in 1889, and for eight years he labored in that field. In December, 1896, he transferred to the Florida Conference, where he rendered faithful service until God called him to his reward. He served the following charges in this Conference: Callahan, Seville, White Springs, Umatilla, Micanopy, Key West, Largo, Fort White, and Rochelle. He was superannuated three times. The first time he remained out of active work only one year; the second time two years. He loved to preach, and it was a hard task for him to remain out of the pastorate. Six years ago, while on the Rochelle charge, he was forced to give up his work in the middle of the second year, and was on the superannuate list the remainder of his life. He was devoted to the service of the Master, and it is estimated by those who knew him best that about fifteen hundred persons professed conversion under his ministry. He was first married to Miss Virginia Evans, August 31, 1876. Two of the children by this union survive him—Walter E. Wells, of Sanford, Fla., and Mrs. S. N. Igou, of Winter Haven, Fla. His second marriage was on November 4, 1888, to Miss N. J. Alexander, who, with her six living children, now mourns her loss. The last six children are R. J. Wells, Jr., of Leesburg, Fla.; Mrs. T. L. Carter, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; J. C. Wells, of High Springs, Fla.; Mrs. Raymond Smith, of Dewey, Okla.; A. J. and Tullis E. Wells, of Tampa, Fla. The funeral services were held in Hyde Park Church, Tampa, August 11, 1920. The pallbearers were selected from the Methodist pastors of the city. We buried him in beautiful Myrtle Hill Cemetery, at Tampa, to await the resurrection of the just.—T. J. Nixon.

GEORGE SYLVANUS HENDERSON was born at Madison, Fla., June 1, 1872, and died at Seffner, Fla., August 22, 1920. He had been in uncertain health for several years, suffering from high blood pressure. Just prior to his death he was very weak, and on Sunday his family had insisted that he should not try to preach; but having promised a friend to preach on a special subject, he began the service, never to finish it. Stricken with paralysis, he lost consciousness before loving hands could bear him to the parsonage near by. The end came in a few hours. On Monday, August 23, the funeral services were held by Rev. John A. Hendry, assisted by Revs. W. F. Dunkle, W. C. Fountain, W. J. Palmer, and S. G. Meadows, in the Methodist Church at Seffner, and his body was laid to rest in the cemetery near by. Brother Henderson was converted at the age of sixteen in a revival meeting held at Fort Myers and felt the call to the ministry at that time. In the years that followed his experience was not satisfactory, though he was a friend to the Church and loved his pastors. It was a few years before I met him, in 1906, that he had been restored in a gracious experience of salvation. And now, pressing on, he sought and obtained the experience of entire sanctification. He was then ready to respond to the call to preach, and in doing so he gave up a good home and a profitable business, but with the vision that God had given him there was no other course for him. His ministry was fruitful in souls for Christ. For some time before entering the work of the Conference he engaged in evangelistic work. He was admitted on trial into the Florida Conference in December, 1907, at Tampa, Fla., having served two years as supply on the Brownsville Circuit. The following charges were served by him: Webster Circuit, four years; Micanopy, two years; Williston Circuit, two years; Punta Gorda, one year; and was at Seffner for the second year at the time of his death. He was ordained a deacon by Bishop Atkins in December, 1909, and an elder by Bishop Morrison in December, 1912. Brother Henderson was married to Miss Ida May Brown, from Illinois, on July 24, 1891. To them eight children were born. Two of the children preceded their father to the heavenly home. One son and five daughters are left with their devoted mother to mourn their loss. Thus we chronicle a few of the outstanding facts of his life. More than that we cannot do, for it is not possible to express in words the real excellences of his life. God knew them and his friends appreciated them. He had been urged by some of his friends and family to cease from the active work, but on one occasion he replied by putting his hand over his heart and saying: "When this stops beating I'll quit preaching." This was literally the case, for he ceased at once to labor and to live.—James T. Mitchell.

HENRY BASCOM FRAZEE was born in a college at Augusta, Ky., December 24, 1837. His father was Bradford Frazee; his mother, Miriam Allen Brooks. His father was a Methodist minister, president of the college at the time of his birth, but lost his life in the yellow fever epidemic in Louisville, Ky. When H. B. was twelve years old he was converted and licensed to preach by a Quarterly Conference at Plaquemine, La., June 20, 1857. He was ordained a local deacon at New Orleans on December 14, 1866, by Bishop Early; and elder at Jefferson City, Mo., September 26, 1868, by Bishop Kavanaugh. Before coming to Florida, among other pastorates he served First Church, Little Rock, three years; First Church, St. Louis, two years. He refuged to Waverly, Tex., in 1862, from Louisiana, and was president of the college there three years. On his return to Louisiana he entered the regular ministry. He was married at Opelousas, La., in 1860, to Amelia Lewis, who shared with him his trials until 1895, when she left him for the better world. He moved to Jacksonville, Fla., in 1876, where he served his first charge, old St. Paul's Church, now our First M. E. Church, South. He served the following charges in succession: Live Oak District, Jacksonville District, Macclenny, Fort Myers, Lakeland and Plant City, Arcadia, Madison, Fort Myers, Apopka, Dade City, Largo, Palmetto, Bronson, Inverness, Mulberry. He was placed on the honor roll in 1906. He was the father of three sons and two daughters, James L. Frazee, H. M. Frazee, Dr. E. W. Frazee, Mrs. O. P. Likins, and Mrs. H. A. Gruetz-nacher, who survive him. He was gifted with the power of eloquent speech. The writer has witnessed him sway a multitude on several occasions. He was a great camp meeting preacher in his younger days, and was very fruitful in winning souls to Christ. His was no ordinary mind, but underlying the culture received from schools was a native mental clearness and grasp that would have lifted him into notice had he never had collegiate training. He became noticeably frail nearly a year ago and gradually weakened during the summer, but his spirit was bright and cheerful, and he remained happy to the last. On Saturday afternoon, November 20, he was seized with apoplexy and passed to his eternal reward two days later. He was seemingly unconscious until about two hours before his departure, when he opened his eyes and recognized his children present at his bedside, folded his hands upon his breast, closed his eyes, and passed peacefully away. He spent his last days in the home of his son Harry, and was privileged to receive the ministrations of his daughter Miriam also, who lives in Jacksonville, and from this home his transition took place. Burial services were held in Wesley Memorial Church, Jacksonville, conducted by Rev. J. B. Rooney, his presiding elder, assisted by his pastor, Rev. D. D. Dieffenwierth, and his long-time friend, Rev. F. Pixton. Rev. J. B. Mitchell led in prayer, and each of the brethren above named paid tributes to his worth. Our pastors in Jacksonville were the pallbearers. His body was carried to Starke, Fla., at which place many people met the train and accompanied his body to the beautiful cemetery in that place, where he was laid to rest beside the body of his wife, whom he buried there some twenty-five years ago.—Ira S. Patterson.

JAPAN MISSION.

THIRTY-FOURTH SESSION.

HELD AT ARIMA, JAPAN, SEPTEMBER 1-6, 1920.

BISHOP LAMBUTH, President; W. K. MATTHEWS, Secretary.

WE have received the handsome and well-prepared "Year Book and Minutes of the Japan Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South," and have examined it carefully for facts of interest bearing on the thirty-six Disciplinary questions. It is understood that the work done by our missionaries in Japan is done "in the territory contiguous to and in coöperation with the Conferences of the Methodist Church of Japan"; hence the statistics given below and in the tables at the end of this volume merely show the work done by our missionaries in the territory named. Their "annual meeting" is in no sense an Annual Conference, consequently the ordinary Disciplinary questions are not asked and answered. All of the clerical missionaries are members of Conferences in the United States. For the sake of convenience we have used the usual questions in order to make available the following information:

QUESTION 20. What is the number of districts, of pastoral charges, and of Churches in this Conference? ANSWER. Districts, 3; pastoral charges, 16; churches, 80.

Ques. 21. How many have been licensed to preach, and what is the number of local preachers and members? Licensed, none; local preachers, none; members, 1,512.

JAMES E. CALDWELL was born September 23, 1833, in Saline County, Ark., and passed to his final home on January 2, 1920. He was converted under the preaching of Rev. A. R. Winfield in 1851. While a student in LaGrange College he felt divinely called to the office of the ministry and was not disobedient to the heavenly calling. In 1852 he was licensed to preach and, feeling the urge of the divine call, made haste to enter the active work of the ministry. In 1853 he was admitted on trial into the Arkansas Conference. He was married to Miss Martha A. Grubbs, whose father was a Methodist preacher, in 1854. She is still living in age and feebleness extreme, but full of faith and the Holy Ghost. To them were born two sons and seven daughters. Five of the daughters survive their father and have families of their own. Brother Caldwell was endowed with a fine intellect, but with a frail body. The essential qualifications for the work of the itinerancy in those pioneer days were a strong body, a sound mind, a genuine religious experience, a divine call to preach, and a heroic, self-sacrificing spirit. All of these he possessed in full measure except the strong body. As a young itinerant he gave promise of a brilliant and successful career, but was soon handicapped by lack of a robust body. The country was rough, the circuits were large, and travel altogether on horseback. Every preacher needed a good horse to swim the creeks, wade the swamps, and to pull through the mud and bog of new roads and byways. The circuit rider was appreciated by the people and toward him their hospitality abounded. He was given the best to eat that the country afforded, and slept in the best bed in the home. But the home was generally a log cabin with one or more rooms. Sometimes one room served as a kitchen, dining room, living room, and sleeping room. Church buildings were few and rude. If they were heated at all, it was generally by a large open fireplace in one end of the building and the board pulpit in the other end with an open window at the preacher's back. Often a private house was the meeting place of the community, and in warm weather the brush arbor was used for holding revival meetings. Those were days of truly great revivals. Sinners were deeply convicted and soundly converted. The people got religion and knew when and where and how they got it. Such were some of the conditions under which James Caldwell, refined, cultured, and delicate, began his itinerant life. But he was a man of heroic mold and none of those things moved him. Neither did he count his life dear unto him that he might win Christ and finish his course with joy. He was a lover of the Bible, made it his chief study, and urged the people to study it. He was scrupulously attentive to all the work of a pastor. In the sixties his hearing began to fail and in the course of a few years he found himself disqualified for the work of a pastor on account of his deafness. He was then appointed agent of the American Bible Society, which position he held and in which he proved quite efficient for four years. He was finally superannuated, in which relation he remained for the last forty years of his life. But he did not cease to work until he became entirely deaf and almost completely blind. Even then he continued to attend public worship. He said to me on one occasion, "I enjoy seeing you preach." In the course of fifty-two years he missed the annual roll call of his Conference only twice. Although almost cut off from communication with his fellow men and the world generally, he never lost interest in the Church. He lived in touch with God. Like Enoch of old, he "walked with God." The vision of faith did not grow dim, nor the voice of the spirit indistinct. When he could no longer take part in the great battle of the militant host, he stood like a beacon light pointing the way to victory and to glory. —C. O. Steele.

THOMAS D. SCOTT was born of rugged, heroic parents, brought up in a truly religious home, and lived among God-fearing people. He was converted while a youth and his whole life was spent in the Church. He was born November 28, 1861, and grew to manhood near Benton. In 1885 he was licensed to preach and in December, 1885, was admitted into the Little Rock Conference at Arkadelphia along with eight others. He served every kind of pastorate we have. On circuits he proved his worth, and in stations he showed powers of organization and leadership. He came to his own on a district. He was a presiding elder to the manner born. He knew men and how to work with them. He could do team work with any reasonable man. He was patient with the young and ignorant preachers, a counselor with the strong and effective, and tender and loving with those who were growing old. The laymen could get close to him, knew him, loved him, and trusted him. Twice a member of the General Conference, he gave good account of himself as a safe and sound law-maker for his Church. He was always on our most important Conference boards, usually on the Board of Missions. While his education was limited to the high school, he was greatly interested in all of our colleges. For many years he was on the Board of Trust of all of them. He was entirely unselfish in his devotion to them. It seemed providential that he should be living in Arkadelphia when Henderson-Brown was destroyed by fire. At once he took a leading part in rebuilding and is largely responsible for the splendid buildings which replaced those burned. He also took the leading part as counselor and guide in liquidating the debt. He had no degree from a college, but he did accumulate a large, well-selected library and by hard study became the master of many subjects. His reading was wide and he was versed in all the subjects that he believed would be helpful in the interpretation of the word of God. His calling was to preach. He would know Christ and him crucified. All of his studies were to prepare him for the best interpretation of Christ to men. As a preacher he sought always to give a correct exposition of the word of God. He made no pretense at oratory. He was plain, simple, always preached in language that children and common people could understand, and thousands came to Christ under his ministry. He had no special gifts as a builder, yet he planned and built many churches and parsonages. His greatest visible monument is the beautiful temple at Hope, Ark. In the social circle he was a perfect gentleman and a delightful guest in any company. His wit was fine and his humor exquisite. No man loved home more than he. His garden was his recreation and his yard a thing of beauty. You could easily trace his pastorates by the flowers around the churches. He was twice married: First to Sue Compton; and to them was born one son, Walter C. Scott, now an honored member of this Conference. His second marriage was to Mary Wilson. To them were born three children. One went away in childhood. Thomas D. Scott, Jr., and Elizabeth live. For thirty-five years he had an unbroken ministry: Atlanta Circuit, 1886-87; Hazen, 1888; Lake Village, 1889-92; Asbury, Little Rock, 1893-95; Monticello District, 1896-99; Pine Bluff District, 1900-03; Hope, 1904-07; Prescott, 1908; First Church, Texarkana, 1909; Arkadelphia District, 1910-14; Arkadelphia Station, 1915; Hope, 1916-18; Arkadelphia District, 1919-20. Soon after Conference last year he found his health failing and asked to be released from work. He died in great peace in his home at Arkadelphia on July 13, 1920. Thus lived and passed away one of our truest and most heroic men.—R. W. McKay.

HINIARD TOWNSEND was born in North Carolina on January 25, 1836, and moved to Montgomery, Miss., in early childhood. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Beeler on December 11, 1861. Ten children were born to this union, seven of whom survive. He was licensed to preach sixty-one years ago in Mississippi. He came to Arkansas about 1870 and has been a member of the Little Rock Conference since that time. He was stricken with paralysis on Thursday morning, October 14, 1920, at the Methodist Church in Benton, Ark., while talking to Brother Hilliard. He was removed to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stevens, with whom he was living. He never regained consciousness and passed away on Friday morning, October 15, 1920. His body was laid to rest in Rosemont Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, October 17. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. C. Hilliard.

HENRY D. MCKINNON, son of Neil and Frances Mitchell McKinnon, was born near Thomasville, Ga., December 15, 1835, and died at San Marcos, Tex., December 13, 1919. Those places and dates mark the earthly limits of a life that was exceptional in length, faithfulness, and influence. He felt called to preach while he was studying law at Winchester, Tenn.; and, responding to this call, joined the Tennessee Conference in October, 1857. After three years in that Conference, he was transferred to the Ouachita Conference, where he held membership the rest of his life. He was for one year a missionary to a Missouri brigade of Confederate soldiers, thirty-three years a pastor, sixteen years a presiding elder, and the last twelve years he was superannuated. Sixty-two years he was an itinerant Methodist preacher, and an even half century he was in the active ranks. In September, 1866, he was married to Miss Sue A. Ward, whose father and grandfather were preachers. A woman of deep piety and unusual ability and devotion, she came to be depended upon for a substantial contribution to the cause of Christianity, as was her husband. They had seven children, two of whom—Mrs. F. C. Floyd, of Locksburg, Ark., and Mrs. R. B. McSwain, of San Angelo, Tex.—have gone to the better land. They are survived by three daughters (Mrs. J. H. Morton and Misses Susie and Henry McKinnon, of San Marcos, Tex.), two sons (Neil McKinnon, of Ozan, Ark., and Rev. John J. McKinnon, of Mill Creek, W. Va.), and twelve grandchildren. Brother McKinnon's value as a Methodist preacher was due in no small degree to the singleness of his purpose to know and to do the will of God, and the great common sense and persistence that he used in carrying out his purpose. He was a big man, physically, mentally, and spiritually. He was as far above pettiness, narrowness, and meanness as a man well could be. He was a strong preacher. He knew how to put more into a short sermon than most men put into a long one, and he always quit when he got through. As pastor he was trusted for his goodness and wisdom, and as administrator he was far-sighted and aggressive. At Warren, Ark., he built one of the first parsonages in the Conference, and helped to organize the first Woman's Missionary Society in the Southern Methodist Church. His unusual fitness for the presiding eldership has long been recognized. While he was always brotherly in his consideration of preachers, he was an unusually good judge of men and their fitness for certain pastorates. As a friend and counselor of young preachers his services were very great. He was absolutely loyal to the spirit of the itinerancy. He had great influence in molding the spirit and character of the Little Rock Conference. He came into the Conference when it was only five years old, and at the time of his death he had been a member of the body longer than any other living man except one. He saw the prime importance of the Christian college and of the Christian press. Largely as a result of his influence, the Little Rock Conference is a working Conference and a believer in and a supporter of Christian education and Christian literature. During his superannuation Brother McKinnon lived at San Antonio and San Marcos, Tex., with his children. He suffered much during the last two weeks, but on Saturday morning, December 13, he quietly went to sleep. Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church at San Marcos, and, accompanied by his daughter Henry, his body was carried to Mineral Springs, Ark., where his wife is buried. At sunset on Monday, December 15, his eighty-fourth birthday, we laid his body to rest. Burial services were conducted by Brother J. B. Sims, the local pastor, and the writer. To the Church, his Conference, his friends, and his family he has left a heritage that is rather to be chosen than great riches. —C. J. Greene.

HARVEY H. WATSON was born in Grant County, Ark., July 4, 1849; and died at Benton, Saline County, Ark., in February, 1920. Between these dates much of the history of Arkansas Methodism was made and he had no small part in its making. He was married three times—his third wife now living in Texarkana, Ark. He was the father of nine children, two of whom passed away before his death. His children are leaders in church and community life in their respective homes. Brother Watson was reared in a religious home, hence was deeply and truly religious from early childhood. At the age of eighteen he was moved to dedicate his life to the ministry, from which date a life of usefulness characterized him. With the exception of three years spent in the North Arkansas Conference, his whole ministry was in the Little Rock Conference. He served circuits, stations, and districts with great success, leading many men and women to Christ. His education was completed in the Southern University of Alabama. His last charge was the Benton Circuit, Little Rock District. He could not appreciate the fact that he was decrepit and endeavored to do the work faithfully as he had always done, but his body was not strong enough. Harvey Watson was strong as a citizen, a friend, a husband, a Christian.—James Thomas.

Ques. 11. What preachers have died during the past year? T. B. Holloman. 1.

THOMAS BASCOM HOLLOMAN was born in Yazoo County, Miss., January 18, 1851, the son of T. R. and Rebecca (Cook) Holloman. His early life was spent in his father's home near Phenix, where he received his earlier education in the local schools and from tutors living in the home. That his childhood and youth were happy, no one who knew him in his later life can doubt. His mind was alert and his heart friendly. The charm of the great out-of-doors, the lure of the farm and its varied activities, the droll sayings and the homely wisdom of the negroes in the quarters caught his eye and won his heart and explained the knowledge of the stock and crops, his love of nature, and the friendly interest that in later years attracted all who knew him. Of his early religious experience, we know nothing. He probably joined the Church in his childhood and was converted in his youth. For as a young man he was a devoted Christian and throughout his long and useful life he adorned the gospel that he preached. In 1869 he entered Emory and Henry College (Virginia), and was graduated from that institution in the summer of 1873. In December, 1873, he was received on trial into the Mississippi Conference and entered upon that genial and fruitful service that lengthened out with unvarying popularity and success to nearly fifty years. The passing years found him serving his people in every grade of appointment open to a member of the Conference—first as junior preacher, then as preacher in charge upon the humbler circuits, then pastor in those delightful charges furnished by the smaller towns, then in the best stations in the Conference, then as presiding elder of the strongest district in the State; ever loving his people and loved by them, ever intent upon doing them good, ever attentive to the young, ever maintaining before men his manly integrity, and ever walking as becometh a Christian gentleman. Two years he served in the Jefferson Street Church, Natchez, the cradle of Methodism and Protestantism in the Southwest. Two years were given to the Main Street Church, Hattiesburg, where he enterprised the building of the new church and began the construction of the beautiful edifice that is the pride of that loyal people. Three years were spent in Crystal Springs, four years in Port Gibson, four in Yazoo City, four in Canton. Eight years were spent at Crawford Street Church, Vicksburg, where he paid the debt left by his predecessor upon the handsome new church and where he used to say with pride that he had more friends than anywhere else in the world. Four years were given to the presiding eldership of the Jackson District. Three years were devoted to the cause of education as the president of our East Mississippi Female College at Meridian. In 1874 he was married to Miss Mollie Holliday, of Canton, Miss. Mrs. Holloman died in 1883 in the parsonage at Yazoo City, leaving seven little children. In 1885 Brother Holloman was married to Miss Matilda Jones, the daughter of the Rev. John G. Jones, the historian of Methodism in Mississippi and the Southwest. This noble woman, who survives her husband, was a blessing in his home, as a helpful wife and a devoted mother to his children. In 1918 Brother Holloman was given the superannuate relation; but, while accepting the action of his brethren as to his relation to the Conference, he did not feel that his work was done and he continued to write and preach as opportunity served, and in the spring of 1920 he was placed in charge of the Lake City Circuit in his native county. This was to him like the renewing of his youth and he rejoiced as he went in and out among his people. At Lake City on September 5 he preached in the evening and during the service was taken sick. The night was spent in the home of a friend, and early the next morning in great pain he made the trip to Yazoo City, where after three days, surrounded by his family, recipient of the tender ministrations of his friends, he quietly passed away. His death, which took place on Thursday night, September 9, 1920, was as gentle as his life had been. On Friday afternoon in the Methodist Church in Yazoo City, in the presence of many sorrowing friends, the funeral services were held. Short talks were made by Rev. L. E. Alford, Rev. N. B. Harmon, and this writer, and the body was taken by train to Itta Bena and consigned to the grave to await the resurrection of those who sleep in Jesus. Six children mourn the father's death—four sons and two daughters. One daughter, Hattie, died in early womanhood. Surviving him also is one sister, Mrs. Summerfield Brown. In person Brother Holloman was of medium height, slender in build, with dark eyes and hair. He was graceful in movement and gracious in manner. In his later years his hair, which had defied the passing of the years and remained dark and abundant, was distinguished by a broad white lock that waved like a white plume above his well-shaped head. He was a fluent and animated preacher, given to homely illustrations; but always characterized by the dignity and reverence of one who realizes that the words he speaks are the words of eternal life. He was a frequent and attractive contributor to the Church papers, and hundreds of devout readers of the New Orleans Christian Advocate turned with eager interest to his articles. His last contribution to this paper appeared in the issue that announced his death, and those who read "The End of the Vacation" thought with a sense of loneliness of the friend who had gone home. In 1902

Brother Holloman received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, conferred by the faculty and trustees of Emory and Henry College, a worthy testimonial from his Alma Mater to her honored son. Possibly the most striking characteristic of Brother Holloman was his friendliness. He had a veritable genius for friendship with all that the word involves of kindliness and unselfish service; and he who showed himself thus friendly received in return a wealth of friendship that few men have possessed. Such a man could not have been other than openhanded and generous, and no worthy cause appealed to him in vain. The numerous occasions at the Conference sessions when opportunity was given to cultivate the grace of liberality always found him ready to respond. For twenty years Dr. Holloman was a devoted and useful member of the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College. He attended its meetings regularly and was always ready in counsel and in service. One of the duties that by common consent was always imposed upon him was that of delivering the medals and other prizes on commencement day. This he did gracefully and appropriately and to the delight of the audience. Those assembled upon such occasions in the coming years will miss this gracious ministry at his hands, a ministry in which he took pleasure because it gave pleasure to others.—A. F. Watkins.

CONGO MISSION.

WEMBO-NIAMA, AFRICA.

BISHOP LAMBUTH in Episcopal Charge; D. L. MUMPOWER, M.D., Superintendent.

There was no session of, and no report from, the Congo Mission for the year 1920.

Dr. Mumpower, the Superintendent of the Mission, was in the United States on furlough during the year, but returned to the field in October. As a consequence, the work of the missionaries was somewhat disorganized, and we learn from the Board of Missions that the work at Lubefu has been discontinued. The following-named missionaries are now at work in the Congo Mission: Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Mumpower, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Schaedel, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Bush, Misses Kathron Wilson, Eliza Iles, Marzie Hall, Ruth Henderson, and Flora Foreman.

TRIBUTES TO BISHOP JOSEPH STAUNTON KEY.

BY DR. THOMAS N. IVEY.

LADEN with years, more than fifty of which had been given to the high duties of a Methodist itinerant preacher, serene in a faith which had learned to take hold of the deepest things of life in two worlds, with a backward look which took in the beautiful landscapes of truly Christian service, and with a forward gaze that had long ago been fixed on the "King in his beauty," Bishop Key passed from among us on April 6, 1920, at his home in Sherman, Tex.

Bishop Key as a Methodist was "to the manner born." He was the son of a Methodist preacher. Up to his election as bishop he had known in his ministerial life nothing but the pastorate. He knew the practical side of our economy. He believed in the fundamental doctrines of Methodism and preached them with great spiritual power. This writer well recalls how strongly and favorably he was impressed when he first saw and heard Bishop Key at the session of the North Carolina Conference in 1887. The Bishop's presence was commanding. There are few whose personal appearance is so majestic as was his. He filled the pulpit at one of the evening hours, and the spiritual power which attended his plain, earnest presentation of truth was something remarkable. As a preacher he was not a scholastic. He was not classed as a great pulpiter, but in God's "Who's Who" he was entered as an evangel with power to reach the hearts of men and to produce results. After all, is not this the only kind of preacher we need?

Bishop Key in his episcopal duties was practical, conservative, and safe. He was a tower of strength to the Conferences which he held. He made a minimum of mistakes in his appointments, and the preachers who were under his care felt that they would receive a conscientious and tender consideration. He took no prominent part in the great questions which engrossed the attention of the Church at large, but there has been no bishop who attended more faithfully to the interests of the Annual Conferences committed to his care.

We have no particulars of the passing of this faithful servant of Jesus Christ, but we are moved to quote those lines of Dryden in his "Œdipus":

"Of no distemper, of no blast he died,
But fell like autumn fruit that mellowed long—(294)

Even wondered at, because he dropped no sooner.

Fate seemed to wind him up for fourscore years;

Yet freshly ran he on ten winters more:
Till like a clock worn out with eating time,

The wheels of weary life at last stood still."

It is possible that in Bishop Key's case the clock of time received some slight shock to hasten the stopping of the wheels. We do not know; but this we do know, that in his last conscious moments he was able to say with the great Cilician: "I have fought the good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness."

Joseph Staunton Key was born at Lagrange, Ga., July 18, 1829. He graduated from Emory College in 1848. The same year he was licensed to preach, and the following year he was received on trial into the Georgia Conference, on the later division of which he became a member of the South Georgia Conference. He was married in 1851 to Miss Susie M. Snyder, who died in 1891. In 1893 he was married to Mrs. Lucy Kidd, a noted educator of Texas and resident at Sherman. He was elected bishop by the General Conference of 1886, which met at Richmond, Va. He was an active bishop for twenty-four years, having gone on the retired list at the General Conference of 1910, held at Asheville, N. C.

The body was laid to rest on Wednesday morning, April 7, in the cemetery at Sherman. The services were conducted by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, assisted by Revs. T. S. Armstrong, W. D. Bradfield, and A. J. Weeks.

BY BISHOP W. N. AINSWORTH.

BISHOP JOSEPH STAUNTON KEY was born at Lagrange, Ga., July 18, 1829, and finished his earthly career at Sherman, Tex., April 6, 1920. Within the compass of these dates there was lived a life of unusual length, coupled with nearly three-quarters of a century of Christian service. Like so many others who have blessed the world with distinguished service, he was a product of the parsonage, being the son of Rev. and Mrs. Caleb W. Key of blessed memory in Georgia Methodism. Coming from a Christian home, where the Christian preparation of its sons for life received an emphasis supreme, he found his way to Emory College, where he was graduated in 1848. The holy influences of a Christian home and a Christian college led him to the Christian ministry, and he entered the Georgia Conference at Augusta the year of his graduation. He early took high rank as a minister and faithful shepherd of the flock of God, holding the leading pastorates in the chief cities of his native State. Much of his ministry was spent in Atlanta, Athens, Augusta, Macon, and Columbus, and chiefly in the pastorate, though he served two terms in the presiding eldership. When the Georgia Conference was divided, in 1866, he cast his lot with the South Georgia and continued in this relation until he was elected a bishop at Richmond in 1886. Three years after his election to the episcopacy he answered an appealing call of the West and moved to Texas, where he made his home until the day of his death. He held the superannuate relation during the last ten years of his life.

Bishop Key was a man of the finest brand of Christian character. He believed the Methodist doctrine of holiness and exemplified it with all its beauty and charm. He was a man of the finest force and his counsel was highly esteemed throughout the Church for its sanity and wisdom. He has been credited with a large share of responsibility for the District Conference, which became an official institution of the Church in 1866. In his episcopal administration Bishop Key was practical, conservative, sympathetic, and safe. His work showed a minimum of mistakes.

Blessed with a constitution of the strongest mold, he survived all of his family and far outlived all the friends of his youth. When at last the end came, he died of no disease.

BY REV. WATSON B. DUNCAN.

BISHOP JOSEPH STAUNTON KEY was born July 18, 1829, at Lagrange, Ga. He came of good Methodist stock, his father, Rev. Caleb W. Key, being a faithful and loyal itinerant in the Georgia Conference for fifty years, and his grandfather being a local preacher in the same State. Bishop Key was converted in the year 1847 and his spiritual transformation was so clear and distinct that he never entertained any doubt of the reality of the Divine work. After the usual training in the preparatory schools, young Key matriculated in Emory College, Oxford, Ga., from which institution he was graduated in 1848. In January, 1849, he was received on trial into the old Georgia Conference. At the division of the Conference he was assigned to work in the South Georgia Conference, where he labored until the time of his election to the episcopacy. His work was principally in Macon and Columbus, having spent eleven years in Macon and on the Macon District. He spent two terms of four years each as pastor of Mulberry Street Church; he spent thirteen years as pastor in Columbus and as presiding elder on the Columbus District. In 1867 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the University of Georgia.

Bishop Key was a finespecimen of physical manhood and this manhood was remarkably well preserved. He was erect in stature and to the end of his career he was dignified in carriage. He possessed a calm and tranquil disposition and always impressed strangers as a man of wonderfully symmetrical Christian character. He was twice married. In 1851 he was married to Miss Susie M. Snyder, who died in 1891. In 1893 he was married to Mrs. Lucy Kidd, a noted educator of Texas and a resident of Sherman, Tex., the seat of the famous school for girls, of which she was the founder and president.

At the General Conference which met in Richmond, Va., in 1886, Doctor Key was elected bishop, and rendered active service as such for a period of twenty-four years, being placed on the retired list at the General Conference at Asheville, N. C., in 1910. He died at his home in Sherman, Tex., on April 6, 1920.

A very distinguishing characteristic of Bishop Joseph Staunton Key was his deep and abiding spirituality. Judged by the usual standards of pulpit production, he was not a brilliant preacher, but, judged by results, he was a pulpit power. His great contribution to the Church was through his heart rather than through his head, though he was a clear and safe thinker and administrator. Spirituality may be defined as the consciousness of the Divine presence in the soul. The spiritual man is the man filled with a sense of the presence of God and of the force of spiritual laws, convinced of an immediate and personal conscious relation between the soul and God.

Bishop Key lingered with us until he had passed the ninetieth milepost of life on earth. "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season."
